Fixing Up the Farm by BURTON WILLIAMS

Exterminating Rats

WITH grain and food conservation a pressing need today, one of the prime considerations of nearly every farmer should be extermination of rats. The annual damage to feed and flocks inflicted by rats amounts to millions of dollars. Not only do rats consume and spoil feed, but they kill chicks, spread diseases and damage buildings.

Number 1 on your program of rat extermination should be cleaning up trash piles and refuse of all kinds, especially in and near farm buildings. Then prepare for the kill by placing unpoisoned bait at locations frequented by rats. Repeat this operation for several nights to coax the rat population out in force. Meat or fish is good bait, being a change of pace from the rats' usual grain diet. After lulling the rats into a false sense of security, place poison on the bait. About a week later repeat extermination, using different bait.

Don't overlook the importance of rat-proofing, however. The illustration above shows how grain can be stored on skids and blocks which leave plenty of room underneath for cats or dogs to catch prowling rats.

Another effective control measure is to line the walls and floors of your farm buildings with asbestos cement board, a mineral product which is impervious to rats. This material, which is additionally weatherproof and fireproof, also comes in the forms of siding and roofing.

TWO LOCAL BIBLE SCHOOLS CLOSED LAST FRIDAY P. M.

The two local Bible schools here closed on Friday evening after a two-week period of work. The Calvary Bible School held closing exercises in the church auditorium with Ezra Wolgemuth, superintendent of the school, in charge.

A program sponsored by the different age groups was presented with a feature being a sword contest. The average attendance of the school has been 160.

The Menonite Bible School held exercises at 7 o'clock. Instead of a program the last night, Visiting night, was observed. George Lehman, superintendent, was in charge. The average attendance was 390.

which is serviced by the Elizabethtown bus, to warrant not only city token fare, but far better service. At present, one bus an hour is running. Half hour service is given to Millersville, Columbia, and possibly other county towns. Why not half hour service at least to Landisville? Or at least half hour service to these points during the peak of traffic? It is maddening to miss one bus, and have to wait around an hour for another. For those who finish work at 5:30, no bus is available until 6:15.

"(3) The night schedule on the Elizabethtown route consists of two buses: one at 9:30 and the other at 11:30. Most meetings or functions one attends in town are finished by at least 10:15. Why not a 10:30 bus at night? In Rohrerstown alone, there would be enough people to warrant better service along all the lines mentioned.

"For a city that aspires to be as progressive as Lancaster does, the transportation system is intolerable. The trend of population is outward, and certainly in the past ten years, Lancaster has extended its population boundaries, if not its political ones, to go far beyond the city limits. Living in the country is pleasant. Living four miles out of town is not, by modern standards, a great distance. What about some modern transportation for those of us who do live "way out in the country?"

Farmer's Question Corner

PREPARED BY American Foundation For Animal Health

The Nation's Worst Swine Killer

QUESTION: What disease kills the most swine in America?
ANSWER: Hog cholera is by far the worst killer. It destroys about $20,000,000 worth of hogs a year.
QUESTION: What causes it?
ANSWER: A virus—too small to be seen even under a microscope. The amount you could get on the point of a pin could kill an entire herd of hogs.
QUESTION: Can you tell when a hog has cholera?
ANSWER: That's one of the worst things about hog cholera — a number of other maladies may show symptoms like it. Usually the first symptoms of cholera include loss of appetite, fever, weakness and prostration. Pigs may start dying rapidly.
QUESTION: Can cholera be cured?
ANSWER: There is no cure.

Prevention is the only answer.

Hog cholera losses can be cut down to almost nothing by proper vaccination of pigs around weaning time.

QUESTION: Any special points to bear in mind about vaccination?
ANSWER: Yes. Only healthy pigs in good condition should be vaccinated. Otherwise, vaccination with serum and virus may cause bad reactions. A careful examination should always be made by the veterinarians to determine whether or not the pigs are in proper condition for vaccination. Another important point: The virus is dangerous and should be handled only by someone who knows how; and one who understands sterilization of equipment and other precautions.

Has Something No Other Publication Can Give You

WHEN you are spending your money for advertising you want to make sure that every dollar will go where it brings back maximum returns.

Here is something for you to consider in this connection.

By advertising in The Bulletin you get something no other publication in this field can give you... a PLUS that assures greater value for your money. You get "following" that dates back to 1901. You get reader acceptance that has been building up steadily for 42 years.

The Bulletin has been doing business in this field so long that it has become a tradition. To farmers, laborers, citizens and allied industries The Bulletin has become part of their way of life. It is the only medium that enables you to reach all of your prospects in one operation.

Add it all up and you will see that it is smart to tell your story in these columns regularly—display or classified.

This is a real opportunity. The fact that it is before you from week to week in no way diminishes its importance to you, and in no way lessens the loss you sustain if you fail to take advantage of it.
