—BY—
A WISE OWL

Anytime you want to find out where around, just start diggin' a hole or tear down somethin'. You will have more people around in ten minutes than you'd ordinarily see in months.

Divorce has become so common that some folks are staying married just to be different.

Don't know where I am going to spend my spare time from here on. When they cut down the first tree at Chickes for the new four lane highway, I was there! And last Thursday when they had loaded the last piece of equipment on a trailer, I was there! Now I guess I will have to watch 'em build the super.

If you see me or my stooges going around picking up cigarette butts out of gutters, ash trays, etc., it's not because we're completely broke, but because we're making a survey on "How big is a cigarette butt?" To date, our work shows that the average butt discarded by the average smoker is one and one-quarter inches long. Don't we get the most interesting assignments?

When the upper classmen were told they'd have to have a chaperone on their straw ride, a Frosh inquired: "What's a chaperone?" And he was informed: "A chaperone is an old maid who never made the first team but still hopes to intercept a few passes."—Now is that kind?

A co-signer is somebody able to pay for something somebody else wants.

"I was walking down the street when I sees this fellow walking towards me. I says 'Hello, John' and he says 'I'm not John and I says 'I'm not Pat'. We looks at each other and sure enough, it wasn't either of us."—Just a couple screw balls.

"I don't see Elmer nearly as much as I used to," a Florin woman remarked to a visitor.

"You should have married him when he asked you," the visitor said.

"I did," answered the woman.

There are still some young folks around here who get a kick out of horse-back riding. A certain young lady from town, after doing several miles, remarked: I never knew that anything stuffed with hay could be so hard.

Why worry about who is boss in your home? You'll be happier if you never find out.

A smart girl would rather have a pretty face than a beautiful voice because the average man looks more than he listens.

I have just seen the new teachers at the high school. Tomorrow I am enrolling for a refresher course. My! My! Teachers didn't look like that when I went to school, or I know I'd have liked it!

Don't ever be surprised if you see Gary Ellis with a patch over his eye. Whether in actual use or during his clowning demonstrations, he never fails to poke the temple of his shell rimmed glasses in his eye.
