LIBERTY RESTORED

A significant development on the American scene during recent years is the general observance of the Reformation festival. A day which for hundreds of years was celebrated chiefly by Lutherans has recently come to be recognized as a heritage which all Protestants have in common.

This is as it should be. For when Martin Luther nailed his 95 sentences to the door of the Castle Church of Wittenburg, October 31, 1517, challenging the ecclesiastical authorities of his day to a debate on controverted issues, he began a movement which was destined to rediscover the basic Christian freedoms which are now the common heritage of many Protestants.

Luther taught nothing new. He taught no doctrine which Christ Himself had not taught. But he did insist that men must teach and believe everything that Christ has revealed.

He insisted that all religion must be based on the Bible alone. 2 Tim. 3:16. He insisted that man is saved by grace alone, that salvation is one hundred per cent a free gift of God's mercy. Rom. 11:6. And he insisted that the individual Christian has direct access to the father-heart of God through Jesus Christ without any human intermediary. 1 Tim. 2:5.

If Luther were living today he would no doubt point modern Protestantism to the words of Scripture, "Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage." Gal. 5:1.
