CHECK CROP INSECTS AND DISEASE

Good seed plus hours of back breaking labor to fit the ground and plant often adds up to a total loss at harvest time, if regular dusting or spraying was not practiced.

Farm Bureau "Perfect Blend" dusts for garden, truck or orchard crops give maximum coverage and protection

PROTECT - GARDEN & TRUCK CROPS WITH UNICO SPRAYERS AND DUSTERS

- Thorough coverage on all plants
- Several sizes for large or small growers
- Sturdy construction; easily operated

Saturday and Sunday—May 29 & 30 Calvary Church is privileged to have a native Egyptian Missionary to speak at a two-day Conference. Mr. Adly Fam just recently arrived in America is presently living in New York where he will be doing some graduate study as a further means of preparation academically. This will most likely be the only appearance Mr. Fam will be making in this area. Egypt is a Mission Field not often represented, and consequently should prove of real interest to Missionary minded folk.

We are soon to enter the summer months when women can save on nylon stockings.

TREAT SEED OATS
 It pays to treat all seed oats to control disease, reminds R. S. Kirby, extension plant pathologist of the Pennsylvania State College. He urges use of one-half ounce of new improved ceseran per bushel a few days before planting. Growers also are urged to use blight-resistant varieties.

Considering the shape the world is in, a man wonders why Russia is so interested in controlling it.
