DON'T RISK BEING STRANDED IF BLIZZARD IS THREATENING

Harrisburg-PNS-It's better to be grounded at home, safe and sound, than risk being stranded on a cold road in a howling blizzard, Pennsylvania safety officials admonished this week as winter snows begin their annual process of blanketing in earnest highways of the state.
"Some driving errands are necessary no matter what the weather, but when a blizzard threatens it is time to question venturing into the storm," commented a spokesman for the State Bureau of Highway Safety.
He said that each winter brings its examples of the "unwise motorists" who become stalled, sometimes on roadways which snow-removal crews may not reach for several hours, or sometimes as the result of an unexpected skid off a main highway.

Donegal Defeats Manheim Central

Donegal won their first league game Tuesday evening by downing Manheim Central 58-53 at Donegal.
Donegal outscored the Barons in the first period 13 to 6, with Richey Powell scoring 8 of the 13 points.
In the second period both teams played on even terms, with Donegal scoring 19 points and Manheim 18, to give the Indians a 32-24 advantage at halftime.
Midway in the third period, Manheim switched to an on and off all court press. Donegal appeared a little unsettled at this point, and the Barons were quick to take advantage of their mistakes. Both teams scored 13 points in this period.
In the last period, both teams matched point for point, with Manheim out-scoring Donegal, 18 to 13.
Powell, with 29 points was high scorer for Donegal, Weidman and Moll both scored 14 points for Manheim.
