

OWL LAFFS

A WISE OWL

I sure am glad Hallowe'en is over. All I got was insults. Every place I walked in, they thought I was playing "trick or treat" and commented on my funny face. --- The heck of it was it was my own face, not a false.

Life's just one big circle. Folks used to make their clothing on spinning wheels and now they lose their shirts on them.

I attended a party at a Salunga home and our hostess kept up a continuous yakety yak all evening. As we left, I remembered my Emily Post and said to my host: "Your wife is a brilliant talker, I could listen to her talk all night." "I do," answered my host.

Some women grow up and spread cheer--others just grow up and spread--period.

We had a letter from Mrs. Ina Nigg in which she complained that her husband just stands in a corner all the time and stares at her. She wanted to know what to do and enclosed a picture of her spouse in the corner.

Our editor answered: Judging from the snapshot you sent me, I am afraid that you are being shamefully deceived. Husbands do not usually wear that many feathers in their hair or hold so many cigars in their hand at one time. What you have is a cigar store Indian. Your husband probably placed it there before he skipped town.

While in Jersey recently I made some inquiries about a nearby nudist colony. I found out there are a few rich nudists, but most of them just have a bare existence.

You seldom hear of one being arrested--I suppose because it is hard for the cops to pin anything on them.

When I thanked the manager of the Nudist Club for the interview, he said, "That's all right, we invite publicity--we have nothing to hide!"

Our neighbor had trouble with his hose today. It leaked in various places. Finally George came along and suggested: "I know an easy way to fix it. Just cut out the leaky parts." Without hesitating, my neighbor did just that. And then the light dawned. All he had was several pieces of hose. He's now waiting for George who disappeared hastily.

With local wives in a frenzy of housecleaning, we men folks are really having a rough time. If it is not moving the piano, carrying down trunks to the attic, carrying painting the wood work or sanding the floor, it is beating the rug. And in this last is your salvation, you slaves!

Here is the ideal release for your pent up fury. Rebel against housework! Beat that rug black and blue. Show that rug you do not want to wash dishes, or change diapers. Prove to it that you can not see scrubbing the linoleum or hanging pictures or fixing a leaky hose! Let that rug know that not only can you take it, but you can dish it out! By then it should be clean -- And the wife satisfied.

In our opinion, an economist is a guy who makes plans to do wonderful things with someone else's money.

An E-town motorist ran into a tree and when a cop drove up and started to investigate, he asked the driver if he had been drinking. The motorist earnestly replied: "Oh, no officer, I am perfectly sober but I did just Joy rush by kicking the ball past New Holland's goalie.

There was only one injury, Mt. Joy's Ray Harple suffered a possible fracture of the left rib.
The locals broke the ice late in the first period when George McCue rammed one through on a quick drive. After a scoreless second period, New Holland tied the score in the third stanza. A penalty kick was awarded and Bob Weaver kicked, but the ball was stopped by goalie, Ben Brown.

However, referee Bill Remley called another penalty, claiming that Brown had moved before the ball was kicked. On the second try, Weaver made good and tied up the score at 1-1.

Score by periods:

Funny as it sounds, new stuff is old stuff--most of it. Take the shepherd boy hollering wolf when there was no wolf. Then take the Govt. Bureau Boys today who yelp that chaos is around the corner or disaster lurks, if congress does not ante another 100 million to fix some cooked-up problem. Chaos and Disaster--brothers and sisters--there you have 2 words that agitate me, no end.

And like it was when the farmers rushed in with pitch forks to slay the phoney wolf, congress now rushes in with the key to the U. S. Treasury.

For a long spell now, a topic for one of these learned essays, now and then, has been AEsop. If congressman can tell a patriot from a confidence-man--a sheep from a sharper--it means there is something wrong in our school houses, colleges, and universities. They teach you there the rumba, the social sciences, but they neglect the foundation. Horse sense is becoming obsolete.

So you college presidents and school superintendents--do us citizens a good turn--put AEsop into all curriculums, up to and including the PhD.

Yours with the low down,

The current anti-trust action against The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. is a threat to the security of employees and to the living standards of consumers.

John A. Hartford, company chairman, said today in a personal letter to the firm's 110,000 workers. Pointing out that A and P has never tried to get a monopoly, destroy competition or to restrain trade, Mr. Hartford said that the company's only objective was to make our operations as efficient as possible so that we can give the people the most good food for the money.

This attack the letter said is a serious threat to our company which you have all worked so hard and loyally to build. As such we must also admit that it is also a threat to your job and your future.

Since 1917 A and P has been managed by Mr. Hartford and his brother George L. Hartford. The company was started in 1859 by their father, who opened the first store in downtown Manhattan. The firm rose to leadership in the nation's retail food business by selling quality food at low prices.

The anti-trust action filed in New York last month asks the court to order A and P to get rid of most of its stores and its manufacturing facilities.

Mr. Hartford referred to the suit "particularly distressing to my brother George and me for we have made every effort to insure the security of all company employees. I mean security, not just in terms of having you feel safe in your job but by developing the pension program with which you're familiar and by setting up the training program to help each employee fit himself for a better job. And now comes this attack which, if successful will wipe out all these gains.

Fortunately, over the years our policy of fair, honest dealing has won us the friendship of millions of consumers and thousands of the suppliers. We do not believe that the American people will stand by and see this company, which has done more perhaps than any other to lower living costs and raise living standards, destroyed.

HATE TO SAY "WE TOLD YOU SO" BUT-

Every year about this time the winter duds that weren't cleaned and properly stored over the summer come into our plant. With moth damage too extensive to repair and spots and stains impossible to remove because of their age and effect on the material, they make a sorry lot. Save your clothes and money by sending your summer garments to be thoroughly cleaned and pressed before storage. Remember, moths and soil do their "dirty" work in the winter too.

See How Easy?

See how easy? It's no wonder this trio of mother and brother and sister looks a little dubious. But the Visiting Nurse is adept at teaching others short cuts to skillful care of the newborn baby. She gives this important instruction in the home and in classes for expectant mothers and fathers. Everybody benefits that way. It's another specialized service the Visiting Nurse offers this community's families. The Visiting Nurse Association is one of the Red Feather services you help support through your Community Chest. When you make your pledge this year, give enough for all Red Feather services.
