HERE'S HEALTH! By Lewis

BEEF AND FRESH VEGETABLE STEW TODAY'S BEST FOOD BUY

A rich, brown beef stew full of fresh vegetables is everyone's favorite one-dish meal. It's nutritious, too. The carrots, onions and potatoes provide the vitamins, minerals and energy we need. The beef gives us health-giving protein.

This fall the country's beef and fresh vegetable industries, together with the U.S. Department of Agriculture, have entered into a co-operative drive to promote beef stew. In the first campaign of its kind, these great industries are helping the consumer in two ways. They are helping us take advantage of nutritious and economical food buys, and are attempting to avoid government subsidies which only mean more tax dollars.

Take advantage of this opportunity and serve beef stew often. Your family and your budget will both benefit.
