Farm Calendar

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State University College of Agriculture.

Grow Berries - In planning the farm operations for 1955, why not consider growing raspberries? According to Carl Bittner, Penn State extension fruit specialist, there are good local markets for berries. Pennsylvania is third in the nation in total production and has over 300 cities of 10,000 people or more.

Short Courses Offered - Many short courses are offered by the College of Agriculture at the Pennsylvania State University. Dates for the general farming course are January 5 to February 2, 1955. This will be followed by two popular courses, dairy farming and livestock farming, both given February 2 to March 2 inclusive.

Freeze Cull Hens - Poultry producers who have storage facilities and a retail market find it profitable to butcher and freeze their Leghorn cull hens when prices are low and hold them for higher prices later, reports F. H. Leuschner, Penn State extension poultry specialist. Late winter and spring will be a good time to sell.

Egg Prices Change - The large numbers of early-hatched chicks had an effect on egg prices this fall. Kermit Birth, of Penn State extension agricultural economist, says average farm prices in September were below those of August.

Make Ice Cream - If you like homemade ice cream you can get the directions you need from the Pennsylvania State University Extension Circular 428, "Making Ice Cream at Home." Ask your county agricultural agent for a free copy.

Control Pests - A good garden clean-up this fall will prevent a lot of trouble with plant diseases and insects next year, remind Penn State extension plant pathologists and entomologists.

Everybody in this locality reads The Bulletin - that's why its advertisers get such excellent results.

SCIENCE and your Health
OUR USELESS SINUSES By Science Features

The body is called one of the most efficient machines but some of its parts could be done away with for they have no other function except to cause us trouble. The sinuses - cavities in bone or tissue - are the chief offenders.

There are eight sinuses, set in pairs in the cheekbone, the forehead under the eyebrows, under the bridge of the nose and in back of the nasal passages. Lined with mucous membrane, they all have drainage holes into the nose.

The trouble starts when the sinuses become irritated, infected and clogged-up from colds, smoke, dust and emotional strains. City folk working in poorly ventilated rooms suffer more than country dwellers.

Usually all the sinuses are affected and the slow sluggish discharge of mucus is blocked. The cavities fill up making a splendid breeding place for microbes and causing pressure that results in splitting headaches and a nasal and post-nasal discharge or "drip." The disease, called sinusitis, is recurring and antibiotics are used in the treatment. Dr. Pedro A. A. Cuya conducted a series of tests in Lima, Peru, where terramycin was effectively used to kill the microbes lodged in the cavities. Doctors also alleviated some of the symptoms by opening and flushing the plugged-up passages, allowing the natural flow of mucus.

SKID ON SLIPPERY PAVEMENT KILLS 2

Father and Son Lose Lives as Car Crashes into Pole in Storm Near County Line

James W. Doolittle and his son Jerry were killed yesterday afternoon in a tragic accident when the

DEADLY SKIDS ARE LESS LIKELY ON CONCRETE

The difference between a deadly skid and a safe, quick stop is often the pavement. You can stop faster, even in the rain, on concrete. That's because concrete's gritty surface provides uniformly high skid resistance, wet or dry.

Besides permitting better vehicle control, concrete makes night driving safer too! Its light-colored surface reflects up to four times more light than dark-colored pavements. You see farther and have more time to slow down or stop.

Concrete roads also are safer because they're free from hazardous ruts, washboard wrinkles and raveled edges.

It's worth remembering that when the weather is rough you're much safer on concrete, the skid-resistant safety pavement.
