EDITORIAL

The way things appear now the war in Korea is all over but the shooting.

We've been told that money is getting so tight that we are apt to find buttons in the church collection plate ere long.

New Government curbs which went into effect Monday made it tougher to buy automobiles and many household appliances on the installment terms.

We feel certain there will be far less stone throwing in the future due to the many glass houses being erected today, particularly those spacious picture windows. People will be compelled to use more mud.

IN THEIR OWN BACK YARD
In Australia the official ruling on recruiting specifies that recruits must enlist for service in Australia or anywhere in the world. But, the Australian Labor Party, fortunately not the power in control of the government, opposes the policy. It insists that no one should be required to enlist, unless he so desires, for service outside of Australia. This is isolationism with a capital letter. As we might well ask, where would Australia be if American soldiers, in the last war, didn't fight the Japanese in the Pacific, if right now they didn't fight in Korea?

NOT THE CAUSE, THE EFFECT
In small towns where everybody knows everybody else and the size of their over-draft, there aren't the local fights about gambling, what it is, when or if it can be charitable and worthy. Folks aren't as worried about where bingo games and slot machines might lead, about "goons" moving in to take over and bring about political corruption, racketeering, bloodshed. Some churches, private clubs and charitable organizations that operate bingo games and slot machines, feel it is an interesting and indirect way of contributing to worthy and constructive causes they maintain. But, can gambling be good because it is for a good cause or is it bad because it has so frequently led to crime, corruption, death? A man says if it is controlled gambling, it can be successfully handled. His neighbor asks, "Can gambling be controlled?"

WE'LL TAKE PUMPKIN
Cheese, Wine, Honey and Macaroni weeks come in October, and so does the day Hallowe'en. Dairy farmers, wine merchants, manufacturers, hack the weeks. Children and the old who are young in heart, back the day. Sure, we like cheese, wine, honey and macaroni, but we love Hallowe'en. It gives us an excuse to masquerade as Romeo, Atlas, Simon Legree or the King of Hearts. We relish a cheese omelet but we like pumpkin pie better. Honey and hot biscuits is mighty good, but so is cider with doughnuts. Cleaning the yard to make a Hallowe'en bonfire isn't any more work than cleaning food spots on your tie. A casserole must be washed but a tub of water for apple-bobbing, doesn't. Sure, it's hard to get the soap off the windows, takes effort to find the porch chairs. Cheese and crackers make a nice crunching sound, but so does crisp apples and parched corn. We'll take fortune telling, tick-tacks, pumpkin faces, witches brew, broom sticks and corn shocks in late October and you can have the cheese and macaroni, the honey and wine.

IT CALLS FOR CHANGES
The necessity of present drafting is not like one that would be required as an all-out draft during wartime, but in order to build a strong peacetime army, to now build an army of three million men, it will require changes from the Selective Service law that governed us during World War II, according to Maj. Gen. Hershey. He proposes certain measures to maintain and build a stronger military establishment.

First, he would make World War II veterans, within the present age of 19-25 limits, eligible for service. This meets with opposition, with preference for a 35 age limit instead. But, the group of younger men are more satisfactory as far as military efficiency is concerned and puts less disruption upon industry. The group contains men, most of whom saw service during the closing days of the war or afterwards or for short periods, includes few who received the brunt of heavy and long service.

Second, Gen. Hershey would increase the present limit of 21 months period of service to 30 months, at least, and for the existing emergency. When an emergency may last for years, you can't build an effective military force on a short-time basis. He strikes a medium between a permanent military force and some plan for universal training. He suggests that deferment policies be tightened, that physical and mental requirements be relaxed, which have led to a high percentage of rejections.

There will be opposition to any change in the Selective Service laws and, with events in Korea turning for the better, there will be increased resistance to these draft provisions. But, our job is to see we are prepared for any future Koreans.

HAPPENINGS —of— LONG AGO

20 Years Ago

There was a snow flurry at Columbia on Saturday.

A letter written by Martha Washington was sold at Philadelphia for $1,450.

Philadelphia had 16 hours of rain while this section was without a shower.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meckley gave a kitchen shower in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Blessing.

Abram Heisey, Rapho Twp., purchased the Brecht homestead near Union Square.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Bates celebrated their 25th anniversary.

A prize stallion, "Diamond," 2840 lbs., purchased by Reist Seed Company, was on exhibition at our Community Exhibit.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hendrix entertained to a surprise birthday party in honor of their daughter, Doris.

An apple tree on the Raffensperger farm near Biglerville, is in blossom for the third time this year.

Samuel Mason, proprietor of the Rheems Bantam Poultry Farm was awarded 12 first prizes at the Ephrata Poultry Exhibition.

Captain Frank Hawk, made a speed record when he flew 70 miles in 17 minutes or 250 miles per hour.

Judge Chas. I. Landis, served in Lancaster County courts for more than 31 years, forwarded his resignation to Gov. Fisher to take effect November 1.

Three bandits robbed "Charles' Place" near Kinderhook and got $200 in cash.

The East Hempfield Twp. school band made its initial appearance at Meckley's store, after holding rehearsal during the summer.

Walter D. Keener farm, 4 miles east of Mt. Joy, was withdrawn at public sale at $7,500.

Lancaster bakers reduced the price of bread 1 cent per loaf, this was done after wheat was selling at 80¢ for months.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno. M. Swarr and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Weaver of Landisville, entertained friends to a doggie roast at Keeners Park.

Miss Anna Webb of town and Mr. Charles Shank, of Bainbridge, were married at Harrisburg, October 18th.

George Brown Sons are installing a filter plant at their mill.

Lanc. Co. Bar Assoc. endorsed Benj. C. Atlee Esq., to succeed Chas. I. Landis, as Judge of Common Pleas Court.

Mr. Martin Geiber was knocked down by boys running in their play, and sustained a broken nose and shoulder injury.

The Junior C. E. of the U. B. Church gave a surprise party for Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Tyndall at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Felker.

William Penn

knew a good thing when he saw it!

William Penn saw in Pennsylvania a land rich with possibilities. But even he never imagined the great strides Pennsylvania was to make through the years. Little did he dream in 1681 when he received the land charter that this was the first step in developing a great Pennsylvania which would —

- ... have a two billion-dollar farm industry ...
- ... produce more coke than Russia ...
- ... have more railroad mileage than New York and New Jersey combined ...
- ... mine almost all the anthracite coal in the nation ...
- ... have more miles of state highways than ten Northeastern states combined.
- ... produce nearly twice as much steel as Great Britain.
- ... lead the nation in more than 50 major industries.

Pennsylvania has many, many more achievements than the few above. It's time to take stock to see what can be done by Pennsylvanians ... by us ... to keep Pennsylvania out in front.

During Pennsylvania Week, see what YOU can do to bring more business ... more people to our own area. That's what Pennsylvania Week is for — and every week of the year, for that matter.

During Pennsylvania Week, tell someone about the "good thing" which William Penn founded 269 years ago ... and help keep your Pennsylvania growing for a greater tomorrow.
