EDITORIAL

At the present time it is rather difficult to tell which are the biggest liars—fishermen or politicians.

Many are spoken of by their friends as brilliant conversationalists even though they just sit and listen.

It depends on the individual. One man is commended as being thrifty, when he doesn't spend, while another is called close-fisted and a tightwad, when he doesn't.

To many of the critics:—We know of only two editors who succeeded in running newspapers that pleased everybody. One is now in the poor house and the other is in an asylum.

The Columbia Water Company has applied for an increase in rates the first in twenty-one years.

We can beat that record. The writer has been a resident of Mount Joy fifty-four years and cannot remember one increase in water rates during that period.

AT THIS TIME
When, approximately, three million of the population are victims of hay fever, and when ragweed, which is the chief offender, continues to flourish, then it is about time we do something, rather than just sneeze.

CIVIL RIGHTS
In discussions over the civil rights issue, we generally think of it in connection with the North and South. However, a decision has recently been made, that holds unconstitutional, the restriction in New Mexico, of the right of the Indian to vote. Until this July, Arizona had the same ban against the native American. With the New Mexico decision, goes the last such barrier, by a state, against the Indian. There still remain many legal discriminations against him, in the western states. Civil Rights does not mean the denial of privileges contended, wholly against the colored man, the negro. Just claims come from the people who are descendants of the original inhabitants of our country, the American Indian.

THE BUSY BEE
Honey has dropped a third in price in Texas, from its cost there, last year. This is due to the unlimited energy in the part of the Texas bees. With a 62-million lb. hold-over from 1947, by our country, the Texas bee-grower is worried. However, honey is not the first in importance when listing the bee's value to man. As a stimulant for the clover yield for certain fruit trees, the bee has a greater value. This is the reason the Department of Agriculture would like to have more busy bees at work in other states. Since beeswax is the basis for cold cream, lipstick and rouge, the womenfolk hope the bees will hum with activity and the honey fancier encouraged to keep up his good work.

Half Day Sessions In East Donegal

Dr. J. W. Bingham, supervising principal of the East Donegal Twp. schools has announced that George Morris, Maytown, has been appointed to the township school board to fill the unexpired term of the late Michael Hoffman, Jr., who died recently. Mr. Morris, who is manager of the Harrisburg Gas Co., Elizabethtown, will fill the position until the term expires in the Autumn of 1949. The township schools opened Wednesday at 9 a. m. with half-day sessions for a week or two so that pupils can help on the farms. The schools include: Maytown Elementary, Washington School of Florin and the East Donegal Twp. High School at Maytown.

TAKE TIME OUT

The summer season draws to a close, the arrival of Fall brings the vegetable garden's final offerings, the closing array of the flower bed's tribute to Nature. There is a sweet sadness in parting with the lush greenery of roadside, until another year. Now are the days when we have a desire to get away from the noise and bustle of traffic, of transportation and crowds. They beckon us to roam in wooded spots, to commune with the trees and tangled brush rather than the building and the highway. Those who dwell close to nature, who have the freedom of lane and stream, rather than the hustle of thoroughfare and elevator, take their wood and rivulet, for granted. With the many problems that confront man, family, business, country, there are still places where he may seek refuge from turbulent living, be it but for an hour, a day, a week end. Go alone, wander at will, relax in simple surroundings. It isn't necessary for a man to take a tonic from a bottle, for his nerves. Let the restorative be what God provides under the September sun.

FARMER'S WORK BEING MADE EASIER

There is always some one, somewhere, who is trying to make his or her work easier. That goes for many and particularly of late years, the farmer.

Take the many modern and practical ways they have of doing things today, thereby making their work so much easier.

Last week the writer first noticed something new for these parts quite convenient in harvesting tobacco—a set of double ladders. This practically cuts the work of conveying the crop from the field to the shed in half. The twin ladders are mounted on the same chassis as were a set of single ladders and the load can be pulled by a pair of horses or a small tractor.

It took many, many years to step-up this work, many farmers using three and four wagons heretofore. The next step should be a simpler and quicker way to cut, transport, hang, cure, strip, and pack the crop. This is always a long drawn out procedure, usually lasting from August to the following April.

IN SCHOOL AND OUT

September, the back-to-school month, is an appropriate time to dedicate America's "Youth Month" drive. Heading the committee, is Charles Skouras, a Greek immigrant, who came to this country 49 years ago. He since has become head of the largest chain of movie theaters in the U. S. His life would make an interesting movie, itself, depicting the rise of a bed making 30-cents a day in a Greek restaurant, to his present important position.

Theatre owners are the ones backing this Youth Month, and the purpose of the drive is to decrease juvenile delinquency by promoting recreation centers as gymnasiums, swimming pools, playgrounds, boy's clubs. With 10,000 movie theatres to create interest, stimulate action, the movie should effect even the very small towns.

September opens the school house door to educate children in the many subjects that modern instruction deems necessary for a youth's well-being. That the average age of criminals in penitentiaries, is under 25, proves the school can't do it all. The theater owners hope to help by showing movies dealing with delinquency problems, have special films and literature on community projects. Parents around here think it is a commendable gesture.

The organizations of Mount Joy, for the purpose of making plans for the entertainment of Mr. Keller. This committee will formulate plans and then present them to the Board.

It is hoped that at least a half holiday will be declared in town, for without that there would be small hope of giving Mr. Keller the reception he should have. It is hoped that the Governor will be able to come here and confer the honor on Mr. Keller, at an afternoon meeting, which will be held in the High School.

Clean Shades
Keeping light bulbs clean give better light, but it is necessary to use lamp shades also clean. Since there are a variety of shade coverings, they must be cleaned in different ways. Keep all shades rid of dust by using a soft brush or vacuum cleaner attachment. Soiled shades of silk or rayon, if sewed and not glued, may be cleaned in warm water and with mild soap. Be sure to remove colored trim if uncertain it is not color-fast. For hand-painted, chintz, linen or novelty fabrics, have shades dry cleaned. You can sometimes remove soil marks with an Artgun eraser. Plastic shades can be cleaned with liquid wax and wiped dry afterwards. Plastic shades may be cleaned with a soft cloth wrung from lukewarm, soapy water. Rinse with clear water.

Clothes Hangers
To keep metal clothes hangers from rusting and leaving marks on garments, keep them painted or make a covering by crocheting around the hanger with a single crochet stitch, covering the bar as well. Such covered hangers are handy for holding scarves and sashes on the crossbar, keeping them from wrinkling. You can also wind the crossbar of metal hangers with velvet ribbon, to keep the scarves from slipping.
