EDITORIAL

One never knows how much cruelty there is in the world until you read some of the charges that arise in the divorce courts.

From the looks of things it appears that the Army, Navy and Air Force will be taking care of housing for some Americans before long.

Some men resent having their wives ask where they have been and if they didn't ask, the men would be hurt because they felt the women didn't care.

TOO DEAR FOR THE TABLE
Sirloin steaks are selling at $1.05 a pound in Chicago. Meat prices are high and going higher.

Well, the carcass of beef isn't all steak, as any cook can point. She can serve some palatable meals with short ribs, pot roasts, hamburger, and reminds us that the proteins necessary for the daily diet aren't neglected in the cheaper cuts. If more housewives would use these cuts, the prices of steaks would drop.

When an economist tries to tell us there isn't an inflationary spiral, we think of the price of sirloin steak per pound.

TEN YEARS FROM NOW
If school population increases more than one-fourth in the next ten years, based on the national birthrate increase from 1933 to 1947, we really will have an educational problem.

The National Association for Education advises giving teachers a starting salary of at least $2,700 a year, up to $5,000, a single salary basis for elementary, junior or senior high school; that we will have to spend $10 billion in the next ten years on adequate school buildings, which means that present construction should be more than doubled.

But we are at present, mightily concerned with safeguarding the youth that now attend our schools, in spending money to protect the democracy that unlocks the school house doors that represent freedom to us.

A BIRTHDAY
On July 12, 1817, in Concord, Massachusetts, was born Henry David Thoreau, a nature writer who saw beauty in ashes, who believed that every man will be a poet if he can and, if not a poet, then he will be a "man of science".

Thoreau was a poet who has brought us closer to a purely natural way of thinking, of living. He found nothing new in nature as a naturalist, but he knew far more than many natural scientists of what to make of that which he saw about him. His works are read with satisfaction and pleasure, gentle and steady words, rough-hewn and difficult at times. They may not be practical in today's problems, but stings the complacent with such words as his "Conscience". We are lifted in walking with him by Walden pond.

stronger and so she wouldn't stand up under a test of brawn and might. So comes the weakness angle. As we see it, it is usual for a husband to be a bully that his wife should resort to such measures, or usual for women to be hysterical and use such a means to attract an end. Personally, we find most women understanding, sensible, practical and reasonable. Not that they don't use tears now and then to get their way, but not too much of the time, thank heavens. And after all, the menfolk are "hep".

THE KOREAN CRISIS

History offers a pattern that might be a guide in the U.S. policy of aiding South Korea in its war against the Russian North Korea advance. Taking a more recent case, Hitler's aggression, we find he was too weak to wage an all-out war but he probed the soft spots along democratic fronts, using them as a test to see how far he could go.

There was the Rhineland, Sudetenland and Austria, the remainder of Czechoslovakia, Memel. He advanced upon Poland, but there found resistance. France and Britain decided to give battle, but by this time Hitler had gained so in fighting power that he was ready for general war. This is typical of the pattern Russia has followed. If they were prepared for a general war they wouldn't have picked Korea as their target, but one of the vital, key cities in America. We desire peace, pray for it, but can we afford to assume a peace-for-the-moment attitude. We did not want World War II. It cost us a long, hard fight for a not certain victory, whereas if we had put a stop to Hitler's charging earlier, the battle would have been shorter and less bloody. Remember that when Hitler's troops went into the Rhineland his generals had secret orders to retreat if France intervened.

Any decision this country makes is a risk. Whether it is better to hold on to our peace and do nothing about Russia, or take action and run the chance of assuring peace. We are giving Korea aid to a certain point. But we are going to have to face the question whether to go all the way, even to sending in troops to stop Russia. It is a terrible decision, but war is terrible in all its phases. No man wants to make a decision, but history shows us that a decision must be made, sooner or later. ### THE GOVERNMENT SPENT

$110,000,000 EVERY DAY
The government spent 110 million dollars a day throughout fiscal 1950, which ended June 30 — and went $8,554,000 deeper in the hole every 24 hours.

With no shooting war on to boost costs, as there is now with the Korean incident, it piled up a deficit of $3,122,102,357.45 for the 12 months.

In doing so, it lifted its cumulative debt for 160 years' operation to $257,376,855,385.01 — about $1,704.50 for each living American.

He said the value of the three companies was in excess of $1,500,000. What's more, he continued, he made it possible for the new company to pay him the $1,000,000 in interest-free installments over 22 and a half years.

He said the only other company of its kind that he knows of is the Joy Company, which he also created and which gives all of its net income to the public schools of Mt. Joy.

The Bulletin's Scrapbook!

Week's Best Recipe:

Avocado Circular Salad: 2 avocados, lemon juice, salt, salad greens, 3/4 c chopped celery, 2 packages (3-oz.) cream cheese, mayonnaise, paprika, pimiento, lemon slices. Cut each avocado crosswise into three rings. Twist slightly to loosen the seed, separate rings and remove the skin. Sprinkle avocado with lemon juice, to prevent darkening as well as for flavor, and salt. Place one ring on each garnished salad plate. Combine celery, cheese, one teaspoon lemon juice, salt, enough mayonnaise to moisten, stir until well blended. Fill avocado rings with cheese filling, sprinkle tops with paprika. Decorate with pimiento strips. Serve with lemon slices. Serves six.

Keep A-Planting

Plant Brussels sprouts and cauliflower for fall harvest. Early spring vegetables can be planted later as a fall crop, such as beets, carrots, endive, lettuce, radishes, onions. When summer weather cools, choose a spring vegetable and have the pleasure of the fall maturing.

Summer Eating

Mixed salads are welcome in warm weather. Combination fruit salads. Chilled chiffon fruit pies, topped with whipped cream, are excellent warm weather additions to meals. Canned cling peaches are especially good in these fruit pies. Blueberries rolled up in a rich sauce dough, sliced and baked in muffin pans, are good as hot bread or a simple dessert. As a dessert, serve with cream.

Elm Disease

Don't overlook the dangerous Dutch elm disease. It affects thousands of elm trees throughout the countryside. The fungus can be so easily carried that once it catches on a tree, it spreads rapidly. Often its source of outbreak is unknown. Try to control it by immediately destroying the affected trees and spraying others with DDT.

The Advantages of

what about the students who did not make the team? With more sports there certainly should be a sport that would suit everyone.

Thirdly, there would be better facilities. Sometimes we cannot use the gym floor because the chairs are up for an assembly or play. Some people do not want to see our basketball games because they are cramped and crowded. Not only are all the seats on the bleachers taken but there are chairs on the stage, chairs around the basketball floor and people are sitting on the bleacher steps. In a larger school we could have better seating facilities. This would enable more people to come and sit comfortably.

In conclusion, we would have a larger variety of sports, keener competition for positions on the athletic teams, better facilities, but most important of all there would be a sport that would suit everyone.
