BOY SAVED BY X-RAY DETECTING TUMOR

A blue-eyed, three-year-old Lewistown boy was made well through a chest X-ray survey conducted by the Mifflin County Tuberculosis Society as a feature of its work in fighting tuberculosis. With the removal of a tumor behind his heart the shadow is gone and Robert Nein, Jr., only child of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Nein, is well. "Bobby and I are going downtown and have our pictures taken," said Mrs. Nein (shown with "Bobby") laughingly as she told her husband they were going to be X-rayed. "I think you're foolish, but go ahead," good-naturedly replied Mr. Nein. The Philadelphia surgeon who removed the tumor expressed warm approval of the X-ray program of the Mifflin County Tuberculosis Society whose work is made possible by Christmas Seals.

Yes, you. An important picture. Part of your Christmas Seal money buys X-ray units for chest "pictures" . . . to detect tuberculosis so that it can be checked. Since 1904, the whole program has helped cut the TB death rate by eighty per cent. Yet tuberculosis still kills more people between 15 and 44 than any other disease. So please, send in your contribution today to your Tuberculosis Association.

MAKING CHRISTMAS LAST
Christmas comes but once a year. Christmas Seals, too, come only once a year. But the work they support goes on 52 weeks a year. When we buy and use Christmas Seals we are contributing to a year-round fight against tuberculosis, a disease which kills 50,000 Americans a year.

Brushing Woolens
Brush woolens carefully with a firm-bristled brush after each wearing. Open the pleats and brush between them in a straight downward line. Brush into seam lines, under lapels and any other place where there may be rubbing action which will wear out material.

Irish White House
James Hoban, a native of Ireland, who had resided for some time in Charleston, S. C., in 1792 won a prize of $500 offered for the best design for the President's house. Construction began in 1792, but President Adams in 1800 was the first to occupy the mansion.

Auto Snowplow
Hiram Maxim, son of the inventor of the Maxim silencer for guns, has patented a snowplow to be attached to the bumper of an automobile. The attachment is a simple one, requiring no additional equipment to enable an automobile to operate it.

Cooking Fish
Most important thing to remember in cooking fish is that it too often is overcooked. Just enough cooking to enable the flesh to be flaked easily from the bones will leave the fish moist and tender and bring out its delicate flavor.

Progress in Drying Grain
Results of experiments in chemical drying of seed grain, using calcium chloride as the drying agent, justify further investigations of this method, according to the U. S. department of agriculture.

Founded by Lottery
The British museum was founded on the proceeds of a state lottery, the managers of which were the Archbishop of Canterbury, the lord chancellor and the speaker of the house of commons.

Tip for Women
To keep shoes and hose clean, women who wear boots or overshoes should put a pair of men's socks, large size, over their shoes, before putting on the boots.

DIVIDENDS IN LIVES

The cooperative effort in fighting tuberculosis in Pennsylvania is paying big dividends in life saving as the declaration of Col. Henry W. Shoemaker, publisher and historian, in announcing his acceptance of the State Chairmanship for the 1948 Christmas Seal Sale.

"The threat of tuberculosis to family life in Pennsylvania has been greatly lessened by the cooperation of the agencies interested in this work, including the State Health Department, the medical profession, the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society and its affiliated County tuberculosis organizations, and other groups," said Col. Shoemaker.

"Citizens are to be congratulated on the expansion and improvement of the services of the Bureau of Tuberculosis Control of the State Health Department being carried forward under the direction of Dr. M. C. Stayer and with the support of Dr. Norris W. Vaux, Secretary of Health.

"Too many homes and families are still disrupted by tuberculosis. The Yuletide season means much to family life, as typified by the boy shown before the home fireside on this year's Christmas Seal. Support of the Seal Sale helps to promote health for the home and community."

'New Look' for Gloves
A tablespoon of glycerin added to the water in which gloves are rinsed will make them look new.

Incandescent lamps replaced carbide flame jets in automobile headlights in 1909.

The duckbill of Australia is a mammal, despite the fact that it lays eggs.

SHORT STORY

Bingo-- The Winner

By LOUIS CUNNINGHAM

ROCKY FELL, alias Phelan, alias Finn, turned the green coupe in at the sign that said "Meals—Overnight Cabins—Home Cooking." This out-of-the-way tourist camp, deep in Canada's New Brunswick, looked like a natural for Rocky, wanted in a dozen states, with $5,000 for the one who turned him in. Fat chance! They probably were still looking for a blue sedan with Illinois plates. This number, for instance, came from Arizona. The old bird who owned it never would squawk. A guy was a sucker on a lonely road to offer a stranger a lift.

"You're a pal, mister," said Rocky. He stuck a gun in the old boy's ribs. "Drive down the side road and behave yourself and everything will be lovely." The man, his face gray-green, drove down a narrow track and at the end was an abandoned quarry with lots of water. Rocky drove the coupe back alone. He had the money and passport. He was Phillip Sumpter.

It was easy for Rocky to forget him and a dozen like him. He was looking forward to some home-cooking and a soft bed. He turned the corner of the drive and saw a white house with many gables—Robin's Nest. Sure looked okay. Cabins here and there among the willows.

"Oh-oh!" A scarlet tunic was talking to an old lady in blue gingham on the steps. Rocky felt the gun under his armpit. Nothing to worry about.

When Rocky stopped the car, the old lady came briskly down. The Mountie went into the house. "Good day, sir. Welcome. I'm the proprietress—one of them. Miss Abby Stubbs. My sister Rachel and I run Robin's Rest. You'd like dinner, a cabin—"

"Sure," grinned Rocky. "Sure Miss Abby—I want the works. Chicken and hot biscuits and coffee—"

"Very good sir. Here's the key of No. 4, the cabin by the pond. Dinner will be ready when you are, Mr.—"

"Sumter—P. H. Sumter." Rocky's gray eyes never left the smiling old blue ones.

"We're so glad to have you, Mr. Sumter. You have no idea," Miss Abby actually dimpled.

"Well," said Rocky. Just the same, after he had washed up he did not go directly to the front but strolled around to the rear.

"I SAW him first." Dear, Sweet old Miss Abby's voice. "I spoke to him first. It's the money car—it's the one that pays."

"Abby Stubbs! I noticed first I swear I did. You never even got
