Refreshments Ready in a Jiffy

Tall, cool fruit juice drinks are just right for warm weather get-togethers. Check your pantry to see that a supply of canned juice is on hand. The vitamin-rich fruit juices are good alone, or for variety add other ingredients such as ice cream and ginger ale for a sparkling treat. Here are some choice coolers that you can make in a jiffy.

Tot Party Special
Banana Mash: Mash 2 ripe bananas; add a 12-oz. can of apricot nectar, 1 cup milk and 1 tablespoon sugar. Stir until smooth. Serve chilled. Four to six servings.

Teenager Tasty
Fruity Sparkle: Mix together a No. 2 can pineapple juice, 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind, juice of 1 orange, 1/2 cup sugar and an 8-oz. can fruit cocktail. Add a pint of soda water. Serve in tall glasses over ice cubes. Makes six cups.

Grown-Up Extra
Cranberry Almond Punch: Empty an 8-oz. can jellied cranberry sauce into a bowl. Beat until smooth. Gradually add a No. 2 can orange juice, beating. Add 1/4 teaspoon almond extract and a few drops red coloring. Chill. Makes 3 cups.

Everyone's Favorite
Fruit Float: Fill glasses half full with your favorite chilled canned fruit juice. Add a scoop of ice cream or sherbet. Finish filling glasses with chilled ginger ale.

The Pennsylvania Story:

Labor Has Big Role In State Tax Battle

By MASON DENISON
Pennsylvania News Service
HARRISBURG - As the Leader Administration's income tax program storms before the State Senate after having successfully passed the Democratic-dominated House of Representatives last week, the forceful role organized labor in Pennsylvania is playing cannot help but be underscored.

It isn't generally realized but in the tax showdown in the lower house last week passage of the income tax package was assured only a few hours before the showdown vote came to the House.

In somewhat of a dramatic behind the scenes action, the switch of the huge Pittsburgh local of the United Electrical Workers (UEW) from its previous stand of opposition to one of favoring the income tax program broke the back of Democratic resistance which heretofore had been the write-off of the tax program.

With UEW support the hard core of the Allegheny Democratic block in the lower house split wide open to assure passage by two extra votes of the income tax proposal.

This is generally regarded as significant indeed, for it underlines the close liaison that has been maintained between the Democratic administration of Governor Leader and organized labor in the Keystone State.

It can be said that in the showdown in the House, the income tax bills would not have passed without the helpful assistance of labor, whose chiefs-tains in the past few weeks have gone all-out to support to the administration's tax stand.

Perhaps the outstanding result of this is the fact that thanks to its efforts organized labor in Pennsylvania today is closer to the seat of government than it has ever been in the history of the Commonwealth.

With the valuable assist provided so far the Leader Administration now has no alternative other than to lend a listening and sympathetic ear to labor's chiefs-tains.

It is generally conceded that they had a lot to do with putting the Democratic slate across in last fall's upending gubernatorial elections, but this latest move is viewed as an even further solidification of union of Democrats and labor.

Since passage of the income tax program by the House last week, labor's representatives have been working over what might be termed borderline Republican Separators with determined grit and sagacity in an effort to squeeze the needed two GOP votes in the upper house to pass the income tax.

If the bill passes the Senate, such success can be attributed to no other source than organized labor - for as of last week the bill stood no more chance of passing the upper house than (to quote GOP Senate Leader Roland B. Mahany) "a snowball in Haides".

Melt-proof snowballs are not without the realm of possibility, particularly under the present shaky circumstance existing here in Harrisburg. In any event, the fortunes of labor in the Keystone State are definitely on the upturn - and where they might stop no one will hazard a guess.

REALTORS SEEK HOUSING ORDINANCES
HARRISBURG - PNS - In an all-out drive to eliminate by 1960 every violation of health, safety and sanitation provisions in Pennsylvania communities, real estate men this week called for communities of the Keystone State to provide adequate ordinances on housing standards.

"Communities should budget enough to support a staff to eliminate violation of such provisions," a spokesman for the Penna. Realtors Association told a Pennsylvania News Service reporter this week.

It was pointed out that all of this is a part of a move by Pennsylvania real estate men to support a nationwide move to "no slums by 1960."

The realtors predicted at the same time that the program to create better housing conditions through conscientious enforcement of local ordinances and neighborhood conservation was both "practical and attainable."

Stressing the need for whole-hearted cooperation from community officials to insure the undertaking being a success, the realtors spokesman said: "This means that if a community finds that it has 6,000 dwelling units that are below standard for its ordinances, sufficient personnel is needed to make the necessary inspections and re-inspections. A similar yardstick should be used for smaller communities."

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State University College of Agriculture.

Germs Thrive - If you're going on a trip, don't warm the baby's formula and put it into a thermos. Germs thrive and multiply in warm milk. Keep it cold until baby's feeding time. Then warm the bottle by setting it in hot water.

Store Separately - Store mixing bowls and measuring spoons separately so they can be selected without sorting.

Pins Rust - Both brass and steel pins are used in home sewing. But steel pins may leave rust spots if left in material for a long time, while brass pins will not rust.

Freeze Fruit - When freezing peaches and other light-colored fruit, use one-fourth teaspoon powdered, pure ascorbic acid to 2 cups sugar to prevent browning.

Buy Thread - Buy thread that looks darker on the spool than the material it's to be used on, because thread appears lighter in stitching.

Keep Activity - You can expect a young child to concentrate on an activity for one minute longer than he is years old.
