

OWL LAFFS

BY A WISE OWL

If by chance you should see a local gent walking around town, all lit up, here's why:
Last week one day this man, and his wife, were shopping at the Acme Store. His wife purchased a pound of pretzels and a bag of light bulbs - - Arriving at the car, that was parked just outside the store, the Mrs. laid the articles on the front seat of the auto and when her husband got in the car he sat on the bag of light bulbs.

A colored preacher in a nearby town came upon a portion of his flock engaged in shooting crap. He said, "Don't you all know it's wrong to shoot crap?" One of the boys looked up and said, "Yes, and believe me parson, I'm paying for my sins."

Middle age is when work is no longer play, and play is getting to be work.

About the most ambitious bunch of hunters I ever saw, were the ones at Charlie Feidt's "Paradise Camp" in Perry County. - - We visited there about noon last Saturday and the only hunting I could see done was Walter Young, hunting the time of day, as his fool-proof watch went bad, and Charlie, who was in his pajamas, hunting his hunting duds.

Have you heard about the Market Street man who called his old car "Flattery" because it got him nowhere?

Here's one was brought to the office:

A local woman was selling products for Avon Products, Inc. and she had two books along to select the products from.

So a girl asked to see the books and started writing a big long list of what she wanted to buy.

This made the saleswoman very happy, as she thought she would be sending the company a large order.

Then the girl told her that she just wanted to make a list of make-up for her complexion, so she could buy them at Lancaster 5 & 10 store. - - They'll do it every time.

A native of the Back Run was asked by a local insurance agent, "Seen your grandpappy lately?" The native pointed with his corn cob pipe to an indistinct object at the far end of his corn patch and said, "See that figger over there, it's either a tree stump or grandpappy. Keep your eye on it. If it moves, it's a tree stump."

Philosopher Enck says: "Only the rich can be eccentric - the poor must be satisfied with being nuts."

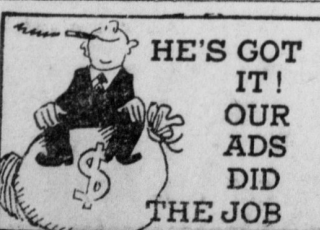

Our office boy opened the door of the very busy editor and said, "There are two men here to see you, sir. One is a poet and the other is hard of hearing."

"Very well," answered our editor. "Go and tell the poet the deaf man is the editor. And close my door as you leave."

There is nothing so good for the outside of a woman as the inside of a man's purse.

CRIPPLING ACCIDENTS ALSO LEAVE TRAGEDY

The Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children and Adults has unquestionably posed an interesting point in calling attention to the fact that too little attention has been paid to the thousands of accident victims who aren't killed - just maimed and crippled.

Seemingly the point is a good one - a practical and important point. Almost inevitably when we hear or take part in discussions concerning accidents - whether it be automobile accidents or any other kind - the main point centers around the fatal aspect.

Little thought is given, as this non-profit society points out, to the equally tragic side of such sordid affairs - those who are crippled or maimed perhaps for life.

Unquestionably this particular aspect has been brought forcibly home to this humanitarian agency for they have selected the unwelcome and thankless chore in the field of public service of working with cripples.

Those of the "Easter Seal" society work first hand with crippled children and adults and they know as do few the tragedy of those children and adults who are crippled.

"We in the Easter Seal societies are gravely concerned because of the continuously rising number of handicapped persons coming under our care as a result of accidents - accidents that could be avoided with cars," the society notes.

A word of caution such as this should be sufficient. An accident may not be fatal - but it can be almost as tragic.

Letters To The Editor

As Polio Vaccine Chairman of Lancaster, I would like to publicly extend my sincere thanks to all those who assisted in any way in the vaccination of the first and second grade children in the public, private and parochial schools throughout the city and county, with the Salk Polio Vaccine.

It was a teamwork project and one which demanded the patience and hard work of every one concerned, for when nearly 10,000 young school children are given 19,050 shots, minute details and professional perfection was mandatory.

I would like to particularly thank the members of Beta Sigma Sorority of the Lancaster City Council who from the very beginning helped prepare the many forms needed and did so much of the clerical work. I would like to extend my sincere thanks to Dr. Arthur P. Mylin, county superintendent; Dr. O. H. Aurand, city superintendent; Dr. Raymond H. Koch, superintendent of the Columbia Boro schools; Right Rev. Monsignor Robert J. Mahler, superintendent of the Parochial schools of the Harrisburg Diocese, and all other public, parochial and private school administrators who were so helpful in directing this polio project. Then too, there were those wonderful mothers in the many PTA and Mothers' Clubs; the school nurses and the other nurses who assisted in such a magnificent way; the many doctors who so willingly volunteered to give the shots and who were so thoughtful and cooperative and last but by no means the least, the teachers who were so understanding and helpful. I would not want to miss those volunteers who were responsible for the transportation of the vaccine to the many stations and doctor's offices and others who in any direct or indirect way helped with this city and county project. Neither would I want to miss the newspapers, radio and television - for their part in this project.

We must not forget, and I personally appreciate the outstanding assistance given by Dr. Oscar Davis, county medical director, under whose direction this gigantic undertaking was possible. Dr. Davis and his fine staff were of inestimable help at all times. They deserve much credit.

How many Lancasterians realize how well this project was executed, I do not know, but I feel that its accomplishments meant a lot in holding down the number of cases here in Lancaster this year and that many of our children were spared the torments and scourges of the terrible disease. It was indeed a very big job - very well done - and my sincere thanks and appreciation go out to everyone who helped in any way in its administration. Those thousands of mothers and fathers whose children received these polio vaccine shots did their part superbly in their respective homes and schools.

To me it was true evidence of thousands of Dimes and Dollars at work - saving lives, saving limbs, saving trying days and weeks of hospitalization and rehabilitation. A real tribute to the American way of life; of American support and interest. A testimonial to the accomplishments of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the Lancaster County Chapter.

It was a wonderful experience and accomplishment and I feel that everyone who helped can feel justly proud that they were a very important part in a history making community health project which will go a long way to help make this community, this nation and the world a better place for our children and their children in which to live.

(Mrs.) Frank E. Phillips, Chairman Lancaster Polio Vaccine Committee.
