'January Thaw' Opens Today At Gretna Playhouse

City people trying to adjust themselves to rural living provide the background for "January Thaw," stage version of Bellamy Partridge's humorous novel, which will open Thursday at Gretna Playhouse.

Produced by Charles F. Coghlan and Gene P. Otto, the show will have Mason Curry and Kathleen Phelan in leading roles. Miss Phelan played in the opening production this season at the playhouse and has made frequent appearances during past summers. Curry and Miss Phelan will portray a New York couple who buy and modernize a Connecticut farmhouse. Their children will be enacted by Rachel Taylor, Mary Ruth Martin of Lancaster and Campbelltown youth, Glenn Yocum. Yocum has been seen in "Life With Father," "Goodbye Again," "On Borrowed Time" and "Big Hearted Heartbert" at Gretna Playhouse.

Harry Sheppard and Elaine Ivans will take the roles of the former owners of the farmhouse who insist they have a right to live there. Their son will be Robert Lansing. Leo Badia, who was seen this season in "My Three Angels," will play Uncle Walter, a gossipy Down Easterner. James Ray will play Miss Taylor's fiancé, Louise Schultz will portray the housemaid, Gene Galvin will be seen as a lawyer, and George Curley will take the part of a country policeman.

"January Thaw" will run through Sept. 1, excluding Sunday. Curtain time is 8:30 p. m.

PRE-SCHOOL HEARING TEST GIVES CHILD BEST CHANCE

No sound . . . "I think I hear something" . . . "I DO hear!" . . .

These three dramatic pictures should remind parents this is the time of year to have their children's hearing tested before school opens in September. There are about two million children in the U.S. who suffer undiscovered hearing impairments, according to the American Hearing Aid Association. The non-profit organization urges parents to have their children's hearing tested by an ear doctor or reputable hearing aid specialist at the slightest sign of a hearing loss. It reminds parents to be especially alert since children often try to conceal hearing impairments because they want to be like other kids.

Army Announces New Chief For Indiantown Gap

Fort Meade, Md. — Colonel J. Trimble Brown, commanding officer of Schuylkill Arsenal, Philadelphia, will be the next Chief of the Pennsylvania Military District, it was announced today by Lieut. General Floyd L. Parks, Commanding General of Second Army.

Colonel Brown, a native Philadelphian, assumed command of the district, with headquarters at Indiantown Gap Military Reservation yesterday. He succeeds Brigadier General T. L. Futch who is retiring Aug. 31 after 37 years of Army service.

As Chief of the Pennsylvania Military District, Col. Brown will be the representative of the Commanding General, Second Army, for military affairs in Pennsylvania and will be responsible for the coordination, administration and inspection of all Army Reserve activities within the state.

In announcing the appointment, General Parks stressed the importance of Pennsylvania to the military preparedness of the nation. "As the most populous state in the Second Army area, and the second most populous state in the nation, Pennsylvania naturally assumes a leading role in the preparedness of the Second Army and the entire country," the General said.

A veteran of World War II invasions in North Africa, Italy and Southern France, Colonel Brown has had considerable experience with the nation's Reserve forces having served as Senior Instructor for the Pennsylvania National Guard from 1948 until 1950.

Prior to assuming command of Schuylkill Arsenal in January of this year, Colonel Brown served as Intelligence Advisor, Chief of Staff, Deputy Commander, and Commander of the Safety Advisory Group in Japan. In addition to his duties as Commanding Officer of Schuylkill Arsenal, Col. Brown has acted as the senior Army Reserve Advisor in the Philadelphia area.

The Colonel holds the Silver Star, the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star, the Commendation Ribbon. His foreign decorations include the French Military Cross, the Italian Military Cross of Valor, and the Emperor of Japan's award of the Sacred Treasure.

10,486 Disabled Given Vocation Training In Year

Harrisburg — Rehabilitation services were provided for 10,486 physically handicapped Commonwealth residents during the past fiscal year, the State Bureau of Rehabilitation reported today.

The services are all part of the overall rehabilitation provided by the Commonwealth and include diagnosis, counseling and guidance, medical services, prosthetic appliances, training and miscellaneous special services, according to Mark M. Walter, Bureau Director.

During the 12-month period 3,011 disabled residents completed their rehabilitation program, or services, under the Bureau's sponsorship and their cases were closed as satisfactorily rehabilitated. Walter explained that a case is closed when a disabled person is placed in a job for which he was considered most capable of fulfilling.

Of the 10,486 persons who received services from the Bureau during the period, 5,924 are still undergoing rehabilitation. Included in the latter group were 1,955 receiving counseling preparatory to the formulation of a suitable rehabilitation plan; 818 received physical restoration such as medical or psychiatric treatment or the fitting of an artificial appliance; 1,188 job training; 56 receiving physical restoration and training simultaneously, 1,352 who just completed training and are ready for placement in employment. The remaining 555 were in various other stages of rehabilitation.

Follow-up services to insure adequate adjustment to the rehabilitation-job before the case is closed, were being provided for 318 persons. Because of individual differences the extent and type of physical restoration varies for virtually every person. If the individual cannot adjust himself to the first job, an effort is made to obtain another more compatible position. In this way, Walter explained, a handicapped person ultimately becomes engaged in a job which he can do well and prove an asset to his employer.

"It is because of this type of training, services and placement," Walter said, "that physically handicapped persons are gaining wide recognition in industry where they have established enviable records of achievement, loyalty and attendance."

All Pennsylvania citizens 16 years of age or over, who have a permanent disability which prevents them from engaging gainful employment, but who can be prepared for jobs, and those who have been injured and are unable to return to their old positions, are eligible for the Bureau's services.

There is no better way to boost your business than by local news paper advertising.
