

OWL LAFFS

A WISE OWL

We have a report that a guy on Donegal Springs Road keeps cool by putting a 250-lb. cake of ice in his bath tub while he shaves.

A guy who just recently returned from a trip to the shore said the way nature's militia—mosquitoes—invade those resort places would stop any Communist Army. He declares his wounds won't be more than healed until he goes down again next summer — if he goes.

Guennie Kramer can't understand why some of the farmers that live out near their cottage, don't cut their tobacco. — She says, she knows it's ripe because the flowers on the plants are in bloom.

Our ex-office boy Jimmy, now in England, sent us this one. It's a conversation that took place in a troop plane.

1st Recruit: "Say, Buddy, there's a big hole in your parachute."

2nd Recruit: "Oh, that's nothing, I'll use it anyway. I'm not afraid."

1st Recruit: "Take my word for it, Buddy. You'll get sunburned."

Then there's the fellow from Florin who rolls his own cigarettes because he needs the exercise.

One of our little snappers was sitting on his father's knee as they patiently waited for mother to get her hair put up. "What's mummy doing, pop?" the little fellow asked. "She's putting waves in her hair, son."

The boy thought this over for a moment, and then spoke up. "No waves for you, huh, pop? You're all beach."

Much more of this sticky, humid, scorching heat and I'm gonna throw in the sponge and head for the far north. I know the seasons are changing, but darned if I'll look forward to this every summer. I'd rather shovel coal and snow.

That reminds me. A lot of you fellows know Emerson Zeager up in Perry County. But for the benefit of you folks who don't he's the most humorous fellow in a droll sort of way you wanna meet. You can't keep up with his remarks, but not long ago we dropped in to see him and he was putting beer away, when he remarked: "All I do is carry. In winter I carry in the coal and carry out the ashes. In summer I carry in the ice and carry out the water, now I'm carrying in beer and carrying out the empties. It don't make sense."

And the doctor told him he must stay off his feet — Emerson wants to know how a hotel man can do it.

We've a local lass whose bankrupt and don't know it, cause she thinks her face is her fortune and what a map she's got.

Bill Enck says "No man is complete until he is married—and then he's finished."

On Monday, up at the post office corner, a elderly gentleman stepped from the curb on his way across the street. A huge Great Dane dog bounded around the corner and knocked the old boy flat on his back. Just as he was about to rise and start on his way again, a Crossley sped by and knocked him flat again.

A passerby stopped to help him and inquired about his injuries. The old man said, "That dog didn't hurt me, but that daburned cart he tied to his tail about killed me."

A small town is a place everybody knows whose check is good and whose husband isn't.

A refiner was spending his vacation at a camp. One day he asked a farmer who resided near by what he did with such an enormous peach crop. The farmer replied, "Well, we eat what we can and what we can't eat we can." "We do the same thing, brother," said the questioner. "We sell what

Weekly Letter By Penna. State Game Commission

The Department of The Interior recently announced the 1951 regulations under which rails, gallinules and doves may be hunted. Detailed regulations for migratory waterfowl hunting will not be issued, however, until the latter part of August, the department secretary said.

The open season for rails, gallinules and sora is from September 1 through October 31.

Mourning doves may be taken in this state from October 8 through November 6.

Daily shooting hours — Gallinules and rails, including sora, the same as last year, 1/2 hour before sunrise Eastern Standard Time.

Shooting hours for mourning doves. From October 8 through October 31, twelve noon until sunset. From November 1 through November 6, twelve noon to 5 p. m., but not after sunset.

Daily bag limits: Rails and Gallinules (except Sora). Not more than 15 in the aggregate of rails (other than sora) and gallinules. Sora. The daily bag and possession limit has been reduced from 10 to 8 birds.

Firearms. The federal regulation prohibits the use of shotguns capable of holding more than 3 shells. The shotgun plug must be incapable of removal without disassembling the gun. In addition to hand-operated repeating shotguns, semi-automatic shotguns are now permitted in Pennsylvania, provided the 3 shell and plug regulations are observed for taking small game, predators and unprotected birds. Doves, rails, gallinules and sora may be taken only through the use of shotguns, not larger than 10 gauge. Rifles may not be used in taking any migratory game birds.

Licenses. A federal migratory bird hunting stamp (duck stamp) is not required to hunt rails, gallinules, sora, and doves. A 1951 Pennsylvania resident or nonresident hunter's license is required.

Jersey Deer Suicide In Pike Co. Game Protector John Lohmann, Milford, reports that on May 28, 1951, an eight year old doe deer, carrying a male and female embryo soon to be born was killed on Route 209 in his district. This deer was different from most others killed by vehicles on that highway; it wore a New Jersey ear tag.

The game warden at Sussex, N. J., said that the doe in question had been trapped on the Hercules Powder Company property two years ago and was released in the vicinity of Montague, N. J.

The deer, evidently swam the Delaware River in search of greener pastures. It had the questionable distinction of being the second ear-tagged New Jersey deer to be killed on Route 209 in Pike County within two years.

