gal Society, will be held Thursday, June 15, at historic Donegal Presbyterian Church at Donegal Springs three miles west of this place.

Tentative plans for the event were outlined by Samuel C. Slaymaker, Society president, at a meeting of the executive committee Saturday afternoon at the church. The morning session will begin at 11:30 a. m., followed by luncheon under the trees, and the final session is scheduled for 2:30 p. m.

The program will be televised this year for the first time, Slaymaker said. Speakers will be announced at a later date.

It was reported that the historic Witness Tree, around which the colonists gathered and pledged allegiance to the new Republic, has received special attention, and is in better condition than for many years. All of the trees are being cared for, and advice on their care has been given by experts from Pennsylvania State College, it was
