EDITORIAL

Now that the CIO union has urged Truman to run again, it plainly shows just where the chips were falling during labor trouble.

A well known diagnostician declares that more nervous women are created over the bridge table than over the wash tub.

Here's one we would like someone to explain. As you all know gambling is prohibited by law. Yet, 7,760 men have applied for and paid a $50 tax for a professional gambler's stamp. Now they can go ahead and do business.

Pennsylvania and Maryland tobacco farmers are pretty fed up on the Government diking with the prices they receive for their crop. By a vote of better than three to one at Lancaster Friday they expressed themselves as being opposed to controls.

Dr. Gerstell, of Lancaster, Penna. civil defense director, reports that $4,000,000 worth of medical supplies will be stockpiled for the state alone.

To us that looks like more reckless money spending and is absolutely unnecessary. Of course it is in line with the present administration's careless housekeeping methods.

One of the country's top magazines says:

"The only thing that is going to stop the government from thinking of billions as 'chicken feed' is public pressure. And I doubt if news about billions, as published in national magazines and metropolitan dailies, arouses people much anymore. But when the local editor starts analyzing the billions and points out what they mean to each local taxpayer, a genuine, personal interest can be aroused."

"Further the deponent saith not."

The Senate Armed Services subcommittee on Preparedness at Washington has reported "Waste" in many instances at six Air Force Bases. They found:

- Overstocking of food.
- Elaborate furniture instead of serviceable equipment.
- Requests for lavish recreational facilities such as lighted baseball diamonds, golf courses, etc.
- Wrong use of personnel.
- Improper assignment of expensively trained pilots.
- Hotel type dormitories, etc.

Now Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer, that's how some of your tax money is being spent.

BEGINNING TO SMELL

Now it has eked out that a man at Washington recently fired by Truman, received $5,000 commission on the sale of an airplane. That, plus the milk coat deal along with a free trip to Europe last summer at the expense of a wine merchant, is beginning to make political matters stink.

Then, to get a little nearer home several politicians in and around Harrisburg are being accused of handing out checks for $750 in exchange for votes on the recent income proposal.

A Democratic Senator has asked for an investigation of the swift $68,000 profit made by their National Chairman on a $1,000 investment. Well, that's politics.

When you see a young man busy attending to his own business, you may be sure that he will one day be an old man with some business to attend to.

LANDISVILLE

Had a Fire Scare

The Landisville Fire Company was summoned to the home of Mr. Paul Risser, Manheim R1, a short distance south of Landisville, about 2:30 Sunday afternoon, when Mrs. Risser discovered the basement filled with black smoke.

The firemen donned masks and entered the basement, but found no blaze. The smoke was pouring from a defective oil burner. The only damage was plenty of smoke dirt.
