A WISE OWL

Well, whattya know, now it's July. That's powerful close to Christmas, and I'm still wondering. Where does time go? Let's not get into that. An argument on that subject could get most complicated.

But, speaking of going, reminds me of a little discussion that took place at a Berks County Barber Shop not long ago. A fellow was in the shop waiting his turn. For some reason he was called outside. When he went in another fellow had taken his turn and when the first guy complained, the second man said he thought he had gone. Which brought up this remark: "When a man has gone outside, has he went?" And the fellow who lost the turn answered: "Sometimes he has but this time he ain't." I don't know where our stoges get some of these laffs, but they're sure dillies.

"Can you think of anything sadder than a man without a country?" asked a studious female as she looked up from the history she was reading. "Oh yes," said her pretty but frivolous companion, "a country without a man."

Lady: "Tobey, I am sorry to hear your wife got a divorce." Tobey: "Yes ma'am she's gone home to her mother." Lady: "I wonder who will do my washing now?" Tobey: "I don't think you have anything to worry about ma'am. I'm courting again, and I courts rapid."

A member of the class of 1953 told me that Francis Scott Key's greatest distinction, was the fact that he knew all four verses of the "Star Spangled Banner." The Frosh didn't even know there was four verses.

Sim Garber was among the many local folks at Mt. Gretna swimming last Wednesday night, but his trip wasn't for pleasure. At least from his complaints we figured it wasn't. The heating plant was out of order at the apartments where he resides, consequently there was no hot bath water, so we figured he went over for a bath.

A visitor to Safe Harbor walked up to Jim Smeltzer who was fishing, and asked: "Good river for fish?" And Jim, whose luck was nil, replied: "Must be. I can't persuade any to come out."

An elderly man was chiding a youth for being so sure of himself, when he said: "A sensible man doubts everything; only a fool is certain of what he says." Very seriously, and without a smile, the youth asked: "Are you sure?" And promptly the man answered: "Positive."

I wasn't too busy over the week end, so to satisfy my curiosity I counted the number of drops of water in a gallon. Wants guess how many? 61,440. Don'tya believe me? Well, there's a long week-end coming up. Count 'em for yourself and see if I'm not right.

The fellows at the fire house got a good laugh the other evening when a certain business man got into an auto to go home but could not move the car because not one of his keys would fit.

Later the man discovered he was in the wrong auto, his car being parked nearby.

William "So What" Enck, chief advisor of the Ent. committee of the Fire Co., met with a painful accident Sunday afternoon, when suddenly the chair on which he was sitting, decided to part with his company, leaving William and the concrete pavement face to face. After the blood was spilled, the boys at the Fire House decided to take up a collection to buy Bill a highchair or something similar to

During the past week at the playground the girls are playing active games in the mornings, such as Kick baseball, softball, dodge ball and paddle tennis, while the smaller children play on the swing and slides.

The first hour of the afternoon is devoted to crafts. The smaller girls made paper beads and did simple leather work, making book markers.

The older girls are working with leather, making bedroom slippers. A checker tournament has been started among the older girls during the second hour of the afternoon, while the smaller children listen to stories and play simple guessing games.

The boys divide in age groups to play softball, volleyball, skee ball, dodge ball, quoits and horse shoe throwing. The sprinkler and shower system has been very popular on the hot afternoons.

THE LOW DOWN

from HICKORY GROVE
You know, old time vaudeville was great stuff--the variety of the acts packed 'em--you would sit through the "trained seals" to see the juggler or your favorite magician, or the yokel, but most on-tune fiddler. But as time went on and there were more and more "trained seals", fewer tuneful acts, and more and more of just raucous efforts at untuneful music---alley music, I calls it--vaudeville fell into the doldrums. Monotony did it--interest lagged--the turn stiles did not click so vigorously.

Well, chimed in Henry, I have no idea what you are driving at, if anything, but proceed. It is this, I says, and it is a tip to our boss-men down there in old Spend Town by the big river. Give us some variety--we are fed up with 15 years of the same program---spending and spending. Now, do you catch on, I says.

Folks have heard oceans about our last chance to save civilization or some freedom via more spending. I pleads with somebody to tell me how anybody can hold on to any sort of freedom if his shirt is taxed off his back.

Yours With The Low Down, JIMMY
