

OWL LAFFS

A WISE OWL

Sammy Dock says its a question as to which is the hotter—a baked potato or a new pipe.

A fellow sitting back in the corner imbibing all by his lonesome up at Chet's the other night said: "After the first glass, a lamb; after the second glass, a lion; after the third glass, a pig."

Back at the fire house the other evening a fellow remarked: Why do men pay more attention to what a woman isn't wearing than to what she is wearing?"

Some wives want to go every place their husbands go and other wives don't want to go any place with their husbands.

A man will think nothing of stealing another man's time but would never in the world rob him of a penny.

I'm thoroughly convinced that "going fishing" is some of our most ardent anglers is only a figure of speech. We toured the trout streams on Sunday, and while we did see some fellows actually fishing we saw more anglers who were sleeping in the sun, napping in the hunting camp or car, picnicking in the car, listening to the car radio in a nice sunny spot, or just having a general get-together with fellow fishermen.

At a nearby hatchery a lonely baby chick taking a look around the electric incubator full of unhatched eggs, peeped: "Well, it looks as if I'll be an only child. Mother's blown a fuse."

A recently drafted youth on his first leave, told us an army rifle weighs 8.69 pounds. After you carry it a few miles the decimal point drops out.

Here's a composition on "cats" handed in by one of our grammar school pupils that deserve a good mark if only for the amount of "thinking out" it took—

"Cats that meant for little boys to maul and tease is called Maulteas cats. Some cats is reckerized by how quiet their purrs is and these is named Purisian cats. The cats what has very bad tempers is called Angorie cats and cats with deep feelings is called feline casts. I don't like cats."

My spouse was reading the paper this morning, when she remarked: "Here's an article that tells how paper can keep a person warm."

"I know that from experience," I said. "I'll never forget how a 30 day note kept me in a sweat for a month."

This little piece of poetry was sent in anonymously. And while it's against our policy to publish unsigned contributions, since this mentions no one in particular, we will pass it along—

Life has its little tragedies, But, none I think more drastic Than when you cross main street at noon, And snap, goes your elastic.

That brings another incident to mind that gave the fellows at the service station quite a chuckle the other evening.

While the tire was being fixed, the woman who owned the car got out for a cold drink. When she came back the station attendant motioned behind her and said: "Your rear bumper is a little loose ma'am."

The lady agreed saying: "Probably, but it's too darn uncomfortable to wear a girdle."

With everybody busy on Centennial plans, one of our writers decided to "go poetic and cable, forth with this—

A hundred years ago today, A wildness was here, A man with powder on his gun, Went forth to hunt a deer, But now the times have changed.

Town's Reception

Couch George Houck's remarks expressed the pride the townspeople feel in being represented by a group of such "clean cut youths", Houck's sincere feeling of brotherliness to each individual was well understood, especially when he commented on amusing incidents that occurred throughout the year. His remark "I'll miss each boy a thousand times" could be turned right back to express the sentiments of the team members who will graduate, of which there are nine.

Mr. James J. Neely, chairman of the PIAA Committee District Three expressed his pride in representing a district that has produced champions of high calibre for the past two years and reminded the audience that to reach the championship approximately 250 school teams in the district had to be eliminated.

Remarks were also heard from County Superintendent of Schools, Arthur P. Mylin and from Henry O'Neil, first basketball coach at Mt. Joy high school. Both reminisced. Tribute was paid to Miss Edna Martin for forty years of teaching in the local schools. She was escorted to the center of the stage by team members where she was presented with an orchid.

