Berry Corll says lots of men who say they're not interested in marriage have wives sitting at home to prove it.

Maybe they call it take-home pay because there's no other place you can afford to go with it.

"Why did you give up that beautiful apartment you had?" I asked a young couple from Salunga.

"On account of my landlady—she was too curious," the hubby replied.

"In what way?" I asked. "She was always wanting to know when I was going to pay my rent," he explained.

Sammy Dock Jr., says "Science is really resourceful; it couldn't open the pullman windows so it air-conditioned the train.

An advertisement states that "it took 12,000 workers to put that bottle of milk at your door."

Yes, and it sure sounds like it.

At a recent divorce hearing, the judge asked: "You were married to this woman for ten years and you left her without a word. Why?"

The man replied: "I didn't want to interrupt her."

After listening to various commentators all day, you realize that no matter what happens—you've been warned.

I asked the boss for a raise last week. The boss got his pencil and paper and began to figure. "There is 365 days in the year. You work 8 hours a day (that's a third of the 24-hours) so that makes 122 days you work. There is 52 Sundays which leaves 70 days. There is 14 legal holidays and 2 other holidays which leave 54 days. You get one hour for lunch every day which makes 40 days. That leaves 14 days. Then I give you two weeks vacation every year. So when in thunder do you work?"

Last Sunday we were up at Hammersly Forks, when one of our crowd (a lady) came back to camp and exclaimed: "I had a lovely walk in the woods. Saw a snake but that didn't worry me, I knew it was only a baby."

We asked: "How did you do it? It was only a baby snake?" She explained: "It had a rattle."

If you see Len Saiko walking around sporting wings, it's because he shot an "eagle," on the golf course Sunday morning.

A certain Main Street gent says the best way he has found to silence women who talk about their nervous ailments, is to tell them it is caused by advancing age.

EDITORIAL:

NOW IS THE TIME

Now is the time for plans to really be made as to what should be done with the grade school plot. Since the contract for the demolition of the building has been awarded, the work will begin in the very near future.

Throughout the past year, citizens of the borough were asked to either give suggestions to the Mount Joy Borough School Board or write letters of recommendations to the Bulletin to be printed in the weekly newspaper.

Several suggestions have been offered to date. Since the school board announced that the land would be given to the borough if it was desired, persons made suggestions along this line. They included a swimming pool, playground, community building, Boy-Girl Scout building or spot with lawn, benches and band shell where festivals could be held.

Another suggestion offered to the board that if none of these suggestions would work out, the board should divide the land into building lots and sell the land to individuals.

One new suggestion was offered during the past week which could take some consideration. The individual suggested that since he did not think that the plot was the most desirable spot for a swimming pool and since we do have a playground and will receive another to the rear of the new grade school, the plot could be turned into an outdoor roller skating rink.

In other words, his suggestion was to build an oblong, probably macadam, rink in the center of the land. This could be surrounded by lawn and benches. The rink could substitute as a place to hold festivals and could be encircled with lawn.

If there is anyone who would like to comment on the suggestions ideas, they will be appreciated.

Industrial Show Plans Near Completion

With the staging of the First Annual Pennsylvania Industrial and Construction Exposition here next September, this city's huge Farm Show Building will be put to another use and given another opportunity to show its adaptability.

The Exposition, sponsored as a public service by the Keystone Building Contractors Association, in cooperation with the State Department of Commerce, will be held in Harrisburg September 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, and 25. More than 300,000 persons are expected to attend the Exposition, according to George M. Schmelzter, the Exposition's Executive Director.

Schmelzter said the purpose of the Exposition is to "focus the industrial eyes of the nation on Pennsylvania industry and to give a shot in the arm to the state's vast industrial potential."

In opening its doors to the Exposition, the Farm Show Building will be demonstrating again that it can be adapted to any purpose even though it was built to improve and spur Pennsylvania agriculture, Schmelzter said.

He pointed out that the Exposition is "just one more in a long line" of agricultural and non-agricultural organizations using the building each year for large-scale events.

Each January, the Farm Show attracts more than 500,000 visitors. Each March, a mammoth Builders Show and a Dog Show are held in the main exposition building. The Shrine Circus takes over every April, and annually, in May, Pennsylvania Funeral Directors conduct their convention and exhibit. Whenever Barnum & Bailey and Ringling Brothers Circus plays Harrisburg, it moves into the Farm Show Building.

The Northeastern Poultry Producers' Council holds its annual exposition and convention in the building in October, and in November The National Pennsylvania Horse Show is an outstanding attraction and is followed by the Annual Standardbred Horse Sale.

Sales of cattle, sheep and swine are held in the building every year, and various large industrial firms have put on special displays. From time-to-time, statewide conventions are conducted.

The main building, covering approximately 11 acres under one roof, was dedicated January 19, 1931. It was built at an approximate cost of $1,440,000. Its small arena seats 1,500. The large arena, dedicated in January, 1939, has 7,639 seats and can hold 10,000 with standing room. It cost approximately $1,250,000 to build.

The buildings are spread over 570,000 square feet. The overall cost of the land, buildings and equipment has been estimated at $4,750,000.

Approximately 14,000 cars can be parked at one time on state-owned hard-surfaced parking areas adjacent to the Farm Show Building. A cafeteria capable of serving 15,000 meals daily and 15 lunch bars are located in the building.

Community Chest Sets 1954 Goal

William H. Beadle, Chairman of the 30th United Red Feather Campaign of the Lancaster County Community Chest, announced this week that the goal for the drive to be conducted from October 4th to 29th has been set at $537,640.

This represents an increase of $34,661 over the 1953 goal but only $21,279 more than actually was raised in last year's successful campaign.

$20,000 of the $34,651 increase will go to St. Joseph's Hospital and the rest will be shared by the 19 other Red Feather Agencies. Beadle said that it was necessary to increase the allocations to St. Joseph's Hospital because of the added expenses incurred with the improved facilities in the new Altee Memorial Wing.

For example, the hospital is experiencing increased expenses because it has had to add technical employees to the payroll to operate the modern equipment, such as the air conditioning system in the operating rooms and maternity section, and piping of oxygen to every room, Beadle commented.

In addition, by 1955 the year for which the money that is raised in the fall is budgeted, St. Joseph's will be offering 3 new services—a section for the care of chronically ill, a section for communicable diseases and another psychiatric care.

The rest of the increase in the goal represents the Community Chest's attempts to keep pace with the growing demand for the services it offers. These services are county wide and in 1953 fifty percent of the people using the Red Feather Services lived outside of the city.

C. Abram Snyder, president of the Community Chest, pointed out that he demand for service is growing simply because the county is growing so rapidly. From 1950 to 1953 the population grew from 234,717 to an estimated 242,849 or an increase of 8,132. More babies are being born; 6,093 in Lancaster County in 1953 as compared to only 5,469 in 1950. More people are living longer and new industries are bringing in additional people.

With a growing population, the Red Feather Services must expand to meet their needs. Many illustrations can be given, he continued. The numbers of the physically handicapped and those requiring the care of the Visiting Nurses all increase in population.

In the field of Boy Scouting, too, the membership increased by 20 percent last year. "We can't provide scouting for all the boys who want to do it", he commented.
