A THEORY IS PROVEN

According to a recent AP dispatch a group of road engineers has offered solid proof that big truck loads break up our roads at a terrific rate.

They found that twice as much load does several times more than twice as much damage. Actual tests, conducted on a stretch of Maryland highway, showed that a 22,400-pound axle load cracked the cement slabs 6.4 times more than at 18,600-pound axle load. And on trucks with two sets of rear wheels and axles, says the AP summary, 44,800-pound loads caused 12.3 times as much cracking as 32,000-pound loads. During the tests, trucks made 476,000 trips over the lanes—night and day, in all kinds of weather, for six months. Highway departments of 11 states financed the work.

The ordinary motorist is not an engineer, and has no way of judging just how much damage today's huge boxcars-on-highways cause. But he can see the destruction with his own eyes. Throughout the nation, splendid highways, built and maintained at a tremendous cost to all the taxpayers, are going to pieces faster than we can find the money and facilities to repair and replace them. In some states, needed new highway construction has had to be deferred—because the cost of patching up existing highways mangled by the big trucks has taken all the road money available.

Governors, highway commissioners and others have become vitally concerned with this problem. Some truck operators have argued that weight isn't the big thing—that such factors as weather are far more important. That was true up to a point, but certain types of present-day commercial trucks have gone far beyond that point. The Maryland evidence is the clincher. If we are to save our tax-built, tax-maintained highways action must be taken swiftly to reduce the incredible destruction the big trucks are causing.

No one knows who the next President will be. But whatever his name and party label, he is in for a rugged time.

The new President will face a multitude of obstacles. The job offers many unique assets and prerogatives. The Chief Executive lives in one of the most magnificent homes on earth. Legions of assistants and servants are at his beck and call. He is treated with the utmost deference by everyone. Hardly a wish goes unfulfilled. He is paid a large salary and receives a $50,000-a-year tax-free expense fund in addition.

But all these material benefits lose much of their lustre in the light of the enormous problems with which the President must deal—and of the fateful decisions he, and he alone, must make.

DEBT. Soon the national debt will touch $275,000,000,000 legal ceiling. The President will have to choose between asking Congress to raise that ceiling or cut the spending. Either way, he will make political enemies.

WAR. It seems certain that the Korean War will still be going when he takes office, even though it may be relatively passive. This is a statement, totally unpopular war. What will he advocate to end it?

BUSINESS. Many economists think that the boom is running down. Next year, it is forecast, there will be a substantial decline in industrial expansion. There will probably be a drop in profits—and that will bring a drop in tax collections, making the budget problem still more difficult. The ranks of the unemployed will be swelled. All

HAPPENINGS — of — LONG AGO

20 Years Ago

June 8, 1932

this may happen very soon after the next President moves into the White House.

AGRICULTURE. Some farm commodities are in a surplus state now. Other surpluses are anticipated. So, the next President is to be caught between the pressure of city people interested in cheaper food and a farm population insisting that government support farm prices against substantial decline.

BUREAUCRACY. The President is the titular boss of 6,200,000 people—2,500,000 civilians and 3,700,000 military. This huge payroll is one of the primary causes of our outside Federal budgets. And here again the next President must make a difficult decision. If he does not cut the payroll and the functions of the government bureaucracy, his financial troubles will grow. If he does cut the payroll, some people will be out of jobs, raising political fuss, and if he cuts functions some group or region will lose a good thing and also will raise a political fuss.

These aren't all of the problems the beleaguered next President will face—not by a long shot. And great problems we can't even anticipate today may also be his. But they serve to indicate the enormous and unavoidable burdens that are part and parcels of what is accurately described as the 'biggest job in the world.'

CHRYSLER ENGINEERING EXHIBIT REVEALS MODERN CAR ACHIEVEMENTS

A living behind-the-scenes story of the fascinating engineering developments of the modern automobile will be presented by the Chrysler Corporation June 14 through June 28 at John Wanamaker, Philadelphia.

The announcement of the show was made by James C. Zeder, Vice president and director of engineering and research.

More than 4,000,000 persons have inspected Chrysler Corporation's "New Worlds in Engineering" show in New York, Boston, Pittsburgh, Dallas, Salt Lake City, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Chicago, Kansas City, Detroit, Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati in the year that the exhibition has toured the country. During that time it has been visited by numerous engineering, technical school and college and university groups, in addition to the motorists who want to know what makes their cars tick.

In addition to more than 70 moving models and demonstrations the show will demonstrate what has made Chrysler Corporation vehicles safer, more dependable and more comfortable, Mr. Zeder said.

Highlight of the "New Worlds in Engineering" show will be Maxine Regan, a member of the Chrysler Styling Studio who will present a glimpse into the styling of cars as she sketches models of the future. Close to her will be a study of fabrics and possible chrome substitutes which must be considered for a future car.

As a special feature the Chrysler Corporation will present the latest in experimental cars, the C-200.
