PROCLAMATION

Thanksgiving Day = Nov. 23, 1950

More than any other national holiday. Thanksgiving has come to express the deepest sentiment of all Americans, a profound gratitude for the opportunities and the personal and political liberties which all of us enjoy, and for the abundance so widely realized here in our State and Nation.

Thanksgiving is not now and never has been a day of mere self satisfaction, untempered by concern for the less for tunate in our midst and for the distressed of other lands.

Perhaps our chief reason for gratitude in this prosperous but troubled year is the fact that as a people we have been In Farm Work moved to share our prosperity with those among us who needed our help, and that we have also been able to contribute up to the limit of our means to the welfare of other nations.

As we enjoy and render thanks for the abundant gifts of Providence, let us keep active in our hearts the needs of all wheat. Myers and a son, Allen, Butzer was making a left turn from peoples who are not so lucky.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, James H. Duff, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 23, 1950, as a legal holiday and as a day of Thanksgiving in this Commonwealth. I call upon our people to observe the day in their homes and in their places of worship in humble and grateful remembrance of the blessings that the citizens of this great State are privileged to enjoy.

FURTHERMORE, I ask that the Flag of the United States be displayed from all appropriate places to symbolize our patriotic loyalty and devotion to the ideals of liberty, justice and Herr, Brinser Heistand, Vernon equal opportunity that America holds forth as an example to the world; and that the Flag of Pennsylvania be displayed as a token of our appreciation of the many blessings which residents of this Commonwealth enjoy.

GIVEN under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, at the city of Harrisburg, this 15th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifty, and of the Ginder, Isaac Garman, Paul Weiser, Commonwealth and one hundred and seventy-fifth.
