Pair 84-Year Olds

there for many years. Later he moved to our boro and resided on West Main street for a long time. Now he makes his home with his son-in-law Roy Schroll who tenants one of the Hershey Estates farms a short distance beyond Deodate, Elizabethtown Rl.
Weaver outside of being slightly deaf in fine physical condition, and needs glasses only to read the newspapers. He has six children, 12 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. He came to live in Landisville in 1894, and now lives with his grandson, James Archer, in the same town.
This will be Brandt's first trip West—although he has traveled eastward before—and he is looking forward to seeing the fabulous Sequoias in particular, although he is waiting eagerly to see "everything."

But Weaver, who was employed by the Penna. Railroad for forty-two years, once before travelled West with his wife—25 years ago, when they visited Montana. However, he knows that there will be many changes since that time and also wants to see whatever there is to be seen.
Both men are eighty-four years of age and they are brother-in-laws. Their wives died several years ago and were sisters: Mary Randler Brandt and Elizabeth Randler Weaver.

EDITORIAL

Another indication that some men just can't resist temptation. At Newark, N. J. an ex-Army meat inspector was found guilty in a million dollar plot to sell inferior meat to the armed forces at top grade prices.

IN TOBACCO BUSINESS

Seems our Uncle Sammy is trying something new—he's in the tobacco business. To date the Government has purchased over a million pounds of Lancaster county tobacco in an effort to keep the price up.
Dealers are paying 26 and 28 cents but the Government price for CI grade is 35 cents.
