EDITORIAL

The Supreme Court has ruled that six lawyers who defended 11 U. S. Communist party leaders must go to jail for contempt of the Court.

That is as it should be.

WHAT NEXT?

A western motorist, apprehended by the State Police for driving too fast, told the officer his battery was low and he was trying "to charge it up."

Of all the motorists' excuses, this is the first time we've heard that one.

Judge Oliver S. Schaeffer wisely warned young men on their "college hey pranks." He said: "One of these days some of these college boys will get the surprise of their lives when they come into Court. A jail sentence might be good medicine for some of them."

The young men didn't realize that they can have plenty of fun but should not resort to destructive fun. Why must they destroy property?

They better heed Judge Schaeffer's warning or they will regret it.

It appears as though the Democrats themselves are beginning to read the "handwriting on the wall." Democratic Senators McCarran, of Nevada, and Ellender, of Louisiana called for a slash of from one to two billion dollars in President Truman's $7.9 billion foreign aid fund. And they made the request after the President's flowery radio and television broadcast the day previous.

The Bulletin made these predictions two years ago. There's a limit to Santa Claus' generosity.

S. Gerald Darlington, Republican candidate for Congress, is making an effort to get the support of the tobacco farmers. He thinks the U. S. Government should "make immediately available price support loans at 35 cents a pound" for the Lancaster county tobacco crop.

Mr. Darlington can get a good idea of the final result of that Government price support elsewhere in the Bulletin. Uncle Sam has 3 1/2 million pounds of surplus dried eggs remaining from his "spurge buying back in 1950. He has offered them aboard if the recipients will only pay the freight.

Donegal High School

pointed out what they said were overestimates and discrepancies in tax computations and instructional costs. The variations were due to "guessing" necessitated during the survey, Bradbury said, because of what he called lack of cooperation on the part of the county superintendent's office.

Paul Portner, of Marietta, who presided at the session, revealed that an attempt would be made to ask Arthur P. Mylin, county superintendent, to confer with a special financial committee in order to compile the necessary information. Anderson Page, of Philadelphia, school bond advisor, also spoke during the session. He told the Board that their problems were "far from hopeless" and that a solution could be reached if the jointure's budget is re-estimated.

Page agreed with the members of the board who faulted Bradbury's cost estimates were too high and advised a restudy of the fiscal aspects "from every possible angle."

Clair Buchart, York architect, told the schoolmen that present estimates were based on designs requiring a minimum of materials and equipment to provide adequate housing facilities for pupils of the three districts.

Buchart informed the board that county approval had been given project plans and that final state approval probably will be forthcoming within a few months.

He urged the board to advertise for bids by April 1 in order to procure more accurate cost estimates and to speed up actual consolidation. The three districts will not pool assets for the project, it was pointed out, until construction work on a new building can be started.

George Morris, of the East Donegal Twp. board, reported that a committee, of which he was a member, visited several new school buildings in York Co. which were similar in many respects to the proposed new Donegal High School. He pointed out that the committee was satisfied that the proposed school plant would be adequate and satisfactory for the jointure.

Another meeting will be held on Thursday night, March 20, at Mount Joy, when fiscal discussions will be continued.

Broske a former pastor will offer Prayer, and the local choir will render two anthems. There will also be a solo "Bless This House" by Mrs. Kathryn Mumper. The public is invited.

A Greater Lancaster?

We feel that you, as a citizen of Lancaster County, will be interested in anything which will make our County a better and more prosperous place in which to live.

Have you ever stopped to think, "Where do I spend my food money? Does it stay in Lancaster County and benefit my community, or does it go directly and immediately out of Lancaster?"

Your neighborhood Food Stores are owned by a group of Independent Retail Grocers in Lancaster City and County. Their method of operation, embodying the responsibilities and economies of ownership-management (the very foundation of American independence), permits them to offer consistently better value than any other merchandising factor in the food field. They live here, spend their money here, pay taxes here, and they deserve your food business.

It is discouraging to any independent grocer to see the car of some professional or business man stop at a store owned by outside interests for their groceries, when perhaps a few hours before, that same grocer spent his money with that same professional or business man.

Starting today we invite you to patronize your own Lancaster County Grocers. Talk it over with your wife and tell her the same thing.

If you are now a customer of an Independent Grocer, we want to thank you for your patronage and hope that we may continue to serve you better each day.
