

Are you buying a SAFE road?

Buying a road at a gas station? Sure! The taxes you pay on each gallon of gas (as well as your license fees) pay for building and maintaining your roads and streets.

Since this is your money, you have a right to the safest pavement for your investment. That's concrete. Here's why

Unlike dark pavements, which absorb light, concrete's light surface reflects light at night, allowing you to see much better. Remember, if you can't see, you can't be safe!

In emergencies you can stop faster on concrete. Its gritty surface grips your tires firmly, permitting quicker and safer stops without skidding, even though it may be raining.

Rigid concrete pavement retains its even surface throughout a lifetime of service. It stays free from hazardous ruts, washboard wrinkles and raveled edges.

When you buy gas, you also buy tomorrow's roads. Get the utmost for your money. Insist on concrete, the safety pavement.

Gold Chevrolet Celebrates G-M 50 Millionth Car

Commemorating the production of General Motors 50 millionth car, a gold 1955 Bel Air sport coupe is now being displayed in the showroom of Newcomer Motors, Inc., Mt. Joy.

Display of this replica of the epoch-making car highlights the local celebration of General Motors greatest milestone.

The 50 millionth car was produced in the Chevrolet assembly plant in Flint, which is located near the site of the old Flint Wagon Works where only 2,999 Chevrolet cars were manufactured in 1912. Today Chevrolet is represented by one of every four motor vehicles being operated on the nation's highways.

Penna. Game Commission Weekly Letter

The pent up enthusiasm of a large number of Pennsylvania hunters was released with the opening of the small game season on Oct. 30. But a few days later, Nov. 5, a smaller but equally avid number of outdoorsmen shouldered pack baskets and quietly went about setting mink traps at 7 a. m. That was the opening hour of the current mink season, which ends at noon, January 1, 1955. There is no limit on the number to be taken in one day or over the season.

High water in many of the streams of the Commonwealth may pose a problem to the novice. But the expert mink trapper knows how to meet unusual conditions and score well against this highly prized furbearer, which is considered more cunning and elusive than the fox.

Skunks and opossums are presently classed as unprotected furbearers. They may be taken in unlimited numbers.

Attached to all traps must be a metal tag classed on which the name and address of the owner is given.

Information On Waterfowl Bands Important

The Game Commission is grateful to waterfowl hunters who have returned information found on leg bands on ducks they bagged. The authorities will appreciate reports on bands taken from ducks by other persons but not yet turned in.

Facts so gathered provide important information on migration routes, reproduction figures, and kill percentages. Such information is very useful to game authorities in planning waterfowl management programs for the future.

The band information should go to the Game Commission, at Harrisburg, or to any game protector. A postal card will do. The report should contain: the band number, the sender's name and address and the date and location of the bird when killed or found. Each person who cooperates in this manner will be advised where and when the bird was released.

The same information on leg bands placed on waterfowl by federal research people should be sent to: The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Washington 25, D. C.

Case of Mistaken Identity
An unfortunate incident with a serio-humorous twist came to light in a northwestern county not long ago.

A man who said a deer was causing him crop damage went out one evening to eliminate the destroyer. The "deer" he shot turned out to be his own cow. Again proving any hunter should be sure of his target before shooting.

Bear Season
Pennsylvania bear seasons, since 1946, have been six days long. The season this fall has been expanded to 12 days. It runs from 7 a. m. Monday, November 15, to 5:00 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 27, excepting the Sunday.

As a result of extended surveys and other factors the Game Commission felt that an extended bear season of one additional week this year would increase the kill and alleviate damage next year. Relatively light bear kills the past two years has allowed the bear population to reach proportions where much farm and crop damage by them was done during the past year.

Another unusual feature this year is that the bear season includes Thanksgiving Day. It is conjectured hunting may be unusually heavy, therefore, at the end of the 1954 season. Members of established camps may decide to make a weekend of it and pursue bruin Thursday, Friday and Saturday the last week of season. Tracking snow in season is of distinct value. Against a snow background bears show up in sharp relief, allowing the hunters an opportunity to judge size more accurately.

An individual hunter may take one legal bear; a party of three or more persons, two bears. Automatic, semi-automatic or auto-loading guns of any kind are prohibited. Pump shotguns firing rifled slugs or pumpkin balls, and high-powered rifles, may be loaded to capacity in bear hunting. Firearms discharging .22 or .25 rim-fire cartridges are prohibited. A

Under The Basket

The Mt. Joy Merchants dropped their opening game to Tri-Town as the Lancaster Industrial League began its ninth season. The score was 29-36.

With two workouts in a barn behind them, the locals failed to have their shooting eye as they were constantly missing easy shots throughout the game. Zimmerman was high with 11 points.

In their second game of the season, the locals found their "eye" as they defeated the Lancaster Merchants 55-47.

With Zimmerman and Clinger scoring 17 and 14 points respectively, Mt. Joy won a close game by outscoring their opponents 15-6 in the final quarter.

The Merchants put on a terrific exhibition of shooting and passing as they defeated Lehigh 79-46.

All nine players figured in the scoring as they slowly are rounding into a good, compact team. Each player seems to be very sincere in his attitude and desire to win.

Next game is with I.E.B.W. at 7 p. m. on the John Reynolds Junior floor in Lancaster next Monday evening.

Old Timers Plan Basketball Game

Marshall Gemberling, junior varsity basketball coach of the Donegal High School, has been appointed to the award committee of the local Old Timers' Association. It was announced by Benjamin Groff, president. He will replace the late John J. Schroll.

Preliminary plans are also underway for the second annual Old Timers' basketball game. The game will be played between Christmas and New Year's; the date will be announced later. A collection will be taken and the proceeds will be used in the award fund. During the preliminary game, former High School stars and players from the vicinity of Donegal will play.

The association urges all men to attend the Monday night gym club sessions held in the Mount Joy Grade School gymnasium.

FARM CREDIT GROUP TO MEET

Farm Credit organizations, which represent about 2000 farmers in Lancaster, Lebanon, & Dauphin Counties, will hold a meeting of the stockholders at the Manheim Twp. High School, Neffsville, on Friday, Nov. 26; it will begin at 11:30 a. m. with lunch for everyone.

roster is required when 5 or more persons hunt together or in any way cooperate in hunting bears.

Bears over one year old are legal game; cubs are protected in Pennsylvania. No sportsman wants a small bear. He should make sure the animal is large enough he will be proud to show it as a trophy.

In the 1951 season 429 legal bears were bagged in this state. But in 1952 the kill was only conditions causing bears to spread beyond their normal 261. In 1953 but 303 legal animals were taken. Poor food range, and undesirable hunting weather, too, are credited as the reasons for the smaller bags the past two years. According to reports there are now plenty of bears in their rugged home country in Pennsylvania to provide many hunters good shooting. The timbered north-central counties continue to boast the large percentage of the Commonwealth's bears, but many of these coveted animals will be taken this year in northeastern and northwestern counties. A fair number, too, will be taken in the more centrally located counties where, until recent years, bears had long been a rarity.

Commission Plans To Sell Confiscated Deer Hides

Sealed bids on raw, salted deer skins will be accepted in Harrisburg until the morning of November 24. The hides will be collected by Game Commission personnel in the coming months of December, January and February.

The 2151 deer skins gathered up by the Commission last winter and sold to the highest bidder netted the Game Fund $2831.80.
