A sister, Judith, three was treated for abrasions and another sister, Sandra Lee, five, was examined, but no injuries could be found. The fourth child, Warren Treichler, fifteen months escaped apparent injury.

Wainscots of Leatherwood
WAINSCOTS in a hall, nursery, den or recreation room that can "take a beating" and still look well, year after year, have the desirable traits of good taste and economy.

Among the hardwoods, which are particularly suited for wainscots because of their wearing qualities, Masonite Leatherwood is a novel material combination.

ing rich appearance and durability. Its embossed surface has the appearance of Spanish-grain leather.

Leatherwood, dark brown in its natural color, may be painted any shade of in any pleasing tone-on-tone combination. Only one-eighth of an inch thick, the panels are four feet wide and up to 12 feet long. They may be nailed directly over old plaster walls or made secure with wallboard adhesive.

Wherever the lower walls in the home are subject to scraping and scuffing, a durable wainscot is very much in order. It ends such nuisances as cracks or holes in the plaster, torn wallpaper or smudged paint.

WHAT ABOUT THE DOWN COW?

Q: What causes cows to go down?

A: There are several causes; among them are leukemia, acetone, milk fever, "hardware disease", and nutritional deficiencies. Or the trouble may stem from fractured bones, nerve injuries and various poisons from infections and food sources.

Q: Are these diseases very deadly?

A: Most of them can prove fatal.

Q: What should the owner do if a cow goes down?

A: His first step should be to call a veterinarian, so the trouble can be diagnosed and corrective treatment started. While waiting for professional help it's a good idea to cover the cow with warm, heavy blankets, because in most of these cases the cow's temperature usually drops. This is especially true of milk fever. Keeping her warm helps her chance for recovery. Do not try to move the cow as it may lead to further injury and complications.

Q: Is there any advance warning that a cow is about to go down?

A: In milk fever, the cow often looks dull and doesn't like to move around. In leukemia, there may be a swelling of the lymph glands in the neck, general weakness, loss of appetite and a wasting away.

Q: How successful is treatment?

A: It depends on the individual case and how quickly treatment is started. Modern techniques are now saving many down cows which would have been considered hopeless cases a few years ago.

WHAT ABOUT CALF PARASITES?

Q: Are parasites a very serious problem in young calves?

A: Yes. They are considerably more of a problem in calves than in older animals.

Q: Which internal parasites cause the most trouble?

A: Nodular or stomach worms, coccidia, threadworm, lungworms, and hookworms.

Q: How can owners tell if calves have such parasites?

A: The calves look unthrifty in spite of good rations. Scouring, anorexia and loss of weight are other symptoms.

Q: What can farmers do to protect young stock against internal parasites?

A: The main steps are: Drain or fence off low wet areas, where parasites are commonly found. Provide clean, fresh drinking water. Avoid overstocking pastures. Practice pasture rotation to break the life cycle of parasites. Keep young animals away from older stock and contaminated pastures. Follow sanitation and good feeding practices.

Q: Is there any medical treatment?

A: Yes, but it depends on the type of infestation and the condition of the affected animals. A veterinarian can best advise what to do.

Q: What external parasites affect young calves?

A: Insects such as mites, ticks, flies, lice and fleas all give trouble. They can best be controlled by cleaning up and treating infested premises, and by using proper insecticides on the animals.
