Dell, located the victim with a grappling hook.

The body was raised, placed upon the raft, transferred to the boat and taken ashore where it was placed on a stretcher and artificial respiration begun by a relay of local men. An inhalator was put into use by firemen but to no avail.

Dr. David E. Schlosser, of town, deputy coroner, was called and he issued a certificate of accidental death by drowning. He said that the young man had apparently been the victim of a cramp.

Drive Carefully

Surely, there is not a single person who wants to be numbered among those 290; the best way to avoid it is to exercise extreme caution.

Frankly, both the AAA and the Federation would like to be proven wrong on that prediction. Although it is hardly possible to have a clean slate on traffic fatalities over the holiday week-end, we would like to see the actual fatality figure far below estimates. Past experience also indicates that another 10,000 persons will be injured, many of them permanently or seriously, in accidents over the week-end. That figure is staggering when it is given some consideration; it is more than the entire population of many of the communities in the Commonwealth.

Fire Destroyed a meantime Messrs. Hess, Weaver and Shank removed all the livestock from the burning building. The flames had gained considerable headway before the firemen could lay about 600 feet of hose from the Donegal Creek.

The entire building, silo and all the contents were destroyed. They included practically all the implements, 800 bushels of corn, fifty tons of hay. The silo was half full.

The barn was in excellent shape, having been completely rebuilt seventeen years ago when a building on the same site was destroyed by fire during an electrical storm.

Since that time, children playing with matches, set the barn afire but it was saved by the Mt. Joy fire company.

The origin of the fire is a complete mystery. Where first discovered it was burning at the west end where only machinery was stored. The loss is estimated at about $25,000 partly covered by insurance.

The Marietta fire company also responded.

Elizabethtown

In West Donegal Twp., two miles west of E-town a small farm of 18 acres with improvements was sold at public sale on Saturday to Jacob Zerphey for $5,000. The farm adjoins the masonic homes.

EMPHASIS ON SAFETY

The importance of farm accident prevention to make farm families safe as possible, happier and more prosperous will be emphasized particularly during annual Farm Safety Week, July 24 to 30. But extension specialists of the Pa. State College remind that constant vigilance against carelessness is essential, and must be practiced during all weeks of the year.

We have no cliff dwellers today, but still plenty of bluffers. Have you ever noticed how some guy is always doing something that couldn't be done?