Burgess C. L. Fish, speaker Rev. Elmer Keiser, chairman George Brown, toastmaster Benj. Groff, soloist Dorothy Schock, Rev. W. R. Carr, of Lancaster, who gave the benediction; Rev. Becker, members of the School Board, Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce, Banquet committee, Rev. Rank, athletic coach John Day, Uncle Charlie Maser, dean of athletics at F and M; County Superintendent of Schools, Arthur P. Mylin, former principal William Nitræner, Henry O'Neil, James J. Neely, PIAA chairman; Rev. Koder, faculty members, next year's basketball squad, Dave Brandt, WGAL-TV sportscaster, Lebanon newspapermen Wm. Parry and Jackson, supervising principal Wilbur Beshm, and these representatives of the Lancaster Newspapers: Harold Eager, Bob Hutter, George Crudden, and Steve O'Neil; Charles Whitcamp, WGAL-TV and Ken Kreider, WGAL.

MAN FINED BECAUSE HIS DOG KILLED A RABBIT
Allen D. Shearer, Manheim R2, was fined $15 on a charge of permitting his dog to chase and kill a cotton-tail rabbit last week, it was announced Friday by District Game Protector John M. Haverstick.

Haverstick, who said Shearer settled the case on a field receipt, reported the violation was observed by William Fackler, of this borough last Thursday. Fackler, he added, spotted the violation while on a patrol in Rapho township.

At the same time Haverstick warned all dog owners in the county to keep their dogs under control. The dog training season, he pointed out, ended March 31, and violations will be promptly dealt with.

HENRY W. GARBER WILL BE 80 YEARS "YOUNG" SUNDAY

Henry W. Garber, West Main St., who will celebrate his eightieth milestone on Sunday, is a native of our borough.

He is a baker by trade and for many years was employed in local

HENRY W. GARBER bakeries. He later worked at his trade at Reedsville, Pa. for some time.

When the smaller local bakeries were compelled to give way to the large city bakeries, Mr. Garber took over a bread route here which he conducted for forty-two years.

Mr. Garber's wife, who died several years ago, was a Miss Buch, of Manheim. To this union two sons were born, Carl and Lloyd, both living with their father on West Main street. The latter is married.

"Henny" is quite a base ball fan and in his younger days played on local teams, pitching them to victory on numerous occasions.

The State Police Rodeo Acts Will Feature The Rally

Five acts from the annual State Police rodeo will be featured of the program at the Lancaster County School Safety Patrol Assembly to follow the big Patrol parade in Lancaster on Saturday morning, May 5, the Lancaster Automobile Club, sponsor of the annual safety demonstration, has announced. The outdoor program, which is expected to attract upwards of 7,000, will be staged at McCaskey High school stadium and will be open free to the public.

The rodeo acts, put on by State troopers from the training school at Hershey, will include Indians, trained dogs, trained horses, clowns and a trick automobile stunt. Band music and drills also will be on the program. George Lowe, of Philadelphia, safety director of the Atlantic Refining Co. and official announcer for the annual State Police rodeos, will be the master of ceremonies.

Twenty-five school bands will march in the parade. There will be Safety patrol delegations from more than 100 Lancaster County schools, each with at least one float bearing a safety message. A division made up of rural school units will be a new parade feature this year.

The parade will start at 9 a.m. from Pine and West Chestnut Sts. and move east on Chestnut street to Reservoir, thence to McCaskey stadium, where the program is scheduled to start at 10:30 and conclude at 12:30 p.m.

Admission is free.

BUCKS COUNTY DAIRYMAN EXPLAINS IMPORTANCE OF ELECTRIC HAY FINISHER

Dairyman Clarence H. Effrig of RD #2, Perkasio, speaks directly from personal experience when the electric hay finisher is the subject! He states, "Since installing an electric hay finisher, I find our hay-curing time reduced approximately 50%. That means valuable time and labor saved. Our hay is exposed to the weather much less...and so I have practically no worries about weather damage. And with our hay stored at a higher moisture content, a much larger percentage of the valuable leafy greens is retained. With this better grade of hay I spend much less on feed supplements...that means money saved!"

More and more Central Eastern Pennsylvania dairy farmers confirm these facts for themselves each year. See your local electrical farm equipment dealer today, or consult your PP&L Farm Representative, and plan to handle this year's hay crop the modern way...get
