EDITORIAL

Looks as though our neighboring boro, New Holland, is inching in on the Farm Show. That boro ended its farm show Saturday with a corn husking contest. Of course there is nothing to prevent any show from holding such a contest but it must be remembered that the Championship of Lancaster County is always decided at Mount Joy.

"DO THOU LIKEWISE"

It might be well for any merchant to follow his successful neighbor's advice. Here it is:
A certain grocer, when asked why he advertised regularly in The Bulletin came up with answer, "Advertising is cheaper than dusting." He was referring to the problem of dusting quantities of canned goods if they are left on the shelf for long. Advertising, he said, moves them so quickly that dusting is unnecessary.

IT WON'T BE LONG

Christmas packages for our Armed Forces, outside of the continental United States, will be accepted by the post office between October 15 and Nov. 15. Recalling past experiences with Christmas boxes, mailed to travel within the states, we should use more care in the wrapping and addressing. Packages should be of strong construction, securely tied and sealed, addressed legibly by printing in ink or typewritten and on the wrapper rather than on the pasted label. We want to send Christmas to Japan, Korea, the Pacific Islands and remote areas where Americans are "holding the fort". Let's make it bright by making it right.

HARDLY SEEMS FAIR

We can't help but call attention to a recent occurrence in this community whereby a large number of fish were accidentally killed. This occurs frequently thruout the state and on almost every occasion those responsible get off lucky.
If you or I go to a stream anywhere and kill a fish illegally it costs us ten bucks for each and every fish. On the other hand, take the case where many hundreds and oftentimes thousands are killed.

The local case referred to 1090 suckers, 250 carp, 300 sunfish and about 2000 minnows, or a total of 3,650 were killed. At $10 apiece that would cost $36,500. The party responsible did voluntarily pay $750.

PURSuing HAPPINESS

Once in a while we get "the blues" and wonder what the jewelry business is all about. Some sneeringly say it's an essential business, a luxury business; but is it? If beauty is luxury, then ugliness is common; or if beauty is non-essential, then ugliness is necessary. Yes, you can get along without luxuries and non-essentials. You can go through life without a song, without a smile, without love and without kindness. You can exist on bread alone but you do not live.

In a land that guarantees "pursuit of happiness" we insist that our business is essential. We deal in the tangible expressions of kindness and love that put a song in your heart and a smile on your face. To those who would pursue happiness we offer an open sesame. We are happy to be associated with a business that serves those who seek happiness.

OUR SUGGESTION

Our readers are familiar with the County School authorities who have prosecuted quite a number of Amishmen for failure to send their children over 14 years of age, to school. The prosecutions ended by some paying while others went to jail.
Here's how the farmers down Texas way overcome the difficulty. They don't give religious reasons but have the teachers in various communities wherever necessary, dismiss school. The children get credit for attendance, then go home and help pick cotton.

Farmers know they can not hire children under 16 to gather crops. The action was taken at an emergency meeting of a West Central Texas town's school board. Until last January, the child labor law didn't apply to farm workers.

IT'S FARM SHOW WEEK

Here we are again getting ready for that big annual event — The Farm Show. Our many stores here have a new front for the occasion and there isn't a family within miles who will not attend at some time or other while many of them come daily.

And just in case you forgot, bring that nicest jar of canned fruit, jelly, cakes, or what have you, and enter the friendly competition with your neighbor. And don't forget we'll pay you cash for your trouble — if you win.

Then there will be the crowning of a Corn Queen, 4-H live stock competition, lots of entertainment. We'll be seen 'n you at the fair here on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

FUNCTION OF THE PRESS

The American Press, which devotes much of its space and effort to the job of interpreting current political, scientific and social changes, has never succeeded in clearly interpreting itself to the American public. One of the most potent daily forces in modern life, its functions, purposes and methods all too frequently are misunderstood by the public it seeks to serve.

This has been true right here in Mount Joy where criticism of editorial practices of The Bulletin has evidenced a lack of understanding of the role of editorials and editorial page opinion.

It is the policy of The Bulletin to present impartial facts and to eliminate any semblance of opinion in their news columns. Even our critics have admitted the success of our efforts in that field. The editorial page, however, is essentially a page of "opinion."
Editorials express the policies and opinions of the newspapers. Syndicated columns express the opinions and views of their authors. Letters to the editor are the views and opinions of our readers.

BRIGHT OCTOBER

Color is creeping up the trees as a flame though October has a golden quality that brings more yellow than red. The elm, maple and tulip trees shed leaves that dot the lawn and garden with a mat of russet, brown, tan and yellow, while overhead there is a spectacular display of a crimson bough, a branch of purple. Some of the trees are bright with berries, little clusters that were at first orange then became a brilliant flame. There is the dogwood tree that is a showpiece with its fall beauty. The red of sumac is no warmer. But in October, gold is predominant, in sunflower, marigold, goldenrod, sunshine. We who condemn the heat of the sun in summer, seek its pleasantness in the fall. This is indeed the month that shows the work of the artist's brush wielded by Nature.

