Sherrick; thence in a line south eighteen degrees southwest one hundred and sixty rods, crossing the intersection of the Harrisburg and Lancaster turnpike and railroad to the place of beginning, shall be and the same is according to the foregoing lines, declared to be erected into a Borough, to be called the Borough of Mount Joy and to be divided into the East and West wards by Railroad street each ward to elect an equal number of Councilmen.

In order that there could be no township interference or complication, the Senate and House of Representatives at Harrisburg included a repeal in our charter as follows:

That the seventh section of act number ninety-three, passed the sixth day of March, one thousand eight hundred and forty-eight, relative to Mount Joy street, in the village of Mount Joy in the County of Lancaster, be, and the same is hereby repealed.

Passed New Act

On the third day of April, 1951, the State passed a new Act Regulating Boroughs. Mount Joy was granted a supplement to its charter which made it subject to the provisions of the new act. This supplement was granted March 24, 1952 and endorsed by William Bigler, who was then Governor of the state.

The First Burgess

At the Spring election of 1851 Joseph Hogentobler was elected as the first Burgess of Mount Joy and Abraham Deyer was borough secretary. Mr. Hogentobler served one year and was succeeded by Isaac Shertzer in 1852. Jacob Stauffer was secretary.

In the Spring of 1855 John Patterson was elected Burgess and he served one year being succeeded by H. Shaffner and later by B. M. Greider.

In 1863 the late Dr. J. L. Ziegler was elected Burgess. He was the father of the late Dr. James P. Ziegler, who was well known and is well remembered by many of our older citizens. The Zieglers resided and had their offices on the site now occupied by Mrs. Howard Longenecker, corner of Main and High streets. At that time J. B. Landis was clerk. He was succeeded during Ziegler's administration by J. E. Cassel and later still by G. R. Hendrickson and then A. K. Martin. The latter conducted a saddle shop on West Main street, a few doors west of Newcomer Motors, at which time the editor of the Bulletin moved from Donegal Springs to Mount Joy.

In 1890 Henry L. Stager was elected Burgess and Harry C. Schock father of P. Franck Schock, now residing on Frank street, was borough clerk. Mr. Schock was succeeded a year later by Frank G. Pennell who conducted a coach works in the building now occupied by Sico Company, on Mount Joy street. Mr. Pennell later served as postmaster here and upon his death was succeeded by his daughter Miss Emma Pennell.

Our Water Works.

On April 3, 1872, a charter was granted to the Mount Joy Water Works. It was approved by John W. Geary, Governor. The water works was built later.

U.S.D.A. Sums Up Data On Feeding Potato Culls

Feeding cull or surplus potatoes to livestock is a sensible, profit-making move for both growers and feeders, a U. S. department of agriculture survey of experiments at state agricultural colleges and elsewhere shows. Dairy and beef cattle, hogs and sheep have been fattened successfully using potatoes in the ration.

Here are some of the highlights of the federal findings, summarized for North Dakota by North Dakota agricultural college extension service.

About 400 to 450 pounds of fresh potatoes are equal to 100 pounds of an average grain mixture.

Potatoes are about equal to good corn silage in feed value and have about one-third the feed value of alfalfa hay.

They contain twice as many digestible nutrients as wet beet pulp or beet tops.

It appears you can safely feed dairy cows up to 35 pounds of potatoes a day, preferably with high-protein legume roughage to offset the low-protein potatoes. You can substitute potatoes for all or part of the corn silage, part of the grain mixture, or part of the hay.

For beef cattle, potatoes are sometimes used in fattening rations and may be used in a wintering ration. They may replace part of the hay and grain, and may be gradually increased from three or four pounds per head daily at the start up to 20 pounds.

Fresh potatoes are well suited for both fattening lambs and wintering ewes as part of their feed. Potatoes are equal to corn silage for fattening lambs, and some commercial feeders claim that potatoes fed to ewes immediately after lambing make the ewes' milk heavier.

As for hogs, cooked potatoes make an excellent feed. Raw potatoes are worth only one-half to two-thirds as much in feed value for swine. You can steam them in large kettles or in a covered dump truck for about 30 minutes, and then store them in a silo without adding any other material. Cooked potatoes may replace up to one-half the grain mixture usually fed.

CHAS. HESS, Shohola, Pike County Poultryman says:

"With my automatic electric poultry feeder, I can handle a capacity flock of broilers in spite of the shortage of hired help!"

Poultryman Hess continues, "my automatic electric poultry feeder not only eliminates the costly feed waste, but also keeps feed fresh and clean!"

That's the actual, first-hand experience of this progressive Central Eastern Pennsylvania poultry farmer who raises 20,000 broilers a year. Low cost, automatically controlled electricity does the work for him...not only cutting operating costs but raising farm profits and efficiency.

See your PP&L Farm Representative or your electrical farm equipment dealer. One of the big advantages is that you'll be able to handle a larger flock through the extra time your electric feeder saves. It is a real investment in more profitable farming as Poultryman Hess and other leading poultrymen will testify.
