A WISE OWL

The young females have dug up a new stunt for the holidays. They are wearing hats trimmed with mistletoe! I know a host of older women would give their own bridge work for nerve enough to try the same stunt.

And speaking of hats—The whole thing can be reduced to one rule, if she puts it on her head it must be a hat.

A youngster on Donegal Street asked his Pop: "A man is a bachelor until he gets married, isn't he?"

Pop replied: "Yes, my son." Tammy asked: "Then what does he call himself?"

Pop said: "I would hate to tell you."

Home is where part of the family waits until the rest of them brings back the car.

A motorist stopped at a Marietta Street home and explained: "I ran over your cat and I have come to replace him."

Irritated, the housewife suggested: "Well, get busy, there is a mouse in the pantry."

"What position do you play on the football team?" I asked a college man.

"Oh, sort of all crouched and bent over," he replied.

"William, get your little brother his hat out of that mud puddle," a mother called to her son in the yard.

"I can't ma—he's got it strapped under his chin," her son called back.

An absent minded local man was strap hanging in a Lancaster bus. His left arm clasped half a dozen bundles. He wanted to and, fro. Slowly his face took on a look of apprehension. Noting this, a young man standing beside him said: "Can I help you, sir?"

"Yes, hold on to this strap while I get my fare out," said the man.

An English prof asked his class to write a composition on -What I Would Do If I had Fifty Thousand Dollars.

The next day one student turned in a blank paper.

"How do you explain this, Charles?" asked the prof.

"That is exactly what I would do if I had fifty thousand dollars," replied Charles.

A Manheim GI took his wife to the Southern town near where he had trained during the war. The hotel at which they stopped was famous for the big breakfasts they served, including hot biscuits with clover honey. When their first morning meal was served Joe had asked the waiter, "Sam, where is my honey?"

"Dunno, boss, she don't work here no more.—Rumor has it the wife came home alone. Don't they jump to conclusions?"

A tip to ex-soldiers: Be kind to working people. That you meet where'er you go. For the guy who's washing the dishes. May be your old C. O.

"I know I am not much to look at," said a Florin girl's fiance, fishing for a compliment.

"Oh, well, you will be at work most of the time," she philosophized.

I have just learned that paper can be made from practically anything besides wood. It can be made from asbestos, cabbage, dandelions, potatoes, thistles and also wasps nests. Now I ask you, haven't we been jipped all these years? Watch my garden next year!

A little girl told me that she was awful glad to see so many Santa Clauses in the Lancaster

REG'LAR FELLERS

THE LOW DOWN

Now folks, the election is over—we have picked the Captain—also the crew. Some of the crew are clear of eye—some are of 22 gauge and sneaked in under the tent as the big, free outdoor exhibition took place at the Main Entrance. But by and large, the crew is average, I reckon, and being on our payroll now, it is up to every mother's son of us to tell the guy we elected just exactly what we want done. So take your pen in hand.

If 51 people of each 100 say to their man there, we want to go like England—have the Govt. be the Big Cheese—make everybody more or less a drone—then that is what we will have. But if 51 of each 100 say, nix—we want to see the Govt. brought back to the style that our great grandpa and George Washington gained for us, then we will have that kind of a Govt.

It is that simple. Congressmen are alert to votes—can detect 'em day or night, via postcard, telegram or how. So do not go around blaming Congress—blame your own self if this Nation goes into a bedlam—you did not write and lay down the law to your man there on the meandering Big River. Those guys are not as simple as some of them sometimes seem—they just have not heard from you.

Yours With The Low Down, Jess

(From Page 1) Lloyd Myers. Two directors are William Fackler and John Nissley. A Fox-Hunt will be held this Sunday, December 19th, meeting at the Fire House at 4:00 a. m. Special dogs are being brought here and everyone is requested to turn out and help kill off the increasing number of fox. Bring your shot guns only. Sportsmen can contribute substantially to the perpetuation of their sport by returning every band they find on the game they bag. This is true of all birds, whose movements must be known by the game committee. Without the complete cooperation of the Sportsmen, banding of these birds is of little value, unless the band is returned to the Association.
