

OWL LAFFS

A WISE OWL

How nice to welcome back to the column an old friend, "Heck" Mummia. He has a faculty for doing things the hard way. Last week while mowing the lawn he got himself so tangled up in some of the family wash hanging on the line, he had to be rescued by another member of the family. — Anyway, "Heck," no matter how you did it, it's nice to hear from you again.

A salesman called at the house on Monday and the little woman was cooking rice for dinner. The salesman remarked that everyone in the neighborhood, on whom he had called was having rice, so I said: "That's easily explained. There was a wedding down at the U. B. Church on Sunday and they threw pounds of it. When they swept it up, they divided it among the neighbors." — I think he believed me.

During one of the final quizzes back at school the teacher asked: "If William Shakespeare were alive today, do you think he would be considered a remarkable man?" A student replied: "Oh, yes, indeed."

The teacher said: "Give your reason." And the student answered: "He'd be more than 350 years old." — Good enough reason.

Little Willie lit a rocket, which his dad had in his pocket. Next day he told cousin Dan, "Daddy is a traveling man."

The sweet young thing from Donnegal Street was being shown thru a roundhouse at Enola. "What's that thing?" she asked, pointing a dainty finger. "That's an engine boiler," replied the master mechanic. "But why do they boil an engine?"

"To make the engine tender," replied the master mechanic. — Is he kidding?

A man should work eight hours and sleep eight hours — but not the same eight hours.

Here's a very timely definition — Vacation: The two weeks every year when a husband stops doing what his boss wants, and does what his wife wants.

"Ah, me, if I had only taken another look before falling in love at first sight," sighed a matron as she gathered her six children around her.

Tact is giving a person a shot in the arm without letting him feel the needle.

A local ex G I told me that while he was a private in the army he got married and the next day he went to his commanding officer and requested:

"Would you put me in for a promotion? I got married yesterday."

"Sorry, but I'm not responsible for accidents off the base," replied his Commander.

And then there was the sad case of the English literature professor who received a theme with no punctuation marks and died trying to hold his breath until the last page.

There once was a girl named Harris. That nothing seemed to embarrass "Til' the bath salts one day. In the tub where she lay, "Turned-out to be plaster of Paris.

Before you invest in a going concern, find out which way it is going.

MUTT AND JEFF

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Chaos—and threatening disaster—for years we been kept half speechless. It is now chronic. But like it was with the lad who visioned the many wolves, our political gentry on the Big and Winding Potomac may, in due course, find themselves jobless as did the wise-guy shepherd boy.

The chaos we been promised has been cooked-up — synthetic—like we would be wrecked and ruined without an OPA. And like we promised starvation if more land was not reclaimed, quick, via dams on every creek that ever trickled. And now what. Well, we have too much corn, too much everything—it is another threat, but in reverse.

Now, here is how I see it. There has been a wolf lurking in the dark forest's edge—and still is—but our Big and Lofty Economic Palaverers have kept us looking in the wrong direction. The real Threat to our beloved land is the undermining of the thinking of the generation now growing up. The new doctrine is that the Govt. knows best—and can best make all plans for the greater comfort for its children. And, the Govt., when you get down to brass tacks is made up of just people.

And how anybody who surmises that people of no blood connection, which is the Govt., can look after our present and future, better than we can our ownshelves, surpasses my understanding. Sounds like front burner talk to me, says Henry. Thanks I says.

Yours with the low down, JIMMY

DEMONSTRATION WAS GIVEN WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON

The postponed archery demonstration that was to be given at the playground Monday afternoon was held Wednesday afternoon.

The demonstration was given by Vernon Kinsey, Florin, from a seated position, in a wheel-chair. Mr. Kinsey who is injured two years ago has been unable to walk ever since, is a member of the York and Lancaster Archery Clubs.

The playground directors, Robert Zink, Frank Zink and Mrs. Robert Ziegler announced that on rainy days, the group will meet in the high school auditorium.

This week during craft period the girls worked with leather making book markers, coin purses, belts, pins and pencil cases.

A pet show will be held Friday afternoon. Prizes will be awarded in the form of points to earn a trip to Philadelphia to see a ball game.
