P. P. & L. Names Six Scholarship Winners

Chas. E. Oakes, Pennsylvania Power & Light Company president today named the six winners of scholarships offered under the company's program of educational assistance.

The scholarship winners, who will receive award certificates from the utility in the next several days, are:

Milton H. Hendricks of 26 E. Sunbury St., Shamokin, who will study engineering at Lehigh university.

Jean Elizabeth Nardi of 1005 Packer St., Williamsport, to prepare for a teaching career, Bucknell, university.

Richard E. Truchses of 217 W. Douthier St., Carlisle, to study at Muhlenberg college for the ministry.

Patricia Ann Yost of Rt. 1, Sugarloaf, to Wilkes college to study mathematics.

Philip C. Desch, 835 N. 26th St., Allentown, Lehigh university, chemical engineering.

William Andrew Gallagher, Jr., 304 S. 16th St., Allentown, Muhlenberg college to prepare for later studies in engineering physics.

Mr. Gallagher is winner of the PP&L employee scholarship. His father, William A. Gallagher, Sr., is a supervisor of inspection in the engineering department and is employed at the utility company's general office in Allentown.

All scholarship winners will begin studies this fall. They were selected from among 370 scholarship applicants.

MRS. RICHARD E. LESHER

Townsend Heads P. P. & L. Atomic Power Department

Creation of an atomic power department by Pennsylvania Power & Light Company and appointment of Stanley C. Townsend, the company's electrical engineer, as manager, was announced today by Mr. George M. Keenan, vice president, engineering.

Other named to the atomic power department are:

Homer F. Hatfield, who formerly was in charge of mechanical research, is appointed atomic power engineer.

Harlan J. West, generating station engineer, and John F. West, Jr., senior project engineer, are appointed assistant atomic power engineers.

Also as part of today's announcement, Robert H. Swoyer, senior project engineer in the mechanical engineering department, was appointed mechanical research engineer succeeding Mr. Hatfield.

Establishment of the new department within PP&L's engineering and construction department was made necessary, Mr. Keenan explained, to determine the possibilities of atomic power and to ascertain how it can be applied economically to the PP&L system. He said the company is anxious to do its part in bringing about the development of the art as rapidly as possible.

PP&L has been keeping in close touch with atomic energy developments throughout the postwar period. About 2 years ago PP&L arranged to assign an engineer to participate in work at the Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory near Schenectady, N. Y., for a year and has also made plans for continuing this participation.

In recognition of both needs, Mr. Oakes said, PP&L provides $500 per year toward each scholarship winner's tuition and an equal amount to the grantee's college or university to be used by the institution toward its educational objectives. Scholarship winners may pursue any course of study leading to a baccalaureate degree and are free to select any of fifteen Central Eastern Pennsylvania colleges or universities.

Thank-You Covered Dish Supper Held For Committee

"A thank-you" covered-dish supper was held last night by the Girl Scouts of Mrs. Warren Foley's troop at Mrs. Foley's home. The girls of the troop prepared the supper in honor of the troop committee and the drivers who took the troop on their recent trip to Washington, D. C. Approximately 25 attended the affair.
