Under The Basket

In the first game of a 3-game playoff for the Industrial League championship, the Mount Joy Merchants lost to Local 285 by the score of 79-70.

It was an exceedingly rough game that saw four members of the local Merchants being ejected via fouls: Zimmerman, Meminger, Johnson and Shuman. Geib, Flick and Germer had 4 on them when the final whistle blew. In fact the game was lost at the foul line since the locals outscored their opponents from the field but their opponents scored 31 points on fouls.

The loss of B. Zimmerman due to fouls was keenly felt. Bill committed his fourth foul after 6 minutes of play. Scoring but 2 points instead of his usual 16 or 18 was another factor for the loss.

The Mt. Joy Merchants evened their series with Local 285 by defeating them 79-74 in their fight for the League championship.

After trailing 27-34 at the half, with McAdoo and Minnich scoring 24 points against them, the locals changed tactics by continually alternating their defense from a full-court press to a switching man-to-man during the second half. This resulted in close guarding of McAdoo and Minnich that saw the former score only five points on fouls and Minnich only one goal.

In the meantime the locals were bombarding the net for 17 goals and 13 fouls.

The final game will be played Thursday evening at Edward Hand Junior High. Game time will be 8 p.m. The team will be weakened with the loss of Johnson and possibly Germer for this important game. Both boys are obligated to play with their respective teams in the Lanco League playoffs.

C. of C. Making Plans For Booth At Exposition

Meeting Monday evening at the fire house, Mt. Joy Chamber of Commerce directors heard preliminary plans from Chairman Robert Hurst for participation in the annual Industrial Exposition at Harrisburg.

Mr. Hurst reported that the local chamber has submitted its request for location of its booth at the exposition. Number 1, Number 2 and Number 3 spots were indicated, with the exposition committee reporting that Mount Joy probably will be given its Number 1 choice.

Last year Mount Joy's booth was rated one of the most attractive in the show, and every effort is being made to make it as effective this year.

A public relations committee was named, including Charles Fish, Henry G. Carpenter, Larson Smith, Simeon Horton, Titus Rutt and Clyde Nisley. Purpose of this committee is to prepare a brochure about Mt. Joy, and to keep a scrapbook to submit as one of the requirements in the state chamber's community development contest.

Three new members were accepted into the local chamber: Clyde E. Gerberich, Jr., J. Richard Gerberich, and Glenn Earnest.

Penna. Game Commission Weekly Letter

The Commission's land Utilization activities for the spring months must be planned in advance. On the basis of farmer contacts during the fall and winter months, and a study of state game land requirements, field employees of the wildlife agency have already ordered most of their planting stock for the spring of 1955.

Totals on March 1 indicate that 2,345,000 tree, shrub and vine seedlings have been requisitioned. Of this number 1,403,000 will be moved from the Commission-managed Howard Nursery, 681,000 from the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, 169,000 distributed to the South-central Division from Game Land No. 189 Nursery, and an additional 92,000 to be purchased from the Department of Justice Nursery at Bellefonte.

Large Deer Bagged Near Philadelphia

Game protector Donald Croft's district is the southern part of Montgomery County bordering Philadelphia to the northwest. Recently, Croft reported these large bucks killed there in the last season: an 11-point that dressed out at 265 pounds; a 6-point that dressed 198 pounds; and a 12-point, the weight not known.

Roaming Dogs

Last February 26, Game protector Edward Easching and a deputy answered a call from the Uwehand Turnpike Interchange in Chester County. They picked up a large doe deer carrying 3 cubs, the size of a large squirrel, victims of a collision with an auto.

Said Easching, "This again points to the fact that so long as individuals let their dogs run at large when does are heavy with youngless deer will be reaped by the hunter in season."

Banded Duck Evades Shot Four Seasons

Game Protector David R. Trites reports: "On July 6, 1951, I liberated 25 of the Commission's lead-banded ducklings on Chapman Dam in Warren County. Recently I learned one of these ducks, a mallard drake, had been shot and killed on January 4 of this year on Pin Oak Flat, near Corning, Arkansas. It would be interesting to know how many rounds of ammunition were fired at this duck during his migratory flights since 1951."

State Hunter Casualty Report For Last Year

The Game Commission has completed the record of Pennsylvania's casualties by hunter firearms in 1954. The figures are based on reports required by State law of persons involved in human shootings while hunting or trapping for any species of wildlife.

In the Commonwealth last year 21 persons were killed in the hunting field by sporting arms. Injured in some degree by hunters' gunfire were 508. Two persons were injured by hunters' arrows.

Encouragingly, the 1954 fatal shootings numbered 13 less than the previous year, when 34 persons (an exceptionally high number for the State) met death in the hunting field through the discharge of their own weapons or that of another. In 1954, the number of injured 510, was one higher than in 1953.

Injuries or deaths due to heart failure, those that occurred en route to or from the hunting field and others caused by any incidental happening, are not included in this report.

Proving that hunting, as a rule, is a safe, healthful sport when the common sense rules of safety are observed, most of the near-million hunters in Pennsylvania enjoyed their sport last year without a mishap.

As usual, the facts surrounding so-called hunting accidents indicate that in most instances a basic rule of safety was violated either by the shooter or the victim.

Proof of this are these items taken from the 1954 Pennsylvania record. Nine of the fatalities were self-caused; 73 of the injuries were by the weapon in the hands of the person hurt. Two persons were killed and 12 were injured by guns placed in a dangerous position. Guns accidentally discharged in the hands of hunters caused the death of 6 persons, caused injury to 64. The "hunter slipped and fell (with safety off)" category, accounted for 5 deaths and 25 wounding. Shot in mistake for game caused 5 fatal 13 non-fatal.

Surprisingly 7, or one-third the persons killed by hunter gunfire last year, were in open fields and two others were on public highways. Three hunters met death in daylight none in dusk dark or fog. Ten met their end during clear weather, removing the "did not see" excuse. The injury rate ran correspondingly high.
