$20,000 Still Needed For March Of Dimes

With the annual Infantile Paralysis Birthday Ball and Students' Polio Hop scheduled for this Friday night in the ball room of the Moose Hall, 224 E. King Street, Lancaster, the 1955 March of Dimes and Dollars here in Lancaster will come to a close with approximately $20,000 still to be raised if the Lancaster County Chapter for Infantile Paralysis is to reach its $85,000 goal.

Christian C. Rudy, chapter chairman, said that late returns could change this picture quickly, for he pointed out that receipts from the traditional March of Dimes and Dollars (Coin Cards) Contribution Folders from persons who use this method of supporting these annual drives usually make up the bulk of the total contributions and with better than 10,000 of these cards still not turned in by those persons receiving them early in the campaign, the $20,000 could be raised very quickly.

"Every year," Rudy said yesterday, "we mail these traditional March of Dimes and Dollars Contribution Folders — familiarly known as March of Dimes Coin Cards — early in the month of January and every year we receive telephone calls from persons who mislay or lose them asking us to mail a replacement. Wherever possible we comply with their request.

"The most prevalent excuse given when these people call for another folder is that they put it in the drawer of the buffet or calendar and some way or another it became lost," continued Rudy, "and then it is so easy to forget to send in that badly needed contribution, for they do not have an envelope already addressed to send it in.

"To make it easy and to help us raise these $20,000 and to help any of those persons who have mislaid or lost their original contribution folder and feel they want to help raise this money — they may draw a check either in favor of The March of Dimes or John C. Truxal, Treasurer, and put it in one of their own envelopes addressing it to March of Dimes, Post Office Box 1056, Lancaster, Pa., or mail or bring it to this newspaper office, or place coin or currency in an envelope addressing as I suggested above and mail it or bring it to chapter headquarters, Room 401, Breeman Building, 53 North Duke Street, Lancaster, or address it to the Post Office Box or bring it to this newspaper office and the local chapter will receive it to help raise the necessary funds for polio here in Lancaster," concluded Rudy.

Farm organizations, civic and service clubs, social, church and school and labor groups all continued to help swell the local polio fund with contributions and business and industrial organizations were contributors this year in larger numbers than any other year; however, as a chapter spokesman pointed out there is an additional $10,000 needed this year to help care for the extremely high case load from last year when 111 persons were stricken with the crippling disease.

John C. Truxal, chapter treasurer, said that it is generally accepted throughout Lancaster city and county that this 'Fight Against Polio' is a community problem, one which has for years been of serious concern to every young father and mother, for there was always that fear that their child could be next hit with polio and in late years hitting adults quite frequently as well. As a community problem it has in many districts become a project — to raise Dimes and Dollars to 'Fight' this disease. If it is a community problem, then it becomes a community responsibility and one which should be of serious concern for every family in the county. Extremely large sums of money are needed to carry on the necessary research to find a permanent vaccine to eradicate polio once and for all and it becomes the responsibility of every man, woman and child to see that this necessary money is available for this purpose. Truxal said he felt the late returns would enable the chapter to reach its goal.

Lancaster County Farms Being Mapped By SCS

Farmers in many counties in Pennsylvania are in line to receive more service than ever before in the identification of soil types on their farms due to Federal-State cooperative soil survey accomplished during '54.

So said Ivan McKeever, State Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service, in reviewing today the stepped-up activities in soil survey work which reached a new peak last year. More than half a million acres of land were mapped.

The purpose of the 1954 survey made by the Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with the Pennsylvania State University and the State Soil Conservation Commission is two-fold, McKeever said. It provides soil surveys of individual farms as a basis for planning the best practices to use in conserving and improving the land. It also makes soil maps of entire counties for publication and use of everyone needing soil information.

During 1954, the soil survey of Crawford County was published and made available to the public. Progress was made on the maps and editing of reports for previously completed surveys of Montour, Northumberland and Potter Counties. A survey of Clarion County, completed several years ago, was inspected and approved for publication.

Soil surveys of individual farms were made to meet the conservation planning needs in 30 county soil conservation districts throughout the state. In addition, several large tracts of state and commercial forests and some state game lands, were mapped. The program was stepped up with the aim of early completion of surveys in Clinton, Erie, Lancaster, Chester and Indiana Counties.

According to McKeever, plans for 1955 include a further increase in the rate of surveying the state. The accelerated survey program is needed to meet the growing demand for individual farm maps and to provide countrywide surveys reports. The survey of Lancaster County is expected to be completed early in 1955, he said. The countywide mapping program will be continued in Clinton, Erie, Chester and Indiana Counties. In addition, mapping will be speeded up in Adams, Berks, Carbon, Jefferson, Susquehanna, Westmoreland, York and possibly other counties.
