Service Machinery Before Rush Season
Servicing Will Prevent Expensive Breakdowns

The big season of work is here. If you haven't prepared your equipment for the long hard grind, you better hurry.

What about the tractor? If it has sat idle in the barn through the cold months, it needs attention. Service chores now are easier than later when you're in the midst of the rush season.

Give your tractor a spring lift with fresh oil, grease and gasoline. Stale gasoline literally gums up an engine; clean the carburetor carefully making sure there's no gum in jets and in the float chamber.

The oil probably had hours of use last fall, so change it. Examine the oil filter; if the element is dirty, play safe. Install a new one.

Next, check the ignition system and the spark plugs. You can tape a minor break but if the ignition cable insulation is brittle, don't take a chance put in a new set of cables.

Have the spark plugs cleaned and adjusted, even though they were new late last season. While they're scientifically designed to keep a fine adjustment through long hard use, plugs perform more efficiently if cleaned and checked every 100 hours—equal to 5,000 miles on your truck or car.

While on the subject of ignition, check the timing; your tractor service manual shows how. Improper timing is a power thief but easily remedied. Don't drag a plow or harrow around your acreage in second gear when a few minutes work will let you do it in third.

Clean the air filter now—and throughout the season. During the busy season dust it in kerosene, add fresh oil every ten hours or if fields are real dusty, every five. Remember, too, that a good operator puts a grease gun to pressure fittings every ten hours on wear-and-tear spots.

Keeping your tractor and other equipment in good operating condition is a matter of pure dollar economy.

Ways to Control Farm Pond Fish Loss Outlined

Wild life specialists warn farm owners they should be on the lookout for possible death of fish in their ponds during spring and summer and outlined methods to control this loss.

Only a few ponds show a partial kill of fish each year, and in practically all cases the cause can not be determined. In some instances, however, the loss of fish has been directly connected with a deficiency of phosphorous, a high concentration of carbon dioxide, and a lack of oxygen, specialists report.

Should a pond owner see a number of bluegills and bass swimming close to the surface of the water, he should distribute 50 to 100 pounds of 18 per cent superphosphate per acre over the pond in the early morning, specialists suggest.

Then, between three and four o'clock in the afternoon he should stir the water thoroughly by use of an outboard motor attached to a boat. Several motors on boats should be used if available.

Stirring the water with motors helps to distribute oxygen in the upper water level throughout the pond.

Step Storage

Here is an idea for storage of rubbers and galoshes. It can be used as a handy place for hat bats and catchers' mits, etc., that kids collect. Hinge a step in the stairway that's near the back or side door and use the space underneath. It will keep the entry neater and eliminate a great deal of picking up and extra work.
