Art Class Will Organize June 15

Again this year, an art class will be held this summer for beginners and those who wish to add training to their present meeting will be held Tuesday evening, June 15, 8:00 p.m. at the home of Lineaus W. Longenecker, Birchland Avenue. Mr. Longenecker will be the instructor.

The course will be an eight-week affair with two-hour sessions, one evening per week. The course will include charcoal drawings, the mixing and applying of oil paints, still life painting and landscape painting in the outdoors and the technique of perspective.

The class is open to all who wish to explore their talents. Applications have already been received. In the event that the group is too large, it will be divided into two separate groups which will meet on different evenings.

After the course has been completed there will be an art exhibit to which all students and their friends and relatives will be invited. Prizes will be given to the three best entries. Students are not requested to bring any equipment but are encouraged to bring any piece of work that they have done to help make it an art exhibition. The first meeting will include a 20-minute painting demonstration by the instructor. Also the decision will be made by the class as to which evenings are suitable for meetings.
