Week's Best Recipe

Peanut Butter Confection: 1-4 c peanut butter, 1-3 c pitted prunes, 1-3 c pitted apricots 1-3 c seeded raisins, sifted confectioners' sugar. Chop or grind coarsely prunes, apricots and raisins. Add peanut butter. Blend thoroughly. Shape into a roll one inch thick. Roll in confectioners' sugar. Wrap in waxed paper. Cut into 1-2 inch slices.

It All Helps

Store your yarn in glass coffee jars. The yarn will be protected from moths and the color of wool can be easily seen through the glass. For eliminating the white film of starch in brown cottons, use a small amount of strong tea in the starch. To keep black lingerie from turning brown, use vinegar in the rinse water.

Roasting Meat

Roasts are welcomed by the family and make easier work for the cook. Left over roasts may be used in various appetizing ways. But, roasts should be cooked correctly in order to get the best from them. A roast cooked at a high temperature and for too long a time, shrinks in size and loses of flavor. Cook a roast in a slow oven until just done and thereby save meat. A meat thermometer is the best way to measure temperature of a roast. Use a shallow open pan and roast the meat at 325-350 degrees in oven. Do not add water or flour.

aires for answers from all kinds of people in all walks. Here are some of our 'comforts'.

Even where heads of family were under 25 years, about 3 in every 5 families have an auto. One in 20 families have two. Four in every 5 families possessed something worth $500 or more as bank accounts, government bonds, life insurance, real estate or securities, interest in a business or a 1940-1949 auto.

Stock in corporations is owned by about 1 in 12 families.

One in 24 families has stock worth more than $1,000. One in 50 families has stock worth more than $5,000. Three in every 4 families have at least one member carrying life insurance. When incomes are under $1,000, 1 in 2 families have insurance. Two of every 5 families with insurance pay premiums averaging more than $100 a year. One-half of all families had indebtedness but only one-fourth of families debts run over $500.

There is much more to the list but this gives you an idea of what we own, in a small part.

WE MIGHT ADVERTISE

Present fears and confusion make us reluctant to look beyond the horizon. We shrink from tomorrow, uncertain of our destiny, perhaps because we have lost the faith and determination. But such a lack never made us a great nation. History shows it took strength and an exhilarated spirit for America's tomorrows to bring her to glory. It took faith in order to achieve. Today we aren't entirely hopeless, completely defeated, but neither are we so optimistic. To progress and build for a better world, we can't be indifferent. When we lose the will to believe in better things, better people, we are lost.

The underlying fear, the calamity we feel that is beyond today's horizon, is war. Strange we can't live in the belief that peace is as possible to attain. Maybe not so strange, either. But there are so many nations that want peace, millions of people who desire good will, that theirs is the largest army, the most powerful influence against war. What is their weapon? Faith is not enough, deeds speak louder in the times like this. A friend suggests the force of advertising. He reminds you that they sell washers, sheets, soaps, permanent waves, advertising, that you can secure real estate, secretaries, cooks, used cars, advertising. Why not, have a world-wide advertising campaign for peace? Repeat and repeat, emphasize and exhort. Sell peace as a competitor sells war. Cover the globe with advertising, in every tongue. Such intensified campaigns have been known to put many man out of business.

WHAT DO YOU OWN

None in our community deny that Americans enjoy the highest standard of living in the world. We are grateful for the good things but not boastful. It is just a fact a statement. How much better off are we, materially? The Federal Reserve Board, through the University of Michigan Research Center, sent out trained question-

Matching Mahogany

Matching mahogany is done with veneers kept in the exact sequence in which they were cut from the log. When two adjacent pieces are opened like a book, a two-way symmetrical pattern is formed. If the next two sheets are opened the same way, then joined end to end with the first two, they produce a four-way matched pattern. Skillful matching creates the most beautiful patterns in nature's treasure chest.

Color Frequencies

Frequencies of vibration of the various colors of the spectrum are as follows: deep red light has a frequency of 390 million million vibrations per second, the lowest of the visible colors. The highest is violet light, which has a frequency of 710 million million. Yellow light, in the middle of the spectrum, has a frequency of about 530 million million.

