THE BULLETIN, Mount Joy, Pa.

HOME CONSTRUCTION DOWN SLIGHTLY

Harrisburg - PNS - New home construction activity throughout Pennsylvania during the past month was down - but only by a split nail - from the preceding month.

Illustrating the very slight decline is the fact that last month 2737 new homes were started in the Keystone State, as compared with 2782 during the preceding month.

However as compared with a year ago there was an increase from 2473 to 2737.

The aggregate cost of these home building operations followed a similar trend, totaling nearly $34 million last month - down slightly from the slightly better than $34 million of the preceding month, and above the $28 million of a year ago.

The story was just about the same for non-residential construction activity in Pennsylvania dropping from 1040 new projects to 923 last month - but up considerably over the 797 of a year ago.

Last month's activity in the non-residential field is conspicuous by the absence of large projects whereas in the previous month large projects had an aggregate value amounting to more than $16 million.

Percentage-wise, residential construction activity dropped 1.4 per cent, while non-residential activity declined 14.2 per cent.
