County Briefs

LITITZ—Deer hunting controversy brings floods of letters as a result of R. C. Newcomer's open letter blaming poor hunting on unsportsmanlike hunters themselves. The letters, some expressing their sentiments rather vigorously, seem evenly divided, half supporting Newcomer.

LITITZ—Police are investigating the robbery at the Regenia's candy factory. Old coins and a glass cutter were found missing.

LITITZ—Contractors of sewerage disposal system removed 108,146.461.5 pounds of rock in past two years — but are estimated to have blasted away five times that amount.

E-TOWN — State Policemen recovered a stolen taxicab before the owner had reported it missing. The car was found down an embankment, near Rheems, Cab driver had parked it in front of the Kenewood Hotel and thought the owner, Wayne Shock, who was to take it out next, had the car when he couldn't locate it.

E-TOWN — Mr. Leon Myers, and son Paul, arrived from Thessaloniki, Greece for a short visit among friends and relatives. Mr. Myers is in charge of instruction at the Industrial Institute generally called the American Farm School.

NEW HOLLAND—Fire damaged the home of L. W. Hanna, R1, at Reidenbach, a room heater was the cause of the fire which damaged the walls and roof.

THE FARM QUESTION BOX

by BILL GIVENS

Radio Farm Director—KYW

From—Mr. L. J. G., West Grove, Pa.

Q.—How can I get rid of chickweed in my vegetable garden?

A.—Chickweed will have to be weeded by hand. After vegetables are gone, apply potassium cyanide to kill the weed.

From—Mrs. G. M., Parkersburg, Pa.

Q.—How can I control grasshoppers destroying my garden?

A.—A thorough spraying of DDT should control the pests.

From—Mr. W. S., Mt. Ephraim, N. J.

Q.—What should I do when the leaves of a red leaf maple curl up and fall?

A.—The drying up of leaves may be because of lack of water. Also the damage may have been done during grafting. I suggest you consult nurseryman where tree was purchased.

From—Mr. C. K., Philadelphia, Pa.

Q.—What causes a black mark on main stem of Swiss chard?

A.—Chard is apt to develop both bacterial and fungus rot at the crown, especially if land is rich with manure and plants are close and weather warm and humid. A partial remedy is to grow it on sandy, well drained soil; set plants a foot to 18 inches apart; use peat moss or sawdust to hold moisture and chemical fertilizer instead of manure. By using lots of nitrate of soda you can get early, fast growth. By picking young leaves off as fast as they are large enough to use, you can improve ventilation and reduce rot.
