MOUNT JOY, PA.

The Dutch Philosopher

(AS OVERHEARD BY JOHN BOYD)

Well Mrs. Espenshate. Come on in quick. It's a little chilly today for a chainch.

Yes and I am right glad that it is because that weather we had last week was too warm for Febbiary. It causes a lot of sickness they say and besides, the spring flowers and butts come out and then gets frozen.

And the robins too. A body would think in all these years they would know better than to fly up here too soon still.

Well, they always do things that way chust like some people that always must learn things the hard way for themselves. They won't listen to advice.

No—if people listened to advice there would not be so many people killed and maimed for life on the roads by these autos. They all think it is somebody else that is killed when they read the newspapers and that it won't happen to them.

Chorch says he thinks the trouble is that these here modern cars is chust too powerful and the roads is too smooth so that the drivers like to go fast so they can get their money's worth out of the high-priced power they bought.

Yes, and Chake says there is too many drivers that think road signs and white lines and traffic is chust put up to be such a nuisance to them. They won't realize that they are put up to protect them.

Ain't that the truth. I remember when Chorch used to belly-ache something awful when a light would go red for him. But now chust the other day when we was driving in to Lancaster and got to Duke and Liberty, he says, look, there's a new light and it was chust about time they put one up here, he says.

Some day we may get one here in Litzitz at Broad and Main.

Probably not 'til somebody is killed there and maybe not then. Chorch says the state highway department is more interested in keeping traffic going fast than in safety for people walking across the streets.

They would not admit it, but I think it is pretty near the truth.

Now I read in the paper that six million new cars will be on the roads by the end of this year. What will it be like in another ten years if this keeps up?

Don't ask me. They will build more of these here turnpikes no doubt. But what can we do about it?

Nothing, except to stay at home on Sundays and holidays and travel by the train when we want to go some place far off like Philadelphia. No matter how good they can build autos they still ain't no match for a train when they come together at a grade crossing.

No, that's for sure. Well, what's new that you know of?

Nothing at all except all this foreign stuff that a body can't hardly understand at all. And then all this tax business. What does Chake think about our income taxes being reduced?

He thinks that Eisenhower is right. We shouldn't reduce taxes until the butchet is balanced.

He says it is like not buying a tellyvision set until your new auto is paid for if you ain't got enough money to pay the installments on them both at the same time.

I see what he means. But then again it would be nice not to have to pay so much for the income tax.

Yes, that it would, but chust as Chake says, nobody and no government can go very long spending more than it takes in.

No, that's true. What does he think about this price control business?

He won't say except that he is going to wait and see what happens.

I guess that's what we all will do. Well, I must be going to the store and get some things before the prices chump. A body has to laugh still!

Yes well. Good bye. Good bye.

pastor Deck over the years. Rev. A. R. Kratzer, superintendent of the Home for the Aged at Myerstown, told of the work of Pastor Deck during his years of service at the Church Home. A similar work of commendation came from Rev. C. J. Yoder, the church publisher.

Official greetings from the local Ministerial Association were brought by Rev. E. H. Ranck, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church of this borough.

The local congregation was represented by the Sunday School Superintendent, Mr. Earl Kaylor. As Mr. Kaylor brought greetings he presented a history of Pastor Deck's achievements, and then handed him a gold wrapped gift box. This gift proved to be a surprise present from the congregation of fifty dollars, representing the fifty years of service. Several other gifts of money were opened in the social hall, but the gift of the congregation remained a secret until the moment of presentation.

In addition to the music furnished by Miss Mildred Way, "Jackie" Rohm, marimbists, and the choir; there was special music by Miss Ethel Barto, Mrs. Paul Hostetter, and Mrs. Walter Brandt. The officers of the church served as ushers, a number of the young women assisted in floral decoration, and many of the women served at the social hour in Hostetter's Dining Hall.

The Social Hour, following the service, was marked by a number of surprises. Delicious refreshments were served by members of the congregation and as donations from them. About two hundred guests were in attendance. The tables were decorated with floral arrangements, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Hostetter. A committee consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brandt, New Haven St., Mr. and Mrs. John Zeager, Manheim R4 and a number of sub-committees had arranged for many of the features at the church and the social hall. A feature surprise was the presentation of a beautiful RCA radio, the gift of the officers of the Mt. Joy congregation. Two fellow minister jokingly gave 50 pen-

Lowdown From Hickory Grove

I delve today into the law. This is not to be a poppin'-off on "happus cappus," to-wit, whereas, "corpus crisy" and hocus-pocus type of legal vernac that sound as if the great man using such, really was "there" and knew what he was talking about. The angle I am messin' with is, how can we afford so much law.

Now, to put a finger on the sore spots. The paper says that the "wise men of the west"—law enthusiasts—there in Sacramento, Calif., in 12 days of their legislative rodeo, dropped into the law hopper 5405 proposed laws—1000 the last day. Those sunny Cal. folks must be a rough and tough bunch if it takes more than 5000 new laws each 2 years to keep 'em in line and out of jail or in jail. Either that or they are letting their State Congress make monkeys of 'em. Any citizen of that Miss Lemon Juice land who could find time to read 5000 new measures, let alone paying any attention to same, he is a wizard.

How you gonna fix it, says Henry. Easy I says. Make just 2 laws. One law to repeal 100 books full of present laws, and one law that would slap into jail any political gent who would even propose one new concoction. Sounds simple, says Henry. Quite so, I says.

Yours with the low-down, nies, to mark the fifty years, and a large Bible concordance.

Many greetings, letters, telegrams, and gifts were received by pastor Deck during the past few days and the surprise gifts Sunday. His work at Mount Joy is deeply appreciated by the congregation and Pastor Deck expressed his present ministry as the climax of "fifty happy years." His many friends join in extending to him and to Mrs. Deck the best wishes of all and the hopes for happy years ahead.

It is better to select closely woven fabrics for slip covers because they give greater protection against dust, hold their shape better, wear longer and tailor more easily than do loosely woven materials.
