OWL LAFFS

BY A WISE OWL

Joe (The Barber) Detwiler, had a strange customer one day last week... A man with a very heavy beard, riding a mule drove up to his shop, tied his mule to one of the Parking meters and came into his shop to ask Joe if he would shave his beard off...

Officer Neiss is getting ready for the coming hunting season, he sent his gun away to have it cleaned and told them to repair the crack in the barrel... Boog got a reply a couple days later informing him they would clean the gun but the crack he thought was in the barrel was where the gun was put together.

One hot day last summer a little boy was walking along behind a very large woman, so closely in her footsteps as to be annoying. Finally she turned on him, demanding why and threatening to call the police.

Farmers have tried many tricks shooting dynamite, various kinds of traps, poisoned grain, all sorts of mechanical devices have been tried in an effort to frighten birds out of the cornfields.

Harold Newcomer used to spin a tale about his invention of a marvelous lifelike scarecrow. It was made of tin, he said, and not only waved its arms at irregular intervals, but emitted a loud yell every few minutes.

Two ghosts sat upon an overturned tombstone to talk shop. "By the way, pal, asked one, "do you believe in human beings?"

A young Marietta St. blonde gave her tall young hubby this bit of advice before he left for work: "The night before last you came home today. If you come home this afternoon tomorrow, I'll go to Mother!"

Nothing is funny when you're hungry or your feet hurt.

Next year they are going to make a car with a glass bottom so you can see whether or not you know the pedestrian you have just run over.

Johnny Dillinger asked Dick, "Daddy, can you tell me why telephone operators are always women?"

Dick replied, "Certainly son, it's because nobody but a bunch of women could keep so many conversations going in the same room at once."

A local gentleman went to Guy Spittler junk yard to buy a trash barrel and was charged $1.03 for it. "That three cents couldn't be sales tax, could it?" he asked. Guy shook his head. "The dollar is for taxes," he said glumly. "I get to keep the three cents."

A number of Main Street housewives got into a neighborhood row, and Officer Good arrived in time to prevent a free-for-all. Immediately the women began simultaneously, to tell Mike what had happened. Officer Good silenced them, and said sternly, "Now I'll hear from each one of you in turn, starting with the oldest."

Not a word broke the silence.

Mart Robinson, of Florin was telling the fellows the other morning, that when he worked for Garin Snyder, they put their tobacco in the silo... Or maybe he meant corn, anyway he said tobacco, and I didn't wait to hear the story.

Two Mount Joy St. men were discussing they quit drinking. 1st man: "I haven't touched a drop in over two months." 2nd man: "Neither have I pal, but don't you think we better knock on wood?" 1st man: "Absolutely. Let's go pound on a bar." No it wasn't Russ and his neighbor.

A sweet young thing (at her first baseball game)—"Oh, I like this: Let's stay and see that part over again where he makes the home-run."

B-R-R-R-R! It got cold with a vengeance Wednesday morning, just in case you did not get up in time to realize that fact. And for proof, Mrs. Evelyn Miller, of 224 East Main Street, reported that early Wednesday morning she was attracted by the din being set up in her backyard by starlings. Upon investigation she found that the bird-bath was completely frozen over.

Reduce Losses of Foals Some of the horses that are romping home ahead of the field today owe their victories—and their lives—to new scientific discoveries. According to veterinarians at the University of Kentucky, losses of unborn and new born foals due to infections have been reduced 20 percent in the bluegrass area of Kentucky within the past few years. Better means of diagnosing ailments of foals and improved disease-fighting drugs are cited as principal factors in the loss reduction.

Keter Torah What is the "Keter Torah?" A decorative crown which is placed on the top of the Scroll of the Torah in Jewish synagogues. It is usually embellished with little bells, which are referred to in the Bible as a decoration of priestly attire, Stars of David, and the Ten Commandments.

Editorially . . . Pennsylvania Week

It is only fitting and proper that we recognize and observe Pennsylvania Week next week. For too often do we take our countless advantages here for granted. All one has to do is compare Pennsylvania industries, Pennsylvania farmlands, and Pennsylvania scenery and one can realize why all of us should get out and shout the merits of our commonwealth.

The Community Chest Drive

Sure, all of us are sick and tired of appeals aimed at our pocketbooks. There are entirely too many calls, especially upon the business man of the small town. But once a year the Community Chest, the pivotal center of our whole way of living, comes to the public for its annual support. Community Chest, it is good to remind ourselves, includes a whole group of vital and worthwhile institutions aimed at making life more pleasant and suffering less and less.

Support to the Community Chest keeps these important services alive. More support will mean that more of the institutions, especially the hospitals will be back in the fold and, with this added support, the dream of one important drive a year will become an actuality.

Fire Prevention Week

A few more annual weeks and we won't have room in this editorial column for anything more. But, oddly enough, most of these annual observances are reminders of something we are too prone to forget. This is the week that the local firemen remind us that our careless habits, to a large extent, are the chief causes of fires which destroy hundreds of millions of dollars each and every week of the year.

The TV Blackout Sunday

Sunday night we were all set to gaze at Donald O'Connor, about the only comedian of any merit left on TV since they took off Mr. Peepers, when bingo, a strike of engineers, deprived the entire nation of this enjoyment.

Gotta Hurry These Days

Federal authorities are looking for a lazy counterfeiter. A 19 year old Chicago bellhop has been nabbed as a "passer" of some exceptionally "queer" five dollar bills. On examination, President Lincoln turns out to be General Washington... with a beard, and the numeral "5" used to be a "1". It should be remembered, however, that even the most skilled steel engraver would require a long time to turn out a set of plates from scratch. (Not a pun, just an adlai.) Before he finished, a fiver might be worth no more than a one!

Time For a Moratorium

A routine announcement from the Department of Agriculture may prove more devastating than the atom bomb. While ordinary 2,4-D chemical weed-killer injures tomato plants, the Department reports, modified forms are beneficial and "caused fruit to set", and tomatoes developed without pollination. That's all right for tomatoes. But science has gone just about far enough.
