

Weekly Letter By Penna. State Game Commission

TURKEY - PREDATORY STORY
H. W. Rosenberry, a Game Commission food and cover worker in charge of a Southeastern Division turkey area, made these cryptic notes in his last month's report of activities:

June 13—Killed 2 raccoons that had destroyed 5 wild turkey nests.
June 16—Removed one opossum and one blacksnake. The snake had 3 turkey eggs in it.
June 20—Checked turkey area. Found 2 hens, one with nine chicks, one with five.
June 21—Removed two raccoons. Found one hen with 15 chicks.
June 23—Discovered 4 hens with 44 young turkeys. Four nests holding 74 eggs yet to be hatched.

STATES' FOOD AND COVER PROGRAM EXTENSIVE

Exemplary of what is being done in the other 5 divisions of the state, the following is part of a report on food and cover development issued by the Pa. Game Commission's 13-county Southeast Division. The report is on wildlife management work done in the division during the fiscal year ending May 31, 1952. In this area alone in the last year, the Game Commission purchased 278 plots of grain, clover or alfalfa, a total of 164½ acres. These plots were located on Farm-Game Projects, game propagation areas or privately-owned land. The food or cover was not harvested; it was left standing for use by wildlife.

The report states that during the same period an even larger food and cover program was completed on State Game lands. There, 85 acres were planted to grain, 75 acres to clover and 501 acres were limed, fertilized or mowed by Commission employees to improve wildlife conditions. An additional 208 acres were planted to corn under share-cropping agreements. Within the Southeast Division, 754,650 trees and shrubs were planted to furnish food and cover for birds and animals.

The extensive food and cover program conducted by Game Commission employees is paid for by the ear-marked $1.25 set aside from each hunter's license for this purpose.

ONE SNAKE SWALLOWS ODOROUS ANIMAL—ANOTHER GETS MINK COAT

The following comes from Game Protector Clarence F. Walker, Beavertown, Snyder County:

"You may recall that about a year ago I reported a copperhead snake that apparently had no fear of halitosis. Deputy Lee Lash killed such a snake and found, upon opening it, that it had swallowed a baby skunk.
"Here is a parallel: On June 28, Charles Young and Glace Ewings killed a rattle snake that was 32 inches long on Jack Mountain. This reptile had swallowed a 10 to 12 inch mink.

COMMISSION PRESIDENT DIES JULY 20

Robert Lamberton, Franklin, President of the Pennsylvania Game Commission since January of this year, died at the age of 66 on July 20 following a brief illness. The deceased was appointed to the Commission in March, 1935. He was vice-president of the game body since January, 1942.

Lamberton was active in sportsman's organizations, was an ardent hunter and fisherman and was the owner and handler of outstanding grouse dogs, one of which became Grand National Champion.

The deceased commissioner was well versed in the outdoors and deeply interested in wildlife conversation.

LEFFLER REAPPOINTED

On July 17 it was announced by Governor Fine's office that Ross L. Leffler, Pittsburg, was reappointed as a member of the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

Recognized internationally as an outstanding conservationist, Leffler has been a member of the game body since 1927, during which time he served sixteen years as its president.

Earns $10,000 Can't Make Both Ends Meet

Time was when $10,000 a year was a lot of money. Only the relative few earned or had a reasonable hope of earning as much. Even nowadays, with record taxes and a four-bit dollar, it is far more than most families ever see, the average income being in the neighborhood of $3,000.

Yet there is a $10,000-a-year class of people in this country who simply can't make both ends meet, economize as they will. That, at least, is the theme of a fascinating article in the July issue of Harper's magazine, called "Going Broke on $10,000 a Year," which is signing with the pseudonym Jay Taylor. This class consists of junior business executives who must put up a front, appear to live very well, have good addresses, entertain as a part of their jobs, and donate generously to charities and other worthy causes. Mr. Taylor writes early in his article: "I'm a symbol—and a simpleton. I'm a symbol of the group from which business leaders used to be drawn, a group, now being liquidated."

Mr. Taylor goes into meticulous detail as to his finances, and it's quite a story. Last year he wrote, he earned $10,400 and spent $10,456. And here, in the capsule form, is what happened to his money. To get the full flavor of the account, of course, the whole article should be read.

First of all he actually got not $10,400 but $8,978, taxes having accounted for the difference. His first outgo was for rent—$1,656. This, he says, is about as little as he could pay without moving to so cheap a neighborhood that he would lose cast with his associates and endanger future promotions.

