

OWL LAFFS

BY A WISE OWL

What a beautiful sight were those Rams and their coaches in the impromptu parade Saturday afternoon. Defeated or not, they're still champs in my book.

Here's an ode to fertility that I think was written for me. Each fall I rake the fallen leaves.

Each spring I prune and cut; Each year the trees start in again— I guess we're in a rut.

A Florin lady, who had passed her drivers test was looking over her new car when a neighbor asked: "What do you think of the wider windows that you have in your new car?" The lady answered: "Wonderful! Now it's easy for me to see which garage door I'm hitting."

Did you know it was Robinson Crusoe who started the five day week? He had all his work done by Friday.

Here's a household hint someone sent us that we can't afford to ignore — A living room can be given a radically different appearance by lengthening it, painting it a different color, and filling it with new drapes, lamps, rugs and furniture. . . . I wonder how he thought of that!

Two recruits were standing by the roadside seeking a "lift" to town when a truck passed and one saluted.

"Why did you salute that truck driver," the one asked. Second recruit explained: "That's no truck driver. See the sign on the side—that's General Hauling."

"How dare you swear before me!" scolded a N. Market street matron as her husband rubbed his leg whereon the trunk had fallen as they housecleaned.

He bellowed: "How could I know that you wanted to swear first?"

Overheard among the Mt. Joy rooters at Friday's game — "I have a cold." "Is it positive or negative?" "What do you mean, positive or negative?" "I mean, do the eyes have it or the nose?"

Other folks are stubborn: we're merely firm.

An examiner in Washington asked a local man, who was applying for a government position, this question:

"Why do you think you are fitted for a diplomatic career?" The man explained: "Well, I have been married for six years and my wife still thinks I have a sick friend." — He got the job!

Here's a gem that came out of our grade school —

Little Johnny was asked to describe a bolt and nut and turned in this gem:

"A bolt and nut is a thing like a stick of hard metal such as iron with a square bunch on one end and a lot of scratching wound around the other end. A nut is just like a bolt only opposite, being a hole in a little square bunch of iron sawed off short, with wrinkles around inside the hole."

Having been married 20 years, a couple decided to celebrate by taking a little trip. While talking over their plans one evening, the husband now and then glanced into the next room where a little old lady sat knitting.

"The only thing is," he said in a hushed voice, "is that for once I'd like to be by ourselves. I'd like to take this trip without your mother." "My mother!" she exclaimed. "I thought she was your mother!"

WE LIKE LETTERS

We appreciate receiving letters to the editor for publication but there are two things that must be remembered. The first is that they must be in the office by Wednesday. The second is that the person writing the letter must sign his name. The name does not have to be used in the publication but we must have the name on the copy for our files.

Letters To The Editor

In our world of today with its pessimism and cynicism, seldom are we privileged to see such a spontaneous outpouring of community spirit and cooperation as was seen here in connection with the play off games of our High School Basketball team. It renews our faith in people and reminds us again just how wonderful folks can be.

All along the way it was demonstrated time and time again. We think of our busy business man—the time they took to follow the games and make it possible for others to attend, too. We think of a perfect stranger from Beaver Falls, who wrote a letter to us with directions of the best route to New Wilmington.—of the letter from the coach from the Newton Ransom area, who scouted the West Middlesex - Southmont game with information that might be of help to the boys.—of the heartening words and good wishes of the toll takers on the Super Highway when they said "Sure hope you win." We think of the tears in the eyes of many of the people who gathered to welcome the boys home on Saturday afternoon as an expression of their love and devotion to a group of boys who had done a good job in bringing honor to their school and community. And last, but not least, we think of everyone everywhere who gave their audible support in going to the games when possible and loyal thoughts when they weren't able to attend.

We know now that winning or losing a state championship became insignificant when compared with this spirit of unity and cooperation as shown by our people. And we stop and ask ourselves this question, "Is there anything our community can't do if we unite in a common cause?"

The Mount Joy Old Timers salute the following.
The Mount Joy High School Rams Basketball team, Coaches, and the Managers for the impressive record that they have established that must be the envy of some of the other coaches and players on other high school teams.
To Dick and Clyde Gerberich Jr., for the splendid job they did in soliciting funds from the business houses and others to help defray expenses of the high school students to the championship game.
To Jack Toppin who organized the home coming reception for the Rams and others who assisted in any way in making it the success that it was, with so little time to do it.
To all the fans and townspeople who backed the Rams to the end we say a job well done and Mt. Joy can be justly proud of the record it established.

To all the Sport Writers, The Bulletin, Lanc. New Era, Intelligencer, Lanc. Advertiser, The Harrisburg Papers as well as others in the State we say thanks.
To the fans of Lancaster Co. we say also as all corners of the County were represented, thank you.
From the time that we can remember, Mt. Joy always put across any project that it promoted and the citizens pitched in and helped whoever was in charge.

Some people who didn't know where Mt. Joy was before, we are sure they do now, and the Town derived a lot of publicity through the Rams.

The Old Timers will climax the affair when they entertain the Rams April 30 at their fifth annual banquet. Invitations have been mailed out, if you are not a member you can go but must have a reservation not later than April 25.

The Banquet committee will solicit the town for patrons on the Program in the next week. The following will contact you, Charles Pennell, Richard Divet, Henry Klugh, Sr., John Wealand, Harold Zimmerman, Jr., Harold Zimmerman, Sr., Arthur Schneider, Charles L. Eshleman, Christ Walters, Charles Fish, John Day, Charles Hershey and Benj. F. Groff.

As the acceptance of the out-of-town old timers are received we will publish the names as well as the guests.

The program is being completed and will be published. Mr. Roy Packer and Benj. F. Groff on the way to Wilkes Barre game called on the Rev. Elmer Keiser of Bloomsburg, formerly of town, and invited him to the banquet, he accepted and will be one of the speakers, you all remember the Rev. at some of our previous dinners, enough said.

DETERGENTS ARE SOAP AND SYNDET

Detergents include both soap and synthetics, popularly called "syndets."

Although some homemakers consider the term "detergent" as only the syndets, all cleaning agents are detergents, says Doris Conklin, home management specialist at the Pennsylvania State University. Many newcomers on the market are the synthetic detergents or syndets.

Detergents are divided into 2 types. Mild, unacid detergents are good for washing silk, wool, nylon, nylon, and other chemical fibers. Built detergents have alkali added to cope with heavy soiled laundry.
