4-H Canning, Freezing Important Club Projects

Two important 4-H club projects emphasizing home preservation of food are being carried out this year in 47 states. They are the 4-H canning and frozen foods programs, in which more than 217,000 4-H members throughout the nation participated in 1950. The programs are supervised by the cooperative extension service.

Putting up homegrown products to provide well-balanced diets throughout the whole year is one of the objectives of these projects. An-48-2 other is to help cut food costs.

As incentives for outstanding recor. State 4-H champions get an educational trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago in November. These awards and six national college scholarships are provided by Kerr Glass company.

Why Clip Wings?

To the housewife who has a small flock of chickens and has trouble with their flying, here is an idea that might prove practical. Instead of clipping a fowl's wing feathers, wrap a short piece of wire solder around the three largest feathers of one wing. The solder not only prevents full spread of the wing for flying, but also weighs it down so that any flight will be made in a circle.
