Popular Summer Refresher Course

Chilled beverages are consumed by the gallons during the hot summer weather, and it's a good idea to give youngsters nourishing drinks such as Pinecot Shake. This is made with nonfat dry milk which is a rich source of protein, calcium, riboflavin and lactose. It's so easy to liquefy nonfat dry milk. Simply sprinkle on top of water and then beat or shake until the powder dissolves. Nonfat dry milk is an extremely economical product for a one-pound foil-lined package, available at the grocer's, will make five quarts of dairy sweet nonfat milk for as little as eight cents a quart. It also comes in a handy pre-measured package containing three foil-lined envelopes, each of which makes one quart of nonfat milk. A versatile product, too, nonfat dry milk has many uses—in cooking, baking, with cereals—as well as for drinking. And speaking of drinking, try this beverage.

Pinecot Shake

(Makes six, 8-oz. servings)

- 1 cup apricot nectar
- 1 cup pineapple juice
- 1 quart liquefied Starlac nonfat dry milk*, chilled

Combine apricot and pineapple juices. Add liquefied Starlac nonfat dry milk; shake well. Chill. Pour into glasses. If desired, top each serving with whipped nonfat dry milk topping prepared by placing 1/2 cup water and 1 tablespoon lemon juice in 1-quart bowl. Sprinkle 1/2 cup Starlac nonfat dry milk powder over surface of water; beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until stiff enough to form peaks, about 8 to 10 minutes. Sprinkle 2 tablespoons sugar on surface. Beat until sugar is blended and mixture is stiff. Garnish each serving with sprig of fresh mint, if desired.

*To make liquefied Starlac nonfat dry milk, follow directions on the package.