Bird with Eyelashes

The hoatzin, an odd-looking plumed bird of South America, sometimes unflatteringly called the "stinkbird," is one of the few birds which have eyelashes. The hoatzin's chief claim to distinction lies in the fact that the young have clawed fingers on their wings, which they use to cling to branches of trees as they climb about.

Cats as Mousers

Reputation of the cat as a mouse killer is strongly disputed by Prof. W. Robert Edie of the conservation department at Cornell, who says that a good dog can kill as many as 75 field mice in an afternoon while a cat is playing with the one she killed.

Neighbor's Apple Tree

Legal opinion holds you may cut both branches and roots from your neighbor's apple tree which emerge on your property—and remove fallen fruit. But you must put both the fruit and branches back in your neighbor's yard. And you can't object if he enters your yard to get his apples.

Longest Stairway Ride

The longest moving stairway ride in an office building anywhere in the world was put into service in Boston recently. The 16 stairway units run from the basement to the eighth floor and down again, and contain 1,083 moving steps.

Lucky U.S. Purchase

Alaska was purchased by the United States from Russia in 1867 for $7,200,000—about two cents an acre. It has so far yielded two-thirds of a billion dollars worth of gold and another one-fourth billion in copper, silver, platinum, tungsten, lead, tin, and other metals.

Home Tragedies

Burns, scalds and explosions killed about 6,000 persons in their homes in 1949. A majority of these needless tragedies occurred during winter months—so take care while the old man with the frosty beard is here.

Battlefield

Normandy, the historic region of northwest France between Picardy and Brittany, owes its name to the Northmen who settled in northern France during the ninth century. The area today is devoted to agriculture and stock-raising.

Avoid Colds

There is a close relationship between emotional upsets and respiratory troubles, investigators now report. They say worry lowers resistance to colds as quickly as getting chilled or wet.

Permanent Farm Buildings

Changing a farmstead is a long-term project. Many farmers are putting up permanent buildings. Proper placing of them will mean the saving of labor and expense for many years to come.

Glass Making Machines

Many machines used in glass-making are of tremendous size, employing hundreds of electric motors and fine adjustments to grind and polish plate glass.

Cordovan Mahogany

Cordovan mahogany is a deep dark red finish the color of Cordovan leather. It is usually applied to pieces of modern design to contrast with the modern bleached finishes.

Death Of Harry

bullet hole or the result of a sharp knife.

However, as Nissley was embalming the body, the pellet fell from the wound and it was known then it was a bullet hole.

Dr. George J. Heid Jr., pathologist, following an autopsy at the General Hospital announced that Eichelberger died of internal hemorrhage resulting from a bullet wound through the left abdomen.

Police so far have been unable to determine how, when or where the aged man was at the time he was shot. The police also have been unable to find the weapon, or the shell from which the bullet was fired.

Police said the possibility of foul play was remote because the man had no known enemies. There also was no evidence of any struggle having taken place in the house.

Robbery was ruled out, according to police, when Eichelberger's savings, amounting to no more than $500, was found intact in the house.

Police questioned relatives of the dead man, including a niece, Mrs. Carroll Stotz, 257 N. Poplar St., Elizabethtown and two nephews, Herman Brubaker, 516 W. King St., Lancaster and Carl Brubaker, 329 Rider Ave., Lancaster, but they were unable to shed any light on the mystery.

Also interviewed by police was Clarence Dolby, Church St., Florin who visited Eichelberger for about 15 minutes late Saturday afternoon. Dolby said he found Eichelberger in good spirits.

Eichelberger lived alone in his small house on Railroad St., Florin, where he sharpened and repaired lawn mowers, also repaired clocks and radios and has resided in our town and between here and Florin all his life.

He was a son of the late George and Lydia Geibe Eichelberger.

The funeral was held from the Nissley Funeral Home here yesterday afternoon with interment in Camp Hill Cemetery.

Wednesday night State Police revealed they have taken a county man into custody since Tuesday and a 22 calibre rifle which was removed from his home. He will be questioned again today.

FRACTURED HIS SHOULDER

David Hershey, eighty-nine of Manheim R2, was treated at Lancaster General Hospital Tuesday for a fractured left shoulder, suffered when he tripped and fell, staff members said.
