School Board Meeting Held

The regular monthly meeting of the East Donegal Township School Board was held Friday evening, March 13. Principal Bingham reported on the expected enrollments in September, 1953. Since more than 70 beginners have registered to date, an additional elementary teacher will have to be employed. Several elementary vacancies are also expected because of teacher resignations. Supply bids for the 1953-54 year were opened and referred to the supplies committee for tabulation and study. A communication from the Federal Security Agency indicated that East Donegal Township will receive reimbursement for 106 children under Public Law 374 which provides for financial assistance to school districts with Federally-connected children. If a 100 per cent allotment is approved, East Donegal should receive $7,600 for the above students.

The board approved the renewal of a landlord's liability policy issued by S. Nissley Gingrich. Approved also was the purchase of a power unit for the high school stokers to be used for emergencies. Bills for $1,312.83 were approved for payment. Accepts of $41,204.72 were reported. The 1953-54 school budget was also discussed and a detailed budget will be presented for board action at its April meeting.

Will Go To York

Barbara Martin, Yvonne Brubaker, Phyllis Wolgemuth and Robert Kline will attend the annual Student Council District Conference in York Friday, March 20 accompanied by their advisor, C. A. S. Hollinger.

FARM LIFE

In the past ten years, births on farms outnumbered deaths.

In the Shadow

Lesson for March 22, 1953

SUPPOSE Jesus had died five seconds after he was born? What difference would it have made to the Christian religion? One of the most ancient Christian creeds says that the Son of God "was made man." Some theologians have supposed that the Christian religion would be no different if all we knew was that for one single instant the Eternal became man; that if Jesus had died five seconds after he was born, he would still have meant to us all that he can ever mean.

This is surely a grotesque mistake. The New Testament declares that the "word became flesh," that is, was made man; but that is only the start of the story. The four Gospels are there to tell us that the Word became Jesus. It makes all the difference in the world what kind of man God-in-the-flesh is.

Last Days Of Hitler

Adolf Hitler was one of the false leaders of men, as Jesus is the true one. They had nothing in common except that when each passed into the shadow of death, he knew it for what it was.

One of the most gruesome books of non-fiction is "The Last Days of Hitler," by H. R. Trevor-Roper (Macmillan 1947). The author, a British Intelligence officer, was sent to find out, from evidence fresh on the spot, what actually happened to Hitler in those last days in Berlin. The story is a terrible one, and the more so for being true. In the days of his glory, Hitler had seemed to millions of people to be a great man. But when the shadows fell, and his "thousand-year empire" was being crushed to powder by the armies of the free, then in the darkness of his underground bunker the real Hitler came out—great only in madness and in evil.

Three monsters stalked his soul in those dark hours. One was indifference to others, even cruelty; nothing disturbed him so much as his own fate. Another was revenge; foaming at the mouth, he ranted about the terrible things he would do to all who were against him. Ugly mother of these other two was Fear. He spoke of glory, but his heart was not in it. His words and acts were proud and cruel, but his mind's eye must have seen already the red flames over his forsaken corpse.

How Was It With Jesus?

How different with Jesus! The light that was in him shone more than ever brightly when the shadows came. Jesus, far from being indifferent to others, was sympathetically aware of them. He appreciated, as others did not, the devotion of the woman who broke over him that flask of perfume. When the disciples fell asleep in Gethsemane, he was not harsh with them, for he knew how weak the flesh can be. Jesus was aware, too, of his friends' weaknesses and sins. He rebuked the quarrelsome disciples at the supper table. He foretold how they would all forsake him and flee. He knew how much fear there was beneath Peter's brave bragging. Yet he did not spend a single word condemning others, not even Judas.

The loving and the unloving, the loyal and the unfaithful, they were all on Jesus' heart in those dark hours. He lived for others then, no less than in earlier days.

Aware Of God

If ever a man had an excuse for bitterness and revenge, it was Jesus. But his lips and heart were free of both. Fear did not despoil him, because he kept on believing in the Father on high. The shadow of death did not conceal the face of God.

It would have been easier, you might think, to believe in God's coming Kingdom during the days of success in Galilee than in the Upper Room with death breathing over his shoulder. But even there he was as certain of God's Kingdom as if it had already come. Prayer had surely not always been the agony it was in Gethsemane; but he keeps praying even there.

That God is and will be the final Judge of all, is not easy to believe in a "Pilate's court-room"; but Jesus' faith never trembled. It is this Jesus, the Jesus of the lighted soul, whom Christians honor and serve as Saviour and Lord.