Chuck asks Mortician to Free It From Possible Death. Bruce P. Yeager, Northumberland game protector says: "It is nothing new for Emerson Heffner, Washingtonville mortician to be called out at all hours because of his profession. But one night he was awakened at 1:30 a. m. by a knocking at his back porch. He arose and went to the rear door. There the amazed man saw a wild-chuck on the porch, a tin can wedged tightly over its head. As it moved about it had bumped the can on the floor, causing the mortician to think someone knocked."

Heffner locked the "chuck" in his garage until morning, when he photographed the oddity. Afterward he removed the can with the aid of tin shears. The woodchuck seemed to have suffered no ill effects and it immediately scampered off into the woods."

Visitors at State Park See Unusual Deer. Joe A. Leidecker, Reading game protector, reports two herds of deer, totaling 16, in the French Creek State Park area near Hope-well.

Two of the deer are partially white. One is patch-marked, resembling a painted pony; the other is almost entirely white.

Populations Look Promising. Game Protector Duane E. Lettice, who headquarters at Canton, sums up the opinion expressed generally by his brother officers in mountain country when he says: "Young turkeys and grouse are showing up in good numbers in my district. During the past week I observed 4 broods of grouse numbering 8 to 11, also 5 broods of wild turkeys. One of the turkey hen had 17 with her, the largest brood I ever saw. Rabbits are plentiful. Many are being killed on the highway between Canton and Towanda."

AL GELTZ, LANDISVILLE WON FIRST ON TOW LINERS. A seventeen-year old Baltimore youth outdid 312 other contestants to take five trophies in the annual model airplane invitation meet held at Lancaster Municipal Airport.

Russell F. Gardner, considered the leading junior free flight modelist in Maryland, won three first places, a second, and a third.

The only first place winner from Lancaster was Al Geltz, of Landisville, who took top award in the tow line glider competition. He also placed second in Class C, senior, free flight.

On Monday morning drying corn was started at the Cope Corn Factory. A large number of Porta Ric- men are assisting in picking.

The Company joined the State Fireman's Association and accepted three new members: Wilmer E. Dick, Lincoln J. Bingaman and Howard Sutter.

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

There is a lot of talk about the race question—mostly it is race equality. If I chose to boil it down to an important essence, I would say the talk should be about race "pride" not "equality." I would raise my sights — shoot for something higher versus bringing everybody to an average or medium grade. Who is to say who is the best, bronze, black or white. Let each man prove his metal and superiority. The dark man of Arabia, the darker man of Abyssinia, the bronze Cherokee, the White Russian—all should have pride in his race, and do. In 1000 years from now, let him who shows ability and honest effort profit in accordance with such. Don't reduce him to a 50-50 average equality.

Today's talk is dragging the race question in against its will by a gent who hopes to profit from such agitation. Some seem to scent votes in the effort—others profit as professional stirrer-uppers of class confusion.

Such a sensible and upright person as Jersey Joe Walcott does not clutter up the headlines with complaints and laments. Jersey Joe pulls on his gloves—and may the best man win. Jersey Joe is not for equality—he is for superiority. If every man was equal, who would be the champion.

Yours with the low down, JIMMY

MT. JOY SPORTSMEN TO PAY $2.00 FOX BOUNTY

The August meeting of the Mt. Joy Sportsmen's Association was held Monday evening at the Fire house with eleven members present.

The Association decided to pay a bounty of two dollars on all Foxes taken within a radius of five miles of the Borough. The hunter or trapper must be a member of the association for at least two years to be eligible for the bounty, which becomes effective Sept. 1, 1951. All Foxes will be taken to the home of William Fackler, Deputy Game Warden, 234 Marietta St., Mt. Joy, for identification.

The Joy Corporation informed the Association that the skating pond is closed and if the Sportsmen will stock the Pond with extra catfish and carp, the Pond would be opened for fishing to all children up to 16 years, next year.

The groundhog contest was reported as going good.

Next month the prize for trout catches will be announced and paid.

Look Before You Shoot

Far too many humans have already been shot in mistake for a wild animal or bird. None of them have been "accidentally" wounded or killed by the offending shooters made certain of the object aimed at. But which of the hunters shown on the mat might, at considerable distance, resemble a woodchuck to an anxious or nearsighted rifleman? To prevent cases of "mistaken identity" groundhog hunters should wear clothing of distinctive coloration or pattern so that they will stand out in sharp contrast to the summer background. A white or light-reflecting, bright head covering, shirt or vest can well mean the difference between human safety and injury, or death.

In the 1950 woodchuck season, 40 hunters were killed and 27 were wounded by gunfire in Pennsylvania. The reason why the hunter toll of the 'chuck seasons is out of proportion, percentage-wise, to that of the "regular" season when many times the number of gunners are a-field, is that most 'chuck hunters use rifles, not shotguns, and they fire high velocity ammunition. Gunfire victims in 'chuck season are likely to be struck by a slug, not sprayed by fine shot, in the vital head or neck region. In brush or high grass, the hair or dark head-piece worn by the careless hunter is reported by offending gunners to resemble the hair and body of a groundhog.

It seems, unfortunately, that many of the shooters involved were more intent on proving their prowess as marksmen, or on "bringing home the meat" than they were on definitely determining before firing that their target was a "whistlepig" definitely not a human.