Several hundred dollars went out for unavoidable household expenses such as utilities, and his wife got $2,049, or some $40 a week, to buy the food and other supplies needed by a family of four. Furniture swallowed $274, and insurance $471. Mr. Taylor has no car and says he can't possibly afford one, but commutation tickets cost him $180 and are scheduled to go up in price.

Doctors and dentists accounted for $264, and the children's expenses, such as their clothes and school books and a summer camp, dug in to the tune of $241. He and his wife spent only $173 on clothing for themselves. Gifts and holiday expenses totaled around $500 all told, and there was a miscellaneous item of $364, which included such odds and ends as church contributions, wood, bushes and bulbs for the garden.

So it goes, in Mr. Taylor's summation—everything is accounted for down to the penny, save $133 for which he has no records. None of the items of expenditure seem at all high for a man in his position—many of them seem almost amazingly low.

Mr. Taylor's conclusion is typical of the tone of his article: "So I speak as one small symbol of a class. I look at the broken down occasional chair which should have been replaced a year ago. I postpone my trip to the dentist for another 6 months in hopes that the pediatrician's bill can be paid in the interval. And I realize that I belong to a new class of forgotten men in whom no labor leaders, politicians, farmers, corporation presidents, or commencement speakers take any vested interest—the $10,000-a-year man, Vanished Americans."

Field Days Fixed For Flower Trials

August 12 and 13 have been fixed as the flower field days at the Pennsylvania State College. It is at this period that the test flower gardens are at their best for the season, and it is usually on the field days that judges for the All-American Selections make their annual inspection trip to evaluate new entries in the trial gardens.

This year over 800 annuals were planted, in addition to the nearly 300 kinds of roses and other perennials.

Miss Joan Donovan Has Lead In Gretna Comedy

Miss Joan Donovan, talented young actress, has been cast in one of the leading roles in the hilarious comedy hit, "Over 21," opening Thursday night, August 7th at the Gretna Playhouse, Mt. Gretna.

Miss Donovan comes from a theatrical family, her father being a well known actor in Boston. They have played together on the stage, but Joan has branched out into radio and television with more than ordinary success. She was Ted Husling's girl Friday for sixteen weeks on NBC-TV and appeared in such programs as Lights Out, Martin Kane and Studio One.

Despite her success in this new medium, Joan still has kept busy on the stage, playing in some of the leading summer theatres in the East and has traveled coast to coast with the national companies of "Street Car Named Desire" and "Fair and Warmer." She has been accorded the unusual honor of being selected a member of Elia Kazan Actor's Studio in New York.

Miss Donovan has been given the role of Paula Wharton in "Over 21." This is the part in which Ruth Gordon appeared successfully on Broadway. The play is a zany comedy involving life near an air force base. When the wives start meddling with military procedure trouble arrives like a jet plane, furnishing plenty of hilarious situations and many laughs.

To Visit Local Playground
Landisville Playground will visit the local playground this Thursday. Two softball games will be played with the girls and boys participating. A return visit will be made to the Landisville Playground next week.

Another balloon breaking contest was held this past Monday. 26 bicycle riders participated. Each boy was given six baseballs and had to hit the balloons while riding his bike. R. Divet won the contest. Ronald Kear, R. Williams, S. Harnish and R. Buchenaur were in the finals.

A Softball throwing Contest will be held tomorrow. This will be an accuracy and distant throw. Boys and girls will participate.
A fashion show will be held next week, which is the final week of the park. A track meet will also be held next week. On Thursday the prizes will be given out.

PYMATUNING GETS BROOD DUCKS

On July 16, the Game Commission released 209 mature ducks in the large refuge on Pyramating reservoir, in Crawford County. These were brooder ducks, mallards and mallard and black duck crosses purchased from the game furd.

Earl S. Greenwood, chief of the Commission's game propagation division said, "This was as fine a bunch of ducks as I ever handled." He announced that these ducks were leg-banded and asked that persons bagging or finding them send the band information to the Game Commission's Harrisburg office.

HOT SPELLS UPS PRICES

Recent hot weather has raised prices as well as temperatures, according to OPS. Directly affected, said the agency, were prices of fresh vegetables, due to damage to crops caused by excessive dryness and heat.

Accidents often happen because a hunter has just shot at a deer or other game and seeing the bushes move he pulls the trigger before positively identifying his target. Always be certain that it is game you're shooting at—even when you're in the heat of the chase. One man's life is far more valuable than all the game that might get away.