Arcurus, the star of summer, seeks a western setting while Capella, the star of winter, begins its long trek across the sky towards a seemingly far off spring. Those who study the heavens also study the growth and progress of the earth. They look to Taurus in the eastern sky at evening and to the pumpkin, asters, hickory nuts and apples by day. Autumn is for understanding the wonders of the season's change in the heavens, the miracles that show the change of pace underneath. Astronomical study is a far horizon and difficult for many of us to manage, but every one of us can comprehend and contemplate the soil and its full measure.

In the entire instrumental program begun last year, we have exactly 50 in the Junior band including those beginning this year. This number exceeds the Senior Band. Consequently the future for the Senior Band is very good. At present the Senior Band numbers 40. The marching unit totals 71.

The band has won first prize of $100 at the recent Elizabethtown Fair. They also received $85 for marching at the recent New Holland Farm Parade. Future parades scheduled are: Mt. Joy, Oct. 14, Lancaster, Oct. 16, and Mt. Joy on Oct. 31. The Band Director, Mr. George Huock, had to turn down two invitations to parade. One at Hanover on October 26 and one at Elizabethtown on October 27. There was a conflict due to the Senior Play the same evenings.
The entire Junior Band will make its initial appearance October 31, participating in the Halowe'en Parade.

The High School Girls' Chorus will sing at the Florin U.B. Church on Friday, October 20. The mixed Chorus this year numbers 109. Per Church performances the voices are selected and the number cut down. They will present a Christmas Program similar to the one last year, which was well received by the people of Mount Joy.

The Junior High Chorus will be very good this year with the additional students from Florin showing their ability to sing. The Chorus numbers 63. The students of Mt. Joy are, without a doubt, musically inclined. It is a proven fact, since there are 71 in the Senior Band Marching Unit, 50 in the Junior Band, 109 in the Senior Chorus and 63 in the Junior High Chorus.

The Bulletin's Scrapbook!

Week's Best Recipe:
Vegetable Medley with Spaghetti in Cheese Sauce: 4 ounces elbow or long spaghetti, 3 T butter, 3 T enriched flour, 1 t salt, 1/2 t pepper, 1 1/2 c milk, 2 c cubed American cheese (1/2 lb.), 1 c cooked carrots, 1 c cooked corn, 1 c cooked lima beans. Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender (about 8 minutes). Drain and rinse. While spaghetti is soaking, melt butter in top of double boiler. Stir in flour, salt and pepper. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Add cheese and blend. Fold spaghetti into cheese sauce, place on warm chop plate. Arrange buttered vegetables around edge of spaghetti. Serve hot.

Take A Tip:
When washing lamp shades, dry them quickly after they are rinsed, by turning an electric fan directly on them. It prevents colors from running...To sprinkle clothes without spattering things 'round about, lay them in the bathtub and drop water upon them...Put your freshly laundered ironing board cover back on the board while it is damp. When it dries it will shrink up and be smooth and tight...Hankies and other flat pieces that double back on the wringer rollers, won't do so if you squeeze some of the water out of the front end which you feed through first.

Food Facts:
People eat about the same amount of food today as during the depression, but better quality foods. On the average, each person eats a little more than 1 1/2 tons of food a year. The average American eats no more meat today than he did 40 years ago though the popularity of poultry and poultry products has greatly increased. The public eats 1/2 more eggs than back in 1909, fewer potatoes, less grain products (about 40 per cent less). The demand for citrus fruits and vegetables has gained tremendously. These facts come from a report of the U. S. Department of Agriculture covering a 40-year period.

Inspirational.
An acre of performance is worth the whole world of promise.

Wiring System Placed Underground

Recommendations Are Given for Installation

Locating Wires Underground Enhances Beauty of Farm

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau
Underground wiring, as shown in the above illustration, may be used in place of overhead wiring between buildings as well as for the service connections to the power line. It may be used with pole metering, outdoor or indoor metering for service conductors.

Here are some of its advantages: It is more permanent, costs less per year to maintain because of its extremely long life, can not be damaged by sleet and windstorms and adds to the beauty of the farm since it eliminates poles and overhead wires.
The common types of conductors, recognized for use in wet locations (Type RW Wire, Type TW Wire) and lead covered cable, can be used for underground wiring, if installed in metallic or non-metallic conduits. Special types of cables also can be used underground without conduit.

For direct burial, the required number of single conductor cables (or multi-conductor cable) are placed in a single narrow trench 14 inches or more in depth, and covered with earth fill. Type USE Cables can be placed in metallic or non-metallic conduit at spots where it may seem advisable to provide additional protection. Where the cable must be run up a pole, it should be placed in pipe, or conduit, as shown above, for a height of at least 8 feet up the side of the pole. It may be desirable also to provide additional protection where the cable is placed on the side of a building, such as for outside metering on the side of a house.

For bringing the cable through the foundation of a building, it is recommended that it be run through a piece of conduit or pipe placed in the foundation. In such cases, the cable should be wrapped with tar or some other non-hardening caulking compound, stuffing it snugly into the conduit or pipe. This provides a tight seal and prevents seepage into the building and the formation of ice in the opening in cold weather.
It is advisable to provide a certain amount of slack in the cables by making a loop or "U" shaped bend in the cables adjacent to the foundation. This allows for shifting of the foundation and upheaval of the ground where there are conditions of deep frost.
