Lowdown From Hickory Grove

While the crew is now down there in Spentdown-on-the-Potomac—and while it is off to a pretty good start—is the time to join in and come to the aid of your country like all good men should. With ceilings off coffee and controls off automobile building, and the theories of the cries of the Bureau Boys blowing in their faces, it is time to tell Mr. Ike and his crew that you think they are starting out pretty skookum. Chrysler is building more cars and selling 'em for less since control came off. Theories got a haymaker—but we need go further. Winning one round don't win the whole fracas.

The time to put in your oar is now if we are to get all the barnacles off the old boat-of-state. Also if we are to see to it that new barnacles do not take the places of the old, we need practice our penmanship via post cards to our congress. Coming to the aid of our country when aid is a duty, is now.

The well-fed crew numbering in the thousands and thousands are still there in Bureauville—they are doing us no good—they will hang on until pried loose. If you choose to show you are a citizen of the first water—and still think we can make something of a bad mess, opportunity is rattling your door knob. And to the sweet little woman I say this—if your big hero don't grab his pen and get busy, he is not the guy you been thinking. Yours with the low down, JO EERRA

The Dutch Philosopher

(AS OVERHEARD BY JOHN BOYD)

Well, come in, Mrs. Espen-shate and set down because it's too cold to get outside still. It wonders me if we are going to get any summer at all this year. We didn't have much of a Spring either.

Oh, we will get Summer all right, Mrs. Veiss and then we will all be complaining about the heat and all the crops drying up.

I guess not many people had a hard time figuring where to go on Decoration Day this year. One look out of the window on Saturday morning and I and Chake went back to bed again. Chake says anybody who went anywhere except to the kitchen and dining room was not quite right in his head.

Yes, but still an awful lot of people went places anyway. No doubt they figured on the old saying, rain before seven, clear before eleven. Chorch had planned to work around in the backyard but it was too wet. So we chust set around all day with such a log fire in the fireplace. I was going to call you and ask you and Chake to come over for supper chust to break the monotony if you hadn't anything better to do, but then I said, oh well, I guess you and Chake will have a better supper at home than what you would at our place. So Chorch and I went out for supper.

It is chust as well you didn't call me because I and Chake was out for supper too. About five o'clock he says, by this time everybody will be off of the roads so we won't get into no traffic chams and have an accident. I says I would be glad to take a chance because I didn't feel like making a hot supper. After supper we hot in a movie that was so tiresome that Chake slept through most of it. He snored real loud once and you should of heard the people around us laugh. One man says, that man—meaning Chake—has the right idea and I would sleep to only I chust drank two cups of coffee. It's funny how coffee will keep some people awake. Chorch can't drink it of a night but I can, and go right to sleep on it like it had sleeping pills in it.

Didn't he every try such a coffee that ain't got no caffeine in it?

Yes, he has tried it, but he didn't like it. He said it didn't have no kick to it. I says, well the kick as you call it is what keeps you awake. Anyway, he drinks tea of an evening—or maybe cocoa, if I go to the trouble of making it.

You know, it's funny. No matter what we start talking about we always wind up talking about something to eat. A body might think we was a couple of gormondizers as they are called when people eat too much.

Well, at our aitch, it's about the only real pleasure we got left. Eating and sleeping, that is. And when a body has to worry and slave getting three meals a day, there ain't even much pleasure in that. I have often heard it said that no cook enchays her own meals like she does when somebody else does the cooking.

Yes, I have heard that too, but it ain't true in my case. I enchoy my own cooking best. I guess I am what you would call an old fuss-button when it comes to cooking.

Well, you are such a natural born cook. It has often wondered me still why you never really worked at it. I mean in a hotel or restaurant where you'd get paid big money for doing it.

Now that I wouldn't do, because you would always have to be figuring how to make a profit on everything instead of how to make it good. I know of a woman who does that kind of work and she says nowadays it is such a headache. If she makes things good they cost so much that most of the customers go somewhere else, and if she doesn't make them good then they kick about the way they taste. And if she cuts down the portions, then they really make a fuss. Dia you ever stop to realize that there ain't hardly such a thing as a boarding house any more?

Well, now that you mention it, I don't believe I have heard of one this long time. I guess they would cost so much nobody could afford to eat in one.

Or else the food would be so bad you couldn't stand it more than a week or so. So—there chust ain't no boarding houses like there used to be.

Yes, times has chanced. I remember when all the hotels around here had big dining rooms and served meals by the week—and I guess made money at it.

Yes—and only charched maybe seven or eight dollars a week—with chicken and ice cream every Sunday besides. A body has to laugh!

Well, in them days butter was only about twenty-five cents a pound and eggs about twenty cents a dozen and meat and vegetables was cheap too. Do you remember when strawberries was ten cents a box and the man would dump them out so you could see that the bottom of the box wasn't half-full of rotten ones?

Yes, they was the days. But maybe we are better off the way things are today. We don't eat so much—and yet we live longer and don't get sick so much.

Well, that might be but even so, I would like to see chust a few of them old prices come back once. Then it would be fun to go to market with such a little boy along with an express wagon to help bring five dollars' worth of stuff home.

Yes, now a body can easy carry that much in such a little hand basket.

Well, like you and I always say, now I got to get over home and start supper. I'll be seeing you. Good bye.

Good bye.
