Not Only on Friday

During the grain emergency, fish is a logical choice for any main meal in addition to its traditional use on Fridays. Fish feed themselves and don't require grain as do cattle and poultry, and fish are also a good source of protein. Good quality fish, frozen or canned, are available in almost any community. Fresh fish should be bought on the day it is to be cooked and served. Fish usually are less expensive early in the week than on Friday.

Blown Window Panes

Before the process for flat-drawing glass was developed, window panes were made by blowing glass spheres and reheating the spheres and rotating them until they became disks marred by a bull's eye in the center, a historical study by Libby points out. The disks were cut into panes and those with the bull's eye were used in Colonial America for transoms and door sidelights.

Making Lard

To keep lard from becoming rancid add two or three pounds of hydrogenated vegetable shortening to each 50 pounds of fresh lard—stirring it in while the lard is still in the kettle. This commercial shortening has been hardened by forcing hydrogen gas through it, a process which keeps the air or oxygen out of the lard, preventing it from oxidizing.

It supplies generous amounts of the three vitamins for which recommended allowances have been established — thiamine, riboflavin and niacin.

Discouraging Rats

Garbage cans are made of galvanized steel and are equipped with close fitting covers to keep animal pests out.

Safe Canning

WHY

Continue to feed 100 ordinary birds when approximately 80 Pedigreed Musser-Bred Leghorns, lay just as many eggs. Thirty years of breeding on our own farms have developed chicks which are extremely heavy layers and are at the same time highly resistant to all the poultry
