

OWL LAFFS

BY A WISE OWL

Numerous times I've asked the Editor if he didn't think it would be a good idea to drop this corny column. Then some loyal reader writes us, patting us on the back and telling us to keep it going and so we do. Now just what's your opinion?

A Florin woman complained to her family doctor that her husband blows smoke rings all day long. The doc couldn't see what was especially wrong with that until the woman explained: "But my husband does not smoke." - - - Well, now, that's something else again.

I'm very embarrassed! My spouse called a TV repairman and when he asked her what was wrong with the set, she explained: "All the programs are lousy."

They tell me there's a new contest on the radio. They give you a bottle of Scotch and after you finish the bottle the contest starts. . . . You have to guess who you are!

"Clayde Nissley said "Women were made without sense of humor so they could love men instead of laughing at them" . . . And I thought my wife had a sense of humor.

Recently a thief who had been burglarizing many homes was apprehended and brought to court.

"Don't you know that crime does not pay?" asked the judge. "I know," replied the thief, "but the hours are good."

Doggone - somebody told me a good one on George Reigle, but I can't remember what it was - - Watch for it next week.

We know you'd get a terrific bang out of knowing the identity of this inebriate, but we don't want his wife to know (nor his mother-in-law) so we'll tell it this way. . . . A drunk, sprawled over a table, began to show signs of life, so one of the customers (you know him, too) smeared a little Limburger cheese on his upper lip. The drunk arose slowly and walked out the door. In a few moments he came back in. Then he went out again, only to return in a few minutes.

Shaking his head with disgust he said, "It's no use. The whole world stinks!"

The modern housewife may be fresh out of cream for the coffee in the refrigerator but its eight to five she has 16 varieties of face cream on her dressing table top.

On the way to Philly yesterday morning the train came to a sudden grinding stop. "What has happened, Conductor?" asked a nervous old lady, sitting next to me.

"Nothing much, we just ran over a cow."

"Was it on the track?"

"No," replied the disgruntled conductor. "We chased it into the barn."

Here's one young Dewey Hor-nafius sent us:

I had a girl,
Her name was Nellie.
She fell in the ocean
Up to her knees.

(He said it doesn't rhyme because it wasn't deep enough where she fell in.)

It's an established fact that the husband is the legal head of the house and the pedestrian has the right of way and everything goes along just fine until they try to prove it.

Philosopher Enck says: "Just keep in mind that - a bird in the hand is useless when you want to blow your nose."
